Judge Rules For Byrd In Talbot County

Mahoney Says He'll Appeal Vote Decision

Horney States Certain Ballots Were Illegal But Majority For Byrd

EASTON, Md., Aug. 17 (AP)—Circuit Judge William R. Horney ruled against George P. Mahoney today and gave Dr. H. C. Byrd the four Talbot County nominating votes in their fight for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Mahoney immediately served notice he was taking the case to the Court of Appeals at Annapolis.

It was just seven weeks ago today that the last returns from the June 28 primary gave Byrd the nomination on the basis of an 80-72 unit vote margin over Mahoney and a 4,000 edge in popular vote.

Indications are it will be still another week at least before the Court of Appeals can take up the latest legal twist in the fight over the outcome.

Dispute Favors GOP

The ultimate winner will take on Gov. McKeldin in the general election Nov. 2. Even some Democrats have expressed the fear every day lost in deciding the Democratic nominee will make it that much easier for McKeldin to become the first Republican governor ever re-elected.

Judge Horney, chief judge of the Second Judicial Circuit, issued a statement today in explaining why he did not upset the outcome in Talbot County.

He said the Talbot election supervisors did count 16 Byrd ballots and 12 Mahoney ballots they should have rejected.

This still left Byrd in the lead, 1,810 to 1,757, or by 53 votes instead of the 57 the election supervisors had determined upon in their recount.

Mahoney had asked for a writ of mandamus, charging the election supervisors "arbitrarily and capriciously" counted some ballots which were illegally marked or defaced.

The judge's decision pointed out one of the supervisors had testified they "at no time during the recount acted improperly unlawfully, capriciously, or arbitrarily but had endeavored to exercise their best judgment and discretion as to whether a ballot should be counted or not."

The judge said it should be noted there "is absolutely no evidence of fraud on the part of any election official or any voter."

Dashes Mahoney Hopes

His big blow to Mahoney's hopes came in his refusal to throw out 73 ballots in which dots appeared alongside the X's voters had put in the squares before names of candidates.

Mahoney forces contended such dots could have been put there by the voter for identification purposes and thus destroyed the secrecy of the ballot. The Court of Appeals had ruled in an earlier case, they argued, that there was no need to prove an intent to buy or sell votes by such identification of a ballot—merely the possibility of identification.

Judge Horney had a different explanation. He said there were so many candidates up for nominations in Talbot County that voters probably put the dots in the boxes inadvertently as they counted to see if they had voted for the right number of candidates in the various races.

Should the Court of Appeals up-

Lawyers' Code Would Control Congress Probes

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP) — The American Bar Assn. today called upon Congress to adopt a code of procedure defining the jurisdiction of investigative committees and guaranteeing the rights of witnesses.

Hatton W. Sumners, Dallas, Tex., former chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, declared that the proposed code included in the resolution is "a dangerous thing" which would "handicap" congressional investigations into communism.

The recommended code includes these principles:

The jurisdiction of each investigative committee should be clearly defined by any resolution creating such a committee;

Control of preliminary inquiries, specific investigation, hiring and firing of staff members, issuance of subpoenas and scheduling of hearings should be controlled by a committee majority;

A witness should be given advance information on the purpose of an investigation and be permitted to have counsel at all hearings, whether public or private;

Counsel for witnesses should be given opportunity to object, ask clarifying questions and cross-examine adverse witnesses;

A witness should be free to make written or oral statements at the conclusion of his testimony;

Witnesses should have the right to testify without television or radio broadcasting of his testimony;

Disclosure of proceedings at executive sessions of committees should be banned;

Witnesses and counsel should have the right to examine the transcript of their testimony at executive sessions;

A person whose name is mentioned or who is specifically identified at a hearing and believes testimony or other evidence or comment by a committee member or counsel adversely affects his reputation should be afforded to file a statement with the committee or to testify in his own behalf and to cross-examine witnesses whose testimony affected him;

Committee files relating to individuals should be confidential.

U.S. 7th Fleet Still Guards Formosa Isle

Ike Warns Commies Against Attempted Invasion Of Island

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) — President Eisenhower said today any Communist invasion of Formosa would have to run over the U.S. 7th Fleet.

This clear cut warning that a Red attack would encounter the planes and big guns of an American battle force was laid down at a White House news conference.

Only last Friday, Premier Chou En-lai declared Red China would capture Formosa, the island refuge of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists, and he warned the United States not to interfere.

Orders to the 7th Fleet to defend the island still stand, Eisenhower said. The possibility of using other American forces against an invader hasn't been brought up, he said.

Voices Astonishment

On other major points, the President:

1. Voiced astonishment that Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell tried to tie in the President's friend, golfer Bobby Jones, with a power plant contract Eisenhower has approved. The chief executive said he knew when he got into political life he would be subjected to many kinds of allegations and innuendoes by many types of strange characters. But he said he was a little astonished that innuendoes would be aimed at a private citizen of the standing and character of Jones.

2. Described as Satisfactory the original House version of a bill to outlaw the Communist party by depriving it of any legal rights. He said he wasn't sufficiently familiar with Senate changes to comment on them. Later in the day the House accepted the Senate changes.

3. Expressed, as a matter of general philosophy, an opinion that in the present state of the world some form of military training for every individual would be advantageous to the individual and the nation.

4. Said that so far as he can determine, the mass of expert opinion seems to be that the country is in a mild economic upswing.

Banks On Congress

5. Indicated he is banking on Congress to finish its legislative chores along about Friday night. He said he hopes to take off for a Colorado vacation Saturday morning, and deliver from Denver a speech to the nation on the record of the 83d Congress.

The White House said later that television and radio networks have been asked for time Monday or Tuesday night.

6. Declared he is certain the majority of the nation's farmers support as a whole the administration's bill to substitute flexible for rigid farm price supports. That was in reply to a question whether he expects the farm issue to react against Republican congressmen.

House Approves Compromise On Farm Measure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The House, without bothering to take a record vote, passed and sent to the Senate today a compromise farm bill giving President Eisenhower just about what he asked for in the way of flexible agricultural price supports.

The House over-rode bitter-end foes of the administration's program for abandonment of mandatory high farm price supports, and adopted the compromise measure by a standing vote of 208-47.

Its passage represented a major administration triumph, and reversed a policy of rigid high agricultural price supports that began in World War II when the United States was feeding a large part of the world.

The administration's controversial flexible support program was fought by farm state members of both parties in an effort to continue mandatory supports at a minimum of 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is the standard determined by law to provide the farmer a fair return on his crops in relation to the cost of things he must buy. However, the President, stood fast for authority to support farm prices between 75 and 90 per cent of parity.

What he finally got was a compromise which, among other things, calls for:

1. A flexible program of supports between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity on cotton, wheat, corn, rice and peanuts. Tobacco alone of the "basics" continues to be supported at 90 per cent under a special program.

2. A 2½ billion dollar commodity "set-aside" from the more than six billion dollars' worth of surplus farm products now in government hands. Set-aside commodities go into government stockpiles or for relief purposes.

3. Authority to hold down the level of supports for butter, cheese and other dairy products at 75 per cent of parity, with almost unlimited powers for disposal of the millions of pounds of dairy products now glutting government storehouses.

4. A two-year extension of the basic farm act under which price supports and conservation payments are made.

5. Special incentive payments to support domestic wool prices up to 110 per cent of parity under a four-year program to encourage development of U. S. wool production.

British Concerned About EDC Crisis

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill tonight conferred urgently with top aides on the crisis threatening the European Defense Community. There were mounting signs that France's allies will solidly oppose her efforts to radically change the European army plan.

The prime minister called an emergency meeting at Chartwell, his country home, reportedly to work out ways of saving the six-nation project. British officials believe that French Premier Pierre Mendes - France has gravely endangered EDC by demanding that its supranational character be watered down.

Churchill, a strong backer of EDC although Britain is not actually a member, is expected to send a message to Mendes-France expressing surprise and disappointment at the French proposals and urging a compromise.

The United States already has come out against any major changes in EDC. Similar disapproval has been expressed officially or unofficially by France's EDC partners — Italy, Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg and West Germany. Italy and France have failed as yet to ratify EDC.

In Bonn, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer fighting to save his European unity program, today held emergency conferences to decide his nation's attitude toward the French demands.

German leaders feel that the success or failure of the chancellor's pro-Western policies probably will be decided when the six EDC foreign ministers meet in Brussels Thursday to consider the French proposals.

Mendes - France, seeking to quiet a bitter wrangle at home over EDC, is believed to have suggested to his EDC partners and the plan's two associates, Britain and the United States, that the following key changes be made:

1. The life of the EDC treaty, now 50 years, should be the same as that of the North Atlantic Treaty which permits any member to withdraw after 20 years.

2. The French should have the right to leave EDC if American and British troops are withdrawn from Europe.

3. EDC should have command only of troops stationed in the forward areas of European defense, presumably West Germany.

4. The freezing of certain EDC powers for an eight-year test period and broader veto powers for EDC's Council of Ministers than presently called for.

House Sends Atomic Bill To President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) — A voice vote in the House today finally sent to President Eisenhower legislation he asked to give private enterprise a hand in development of atomic energy and to permit some exchange of atomic secrets with America's allies.

This first big overhaul of the 1946 atomic energy law had been quietly approved by the Senate last night 59-17 in sharp contrast with the long and fierce debate it underwent last month.

What the Senate and House have now passed is a second compromise, adjusting patent provisions which had been in dispute.

The new compromise provides that companies which enter the atomic field can obtain patents on atomic devices which they develop. However, for the first five years, these patents must be shared for a fee with qualified applicants. After that, regular, exclusive patent rights will be granted for the customary 17 years, renewable for the same period.

The House twice voted to authorize exclusive patents from the outset, without requiring patent-sharing. The Senate refused to accept a bill without compulsory sharing of patents, and originally insisted that this be for 10 years. Senators who spoke for compulsory patent-sharing said it was needed to prevent monopoly practices.

Rep. Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee and chief opponent of patent-sharing, said the House conferes receded from their position after getting assurances the whole patent question would be reviewed next January.

The revised measure also provides that cooperatives and publicly owned utilities must be given preference in the sale of government-produced atomic power and in applying for nuclear licenses. The Senate had opposed an original qualification that the power preference be given "insofar as practicable."

The Senate debated the bill for 13 days last month, including four all-night sessions, and two Senate-House conferences were necessary to hammer out the final compromise.

The final measure allows private industry to operate atomic material, under 40-year renewable licenses from the Atomic Energy Commission. The AEC is authorized to build full-scale research power plants and other government agencies can get into a commercial A-power, if Congress approves.

Senate Okays Flood Money

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Senate tonight passed a bill to authorize future construction of flood control and river and harbor projects involving a federal cost of some $1,070,000,000.

The rollcall vote was 77-2.

The bill goes back to the House for consideration of projects which the Senate has added since the measure passed the House several weeks ago.

Appropriation of money to begin work on the projects will have to be made later in separate legislation. This probably will be taken up in the next session of Congress.

On final passage the only votes against the bill were cast by Sens. Robertson (D-Va) and Russell (D-Ga).

The Senate approved a proposal by Sens. Cooper (R-Ky) and Clements (D-Ky) to authorize Army engineers to acquire land for wildlife purposes on the Cumberland River project in Kentucky and Tennessee.

White House Overruled In Congress Act

House Surprises By Backing Senators, Bill In Conference

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Senate and the House, overruling Eisenhower administration objections, voted today to make it a crime for a person to be a Communist.

By a 41-39 vote in the Senate, the language making Communists subject to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine was written into a bill designed to deprive the Communist party of its legal rights.

Then the Senate passed the whole bill 81-1.

In an extraordinary burst of speed, the House promptly voted on a roll call 208-100 to accept the Senate version. It did so in the face of an implied threat of presidential veto, expressed by Rep. Halleck (R-Ind).

"It Will Not Become Law"

Halleck, the Republican leader in the House, told his colleagues he had no doubt that if the Senate version were adopted "it will not become law."

Halleck and other administration leaders objected that to make party membership a crime would play hob with existing Communist-control measures.

"If you don't want to destroy the Internal Security Act and surely hamper the enforcement of the Smith Act, then vote down this motion," Halleck pleaded. It was in vain.

Rep. Dies (D-Tex), who was the first chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, sponsored the move to accept the Senate bill. Only yesterday the House voted 305-2 to outlaw the Communist party, but not to penalize individual members.

Today's votes do not immediately put it up to President Eisenhower to sign or veto the legislation. The 208-100 house vote was to instruct its representatives in a Senate and House conference to accept the Senate version. Normally, conferees do as instructed.

Halleck sought a conference with the Senate's GOP leader, Sen. Knowland of California immediately after the House's surprise action.

Still May Be Changed

Halleck told reporters there was still a chance of getting the felony feature pulled out of the measure, saying the instruction motion to the conferees is not binding.

On the final Senate roll call on the amended bill, only Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) voted "no." Kefauver, who has just won re-nomination to the Senate, said during the debate that many persons were concerned lest in some future year Congress might "not like some other group" and blacklist it.

The Senate adopted the amendment to punish individual members of the party on the motion of Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn). It was largely a Democratic victory, the only Republican to speak for it being Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

The Humphrey amendment would have lost on a tie vote had not Democratic leaders persuaded Kefauver and Sen. Lennon (D-NC) to withdraw "no" votes after they had been cast. They agreed to "pair" off their votes with two absent senators who would have voted "aye" if present. This had the effect of canceling the two "no" votes. If they had stood, the result would have been a 41-41 tie.

Stockholders Vote Merger Of Studebaker And Packard

DETROIT, Aug. 17 (AP)—Stockholders of the Studebaker Corp. and Packard Motor Car Co. voted overwhelmingly today for a merger of the two companies.

The merger, to be completed within the next few weeks, brings together two of the oldest names in the auto industry. Combined they have assets of more than 251 million dollars; working capital of approximately 86 million and a net worth of nearly 179 million.

Votes of Studebaker shareholders were counted at Wilmington, Del. Almost 82 per cent of all Studebaker stock was represented and nearly 99 per cent favored the merger. Packard stockholders, voting in Detroit, represented nearly 83 per cent of the outstanding stock and almost 90 per cent voted for the consolidation.

Details yet to be completed include a reclassification of Packard stock, and the turning over to Packard of all Studebaker properties.

When this has been done an amendment to the Packard articles of incorporation will be filed to create a new company to be known as the Studebaker-Packard Corp.

Packard shareholders will get one share of stock in the new company for each five shares of the present Packard common they own; Studebaker stockholders will get 1½ shares for each share of their present stock.

Slated to become president of the new company is James J. Nance, 53-year-old president of Packard. Paul G. Hoffman, 63, board chairman of Studebaker, will be named to a similar post with Studebaker-Packard Corp., and Harold S. Vance, 63, president of Studebaker, will head the new company's executive committee.

Unemployment Legislation Receives Senate Approval

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Senate passed by voice vote tonight an administration bill to extend the unemployment compensation system to nearly four million additional workers.

The House previously had passed the bill, but the Senate adopted two amendments which forced the measure to go back to the House again.

The legislation would extend jobless pay protection to nearly all federal civilian employes and also would bring into the program employes of firms which have four or more workers during at least 20 weeks of a year.

The present federal law applies only to firms with eight or more employes, although a dozen or so states have extended coverage to firms with even fewer employes.

The effect is to extend coverage to an estimated 2½ million federal employes and about 1½ million employes of private firms. President Eisenhower originally asked that an additional six million workers be brought into the system, with coverage extended to firms with one or more employes.

The House bill provided that the extended coverage becomes effective Dec. 31 of this year. The Senate accepted an amendment of Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) making the effective data a year later for employes of private firms.

About 36 million employes already are covered by the unemployment compensation system. The present bill is the first major extension of coverage since the law first was enacted in 1935.

The bill also would eliminate the privilege employers now have of paying the unemployment tax in quarterly installments.

British Concerned About EDC Crisis

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill tonight conferred urgently with top aides on the crisis threatening the European Defense Community. There were mounting signs that France's allies will solidly oppose her efforts to radically change the European army plan.

The prime minister called an emergency meeting at Chartwell, his country home, reportedly to work out ways of saving the six-nation project. British officials believe that French Premier Pierre Mendes - France has gravely endangered EDC by demanding that its supranational character be watered down.

Churchill, a strong backer of EDC although Britain is not actually a member, is expected to send a message to Mendes-France expressing surprise and disappointment at the French proposals and urging a compromise.

The United States already has come out against any major changes in EDC. Similar disapproval has been expressed officially or unofficially by France's EDC partners — Italy, Belgium, Netherlands, Luxembourg and West Germany. Italy and France have failed as yet to ratify EDC.

In Bonn, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer fighting to save his European unity program, today held emergency conferences to decide his nation's attitude toward the French demands.

German leaders feel that the success or failure of the chancellor's pro-Western policies probably will be decided when the six EDC foreign ministers meet in Brussels Thursday to consider the French proposals.

Mendes - France, seeking to quiet a bitter wrangle at home over EDC, is believed to have suggested to his EDC partners and the plan's two associates, Britain and the United States, that the following key changes be made:

1. The life of the EDC treaty, now 50 years, should be the same as that of the North Atlantic Treaty which permits any member to withdraw after 20 years.

2. The French should have the right to leave EDC if American and British troops are withdrawn from Europe.

3. EDC should have command only of troops stationed in the forward areas of European defense, presumably West Germany.

4. The freezing of certain EDC powers for an eight-year test period and broader veto powers for EDC's Council of Ministers than presently called for.

Rep. Shafer Dies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—Rep. Paul W. Shafer, Michigan Republican, died today at Walter Reed Hospital. He was 61.

Senate Okays Flood Money

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Senate tonight passed a bill to authorize future construction of flood control and river and harbor projects involving a federal cost of some $1,070,000,000.

The rollcall vote was 77-2.

The bill goes back to the House for consideration of projects which the Senate has added since the measure passed the House several weeks ago.

Appropriation of money to begin work on the projects will have to be made later in separate legislation. This probably will be taken up in the next session of Congress.

On final passage the only votes against the bill were cast by Sens. Robertson (D-Va) and Russell (D-Ga).

The Senate approved a proposal by Sens. Cooper (R-Ky) and Clements (D-Ky) to authorize Army engineers to acquire land for wildlife purposes on the Cumberland River project in Kentucky and Tennessee.

House Sends Atomic Bill To President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) — A voice vote in the House today finally sent to President Eisenhower legislation he asked to give private enterprise a hand in development of atomic energy and to permit some exchange of atomic secrets with America's allies.

This first big overhaul of the 1946 atomic energy law had been quietly approved by the Senate last night 59-17 in sharp contrast with the long and fierce debate it underwent last month.

What the Senate and House have now passed is a second compromise, adjusting patent provisions which had been in dispute.

The new compromise provides that companies which enter the atomic field can obtain patents on atomic devices which they develop. However, for the first five years, these patents must be shared for a fee with qualified applicants. After that, regular, exclusive patent rights will be granted for the customary 17 years, renewable for the same period.

The House twice voted to authorize exclusive patents from the outset, without requiring patent-sharing. The Senate refused to accept a bill without compulsory sharing of patents, and originally insisted that this be for 10 years. Senators who spoke for compulsory patent-sharing said it was needed to prevent monopoly practices.

Rep. Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee and chief opponent of patent-sharing, said the House conferes receded from their position after getting assurances the whole patent question would be reviewed next January.

The revised measure also provides that cooperatives and publicly owned utilities must be given preference in the sale of government-produced atomic power and in applying for nuclear licenses. The Senate had opposed an original qualification that the power preference be given "insofar as practicable."

The Senate debated the bill for 13 days last month, including four all-night sessions, and two Senate-House conferences were necessary to hammer out the final compromise.

The final measure allows private industry to operate atomic material, under 40-year renewable licenses from the Atomic Energy Commission. The AEC is authorized to build full-scale research power plants and other government agencies can get into a commercial A-power, if Congress approves.

White House Overruled In Congress Act

House Surprises By Backing Senators, Bill In Conference

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Senate and the House, overruling Eisenhower administration objections, voted today to make it a crime for a person to be a Communist.

By a 41-39 vote in the Senate, the language making Communists subject to five years in prison and a $10,000 fine was written into a bill designed to deprive the Communist party of its legal rights.

Then the Senate passed the whole bill 81-1.

In an extraordinary burst of speed, the House promptly voted on a roll call 208-100 to accept the Senate version. It did so in the face of an implied threat of presidential veto, expressed by Rep. Halleck (R-Ind).

"It Will Not Become Law"

Halleck, the Republican leader in the House, told his colleagues he had no doubt that if the Senate version were adopted "it will not become law."

Halleck and other administration leaders objected that to make party membership a crime would play hob with existing Communist-control measures.

"If you don't want to destroy the Internal Security Act and surely hamper the enforcement of the Smith Act, then vote down this motion," Halleck pleaded. It was in vain.

Rep. Dies (D-Tex), who was the first chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, sponsored the move to accept the Senate bill. Only yesterday the House voted 305-2 to outlaw the Communist party, but not to penalize individual members.

Today's votes do not immediately put it up to President Eisenhower to sign or veto the legislation. The 208-100 house vote was to instruct its representatives in a Senate and House conference to accept the Senate version. Normally, conferees do as instructed.

Halleck sought a conference with the Senate's GOP leader, Sen. Knowland of California immediately after the House's surprise action.

Still May Be Changed

Halleck told reporters there was still a chance of getting the felony feature pulled out of the measure, saying the instruction motion to the conferees is not binding.

On the final Senate roll call on the amended bill, only Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) voted "no." Kefauver, who has just won re-nomination to the Senate, said during the debate that many persons were concerned lest in some future year Congress might "not like some other group" and blacklist it.

The Senate adopted the amendment to punish individual members of the party on the motion of Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn). It was largely a Democratic victory, the only Republican to speak for it being Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

The Humphrey amendment would have lost on a tie vote had not Democratic leaders persuaded Kefauver and Sen. Lennon (D-NC) to withdraw "no" votes after they had been cast. They agreed to "pair" off their votes with two absent senators who would have voted "aye" if present. This had the effect of canceling the two "no" votes. If they had stood, the result would have been a 41-41 tie.

Stockholders Vote Merger Of Studebaker And Packard

DETROIT, Aug. 17 (AP)—Stockholders of the Studebaker Corp. and Packard Motor Car Co. voted overwhelmingly today for a merger of the two companies.

The merger, to be completed within the next few weeks, brings together two of the oldest names in the auto industry. Combined they have assets of more than 251 million dollars; working capital of approximately 86 million and a net worth of nearly 179 million.

Votes of Studebaker shareholders were counted at Wilmington, Del. Almost 82 per cent of all Studebaker stock was represented and nearly 99 per cent favored the merger. Packard stockholders, voting in Detroit, represented nearly 83 per cent of the outstanding stock and almost 90 per cent voted for the consolidation.

Details yet to be completed include a reclassification of Packard stock, and the turning over to Packard of all Studebaker properties.

When this has been done an amendment to the Packard articles of incorporation will be filed to create a new company to be known as the Studebaker-Packard Corp.

Packard shareholders will get one share of stock in the new company for each five shares of the present Packard common they own; Studebaker stockholders will get 1½ shares for each share of their present stock.

Slated to become president of the new company is James J. Nance, 53-year-old president of Packard. Paul G. Hoffman, 63, board chairman of Studebaker, will be named to a similar post with Studebaker-Packard Corp., and Harold S. Vance, 63, president of Studebaker, will head the new company's executive committee.

Unemployment Legislation Receives Senate Approval

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Senate passed by voice vote tonight an administration bill to extend the unemployment compensation system to nearly four million additional workers.

The House previously had passed the bill, but the Senate adopted two amendments which forced the measure to go back to the House again.

The legislation would extend jobless pay protection to nearly all federal civilian employes and also would bring into the program employes of firms which have four or more workers during at least 20 weeks of a year.

The present federal law applies only to firms with eight or more employes, although a dozen or so states have extended coverage to firms with even fewer employes.

The effect is to extend coverage to an estimated 2½ million federal employes and about 1½ million employes of private firms. President Eisenhower originally asked that an additional six million workers be brought into the system, with coverage extended to firms with one or more employes.

The House bill provided that the extended coverage becomes effective Dec. 31 of this year. The Senate accepted an amendment of Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) making the effective data a year later for employes of private firms.

About 36 million employes already are covered by the unemployment compensation system. The present bill is the first major extension of coverage since the law first was enacted in 1935.

The bill also would eliminate the privilege employers now have of paying the unemployment tax in quarterly installments.

Sheppard Indicted For Wife's Murder

Doctor Rearrested After His Release On $50,000 Bond

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17 (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was rearrested late today on a first degree murder indictment charging him with the July 4 killing of his wife Marilyn, 31.

The 30-year-old osteopath, first jailed July 30, had been free on $50,000 bond since yesterday morning—the only time in more than 20 years liberty on bail has been permitted here to someone accused of first degree murder.

Minutes after six men and nine women grand jurors indicted the handsome doctor in the clubbing of his pregnant wife, officers were on their way to his parents' home in suburban Bay Village to return him to a county jail cell. His lawyers were with him at the jail.

Common Pleas Judge Arthur H. Day, who announced the indictment, set an arraignment for Friday morning at 9:15 (EDT), but said it might be delayed in both the defense and prosecution want a delay.

The grand jury's indictment came after two full days of hearing testimony against Sheppard. He has denied the murder charge and has told police repeatedly that a bushy haired intruder killed his wife and knocked him out when he was awakened by her moaning and ran to help her.

The weapon used to inflict more than 25 bone-deep wounds on the head of the victim while she lay in her bed never has been found. Blood spots had been washed up and fingerprints wiped away when the first police investigators arrived, they said later after going over the premises with a fluroscope.

The grand jurors, who were instructed by Judge Day not to discuss evidence they heard or their deliberations, today listened to Miss Susan Hayes, who had done hospital work with Sheppard before she moved last winter from nearby Rocky River to Los Angeles.

Clad in a black cotton dress with a full skirt and wide white collar, the 24-year-old laboratory technician appeared at the Criminal Courts Building, spent about half an hour in the grand jury room, and departed, still unsmiling. She seemed nervous and frightened.

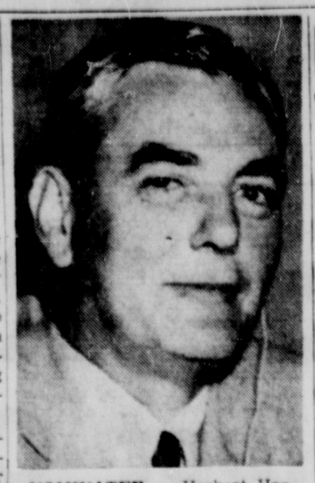

Investigators have cast her in the role of "the other woman."

She first denied a romance with the osteopath, and then signed a statement admitting the pair was intimate, County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan announced recently.

Dr. Sheppard admitted at the inquest into his wife's death he saw Miss Hayes in California last March when the Sheppards were visiting there. He said he bought her a watch to replace one she lost when they went to a wedding with some friends. But he denied their relations were anything but casual.

Cullitan said Miss Hayes' later statement contradicted the doctor.

The grand jury heard for the second day a procession of witnesses whose testimony was designed to pile up circumstantial evidence that Dr. Sheppard clubbed his wife to death in the early hours of the holiday.

NOMINATED — Herbert Hoover, Jr., was nominated by President Eisenhower to be undersecretary of state, succeeding Walter Bedell Smith, who resigned.

Hoover Backed As State Aide

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP) — President Eisenhower today nominated Herbert Hoover Jr. to be undersecretary of state succeeding Walter Bedell Smith.

The White House said Hoover—son of the former President—will take over his new duties as soon as the Senate has acted on his confirmation.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, said Eisenhower was asking that the Senate confirm Hoover before Congress adjourns, possibly later this week.

Hoover, 50 has been serving during the last year as a special adviser to Secretary of State Dulles.

In particular, Hoover represented the United States in negotiations which recently brought settlement of the Iranian oil dispute.

Smith, former Army general who was Eisenhower's chief of staff in Europe during World War II, has wanted to leave the State Department for some months.

Bishop Urges World Churches Assert Freedom

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 17 (AP)—A Hungarian bishop today urged the world's churches to assert "more courageously" their freedom from domination by any social systems.

But he disputed implied criticisms about the church's position in his Red homeland.

He said the churches receive a state subsidy — but this is being gradually eliminated so the church may live "by what the Lord degrees to sustain it."

Bishop John Peter, a shadowy figure in modern Christendom, drew both ardent applause, and a barrage of barbed questions as he appeared before representatives of the World Council of Churches assembly.

Declaring that the church "is not bound up with any social system," the handsome, silver-haired prelate told a packed assembly hall:

"Not only in our country, but everywhere in the world where there are Christians, the churches ought to voice the independence of the church of all social systems, more courageously and more resolutely than heretofore."

The bishop, to whom the State Department issued a visa with the notice he would be watched more closely than other delegates from Communist lands, was introduced as a "brother greatly beloved."

This was greeted by lively applause, and more hand-clapping came when the presiding officer, the Rev. George Appleton, of London, said:

"He knows that in this meeting he is among friends."

The bishop, of the Reformed Church of Hungary, said the spiritual vitality of churches there has heightened in recent times, and kept its integrity "in the midst of events of World War II and after it."

When he finished, delegates passed up a stream of written questions. The bishop sidestepped some, but took others head-on. He did not directly commend the Red regime, but he maintained the churches were gaining strength under it.

WARM NOW — Warmly bundled in a blanket at a New York City hospital, a girl giving the name of Mildred Hall, Detroit, shortly before was dragged from a sewer pipe on the East River where she spent seven terrifying hours when trapped by the rising tide. She had changed her mind about attempting suicide.

Large Guard Protects Queen

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Aug. 17 (AP) — Young Queen Elizabeth II spent 4½ hours on turbulent Irish soil today. A few hours before she arrived a giant security net of 4,000 police caught four men on charges of possessing explosives.

With the Queen here to launch a revolutionary new ocean liner, Northern Ireland organized its largest police guard to protect her. Possible violence was feared from agitators for union of Northern Ireland (part of Britain) with the independent Republic of Ireland.

The four men were arrested at Newry, 45 miles from Belfast. Newry is a hotbed for Irish union sympathy. They were accused of possessing a .38 caliber revolver, 6 round of ammunition, 3 electric fuses, and a fuse box "with intent to endanger life."

Officials in the Queen's party said they "had taken notice of the incident," and she had not even been informed of the arrest. The Queen flew back to her Balmoral Scottish castle.

The four men were booked as James E. Kearns, 22, Matthew Loy, 18, Jim Rowntree, 33, all of Newry; Kevin O'Rourke, 33, of Bainbridge. They were remanded in custody until Aug. 25.

Police discounted any idea the Queen was a target for violence. Officials said the men were believed to be planning to blow up something near Newry as a demonstration against the Queen's visit.

The Queen had flown here to launch the 20,000-ton luxury liner Southern Cross in commemoration of her recent commonwealth tour.

Israel Is Condemned

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Jordan-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission today condemned Israel for violating the armistice agreement Aug. 13 when an Israeli patrol penetrated into Jordan territory and killed one Arab legionary and captured another, the Jordan acting senior delegate announced.

Big Coffee Companies Await Price Developments

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—The nation's big coffee roasters stood aside cautiously today to await developments as smaller companies announced price cuts of 10-cents-a-pound in the wake of Brazil's easing of foreign exchange regulations.

The prime question holding back the big fellows was "Where will the price of green coffee stabilize?"

The price of coffee futures on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange dropped the two-cent-a-pound daily limit for the second straight day as trading reached a standstill.

How much further coffee futures will drop below the current offering prices and whether the prices will firm up could not be answered.

So General Foods Corp., distributors of Maxwell House coffee, Standard Brands Inc., which puts out Chase & Sanborn, and the A&P which sells its own brands in 4,000 stores remained silent.

Ten-cent-a-pound cuts in wholesale prices were announced, beginning yesterday by Joseph Martinson & Co., followed by Aborn's Coffee Corp. In Boston, and Albert Ehlers Inc. in New York.

The Martinson's cut of the wholesale price from $1.30 to $1.20 a pound was reflected in A&P stores and by the Grand Union Co., owner of 330 supermarkets. The reduction in retail prices was from $1.41 to $1.31 a pound.

There was no change in the retail prices of the A&P brands, 8 O'clock, Red Circle and Bokar which remained at $1.19 a pound. On behalf of Maxwell House, a spokesman pointed out that the wholesale price was cut five cents to $1.17 a pound two weeks ago.

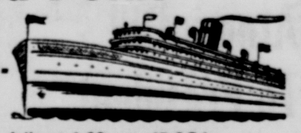

An Ehler's spokesman said its cut in wholesale prices, which varies according to lots sold, would result in a retail price slash from $1.31 to $1.21 in 30,000 stores on the Eastern seaboard.

Aborn officials said its 10-cent cut should be reflected within a week at the retail level where the price has been $1.40 a pound.

Today Aborn cut the wholesale price of its instant coffee about 9 to 12 cents a jar.

How much further coffee futures will drop below the current offering prices and whether the prices will firm up could not be answered.

So General Foods Corp., distributors of Maxwell House coffee, Standard Brands Inc., which puts out Chase & Sanborn, and the A&P which sells its own brands in 4,000 stores remained silent.

Ten-cent-a-pound cuts in wholesale prices were announced, beginning yesterday by Joseph Martinson & Co., followed by Aborn's Coffee Corp. In Boston, and Albert Ehlers Inc. in New York.

The Martinson's cut of the wholesale price from $1.30 to $1.20 a pound was reflected in A&P stores and by the Grand Union Co., owner of 330 supermarkets. The reduction in retail prices was from $1.41 to $1.31 a pound.

There was no change in the retail prices of the A&P brands, 8 O'clock, Red Circle and Bokar which remained at $1.19 a pound. On behalf of Maxwell House, a spokesman pointed out that the wholesale price was cut five cents to $1.17 a pound two weeks ago.

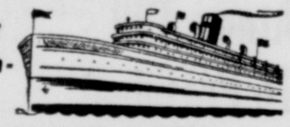

An Ehler's spokesman said its cut in wholesale prices, which varies according to lots sold, would result in a retail price slash from $1.31 to $1.21 in 30,000 stores on the Eastern seaboard.

Aborn officials said its 10-cent cut should be reflected within a week at the retail level where the price has been $1.40 a pound.

Watkins Promises "No Circus" In McCarthy Hearings

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The man who will run the latest Senate inquiry involving Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy says he won't let it turn into a three-ring circus.

And if McCarthy raises the cry that ran all through the 36 - day McCarthy - Army hearings—"Mr. Chairman . . . uh . . . a point of order, Mr. Chairman"—what then?

Spry, 67-year-old Sen. Arthur V Watkins (R-Utah), a former judge who has tried murder cases, had this answer:

"I assume Sen. McCarthy will be courteous and will be a gentleman. That applies to all witnesses. Until anyone proves different, I'm not going to anticipate trouble."

With a hint of steel in his usually mild voice. Watkins added in an interview:

"We are going to stick closely to court rules. There will be no hearsay. The testimony will have to be relevant and material.

"The charges are very grave, and we intend to conduct the inquiry in keeping with the traditional dignity of the Senate."

Watkins, whose name has rarely figured in headlines during his eight years in the Senate, made no bones about his reluctance at being pushed into the limelight as chairman of the six-man committee to investigate McCarthy's official conduct.

Hearings Begin Aug. 30

The committee will begin public hearings Aug. 30—with "live" radio and TV coverage barred—on 46 formal charges filed against McCarthy by senate critics. Some of the charges duplicate each other.

"It's very unpleasant to sit in judgment on a colleague," Watkins said. "I accepted the assignment only because I felt it was a duty that could not be shirked."

In addition to sharing McCarthy's anti-Communist zeal, Watkins has been the Wisconsin senator's next-door neighbor for some time on Capitol Hill.

His office is just around the corner from McCarthy's on the fourth floor of the Senate Office Building. And their seats, by coincidence, are side-by-side in the Senate chamber.

"I don't see him often," Watkins said. "McCarthy is so busy, when the Senate is in session he comes in and votes and then leaves. We don't run in the same social set, although sometimes I meet him at 'must' parties."

Is he friendly with the Wisconsin senator?

Watkins chuckled. "McCarthy is friendly with everybody. Why, he puts his arm around Ralph Flanders and talks to Wayne Morse like a long-lost brother."

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) are two of McCarthy's chief critics. Flanders alone filed 33 of the charges against him and Morse and Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) tacked on 13 others.

Outspoken in his anti-Communist views, Watkins said the fact that he sees eye-to-eye with McCarthy on that subject will not prejudice him in favor of the Wisconsin senator during the forthcoming inquiry.

"Not at all," he said. "I've been a trial judge for four years back in Utah and served two years as a prosecuting attorney. I'll judge him on the evidence.

"I've heard and read a lot about him, and privately I've discussed some things about him, pro and con. As far as I know, I've never said anything about him in speeches or in public."

Won't Be Any Delay

Asked if McCarthy might indefinitely prolong the inquiry — and reminded that McCarthy kept Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens under cross - examination for days during the televised hearings last spring—Watkins said crisply:

"In my opinion, there won't be anything like that."

The Utah senator said he only witnessed the McCarthy-Army extravaganza for about 15 minutes and saw "two brief flashes" of it on TV.

"I got seats one day for some friends from Utah," he said, "and sat there for a few minutes with them. McCarthy came in and sat down right in front of me.

"A few days later I got a red-hot letter from back home. It said 'what do you mean sitting in the corner with Joe McCarthy?'"

Watkins said he never read much in the newspapers about the McCarthy-Army drama and paid little attention to it.

"Frankly, I was pretty much disgusted by the whole spectacle," he said. "It was a waste of time."

Speaking of the coming inquiry, Watkins hazarded a guess it might run "10 days or two weeks," but conceded it might last "a month or longer."

Watkins, who once suffered from ulcers and now has an intestinal ailment conducive to ulcers, indicated he would have little patience for any long-winded diversionary tactics during the investigation.

"I don't anticipate it will run on and on like Tennyson's brook," he said, tapping a yellow pencil on his desk.

"I think we should be able to make our report before the November elections."

Can Cross-Examine Witnesses

Watkins confirmed that McCarthy will have the right to cross-examine witnesses, but he indicated the Wisconsin senator will be restrained from straying too far afield.

McCarthy has also demanded that senators making the charges be called to testify as witnesses and thus, as he put it, "either indict themselves for perjury or prove what consummate liars they are."

Flanders, Fulbright and Morse have all volunteered to testify in support of what McCarthy has denounced as "scurrilous, false charges."

Fulbright contends McCarthy has shown "disregard for the whole orderly conduct of government." He also wants to delve into the $10,000 fee McCarthy got for writing a housing pamphlet for the Lustron Corp. now defunct, when Lustron was seeking a huge government loan.

As chairman of the inquiry committee, Watkins told newsmen senators will be called to testify "only if they have personal knowledge of the charges."

Here is a brief sketch of the chairman's background:

Arthur V. Watkins was born Dec. 18, 1886, in the shadow of the Wasatch Mountains in Midway, Utah. There, as he describes it, he spent most of his childhood amid the trappings of "rugged pioneer life . . . Indians, sawmills, logging, hunting and fishing . . . the toil of homesteading."

Parents Were Morman Pioneers

His parents were Morman pioneers who came to this country from Europe and settled in Utah.

His father, Arthur, is of English descent, his mother Swiss. The father, who will be 90 years old in October, was a rancher-carpenter and now lives in retirement in Los Angeles. His mother died at the age of 83.

One of six children, with two brothers and three sisters, Watkins went through grade and high school in Utah, studied political science at Brigham Young University and was a member of a Utah state champion basketball team.

In 1907 he went to New York City, served as a missionary in the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) Church for two years and took post-graduate courses at both New York University and Columbia. He received his law degree from Columbia in 1912 and was admitted to the bar in Utah a few months later.

Besides hanging out his shingle Watkins became editor of the Vernal (Utah) Express and assistant county attorney of Salt Lake County. For 13 years he managed commercial fruit orchards and a turkey farm in northern Utah.

Elected a district judge in 1928, he took his first plunge into national politics in 1936, when he won the Republican nomination for a seat in Congress but lost by a narrow margin in the Democratic landslide.

Ten years later, he beat New Deal Sen. Abe Murdock in a race for the U.S. Senate.

Far from being a fire-and-brimstone orator, Watkins became known for putting across his views quietly and succinctly in speeches on the Senate floor.

He opposed the Atlantic Pact on the ground it deprived Congress of its constitutional power to declare war. He warned repeatedly against the danger of communism, and as a member of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in 1950 he declared:

"There is good cause to be concerned about subversive influences currently operating both in and out of government."

In 1953, as chairman of a Senate-House "Watchdog" subcommittee to supervise enforcement of the McCarran - Walter Immigration Act, Watkins made a tour of refugee camps in Germany and said he had been favorably impressed by refugees from Communist-dominated East Germany. But he said:

"After all this espionage in the

South Africans Hold Provincial Elections Today

By FRED ZUSY

PRETORIA, South Africa, Aug. 17 (AP)—South Africa holds provincial elections Wednesday in three of its four provinces, with the Nationalist party government seeking a mandate to go ahead with further apartheid racial measures.

Voters will elect 147 members of provincial councils in the Transvaal, Orange Free State and Cape Province. Natal, South Africa's other province, held its election earlier, with the opposition United party winning as expected in its traditional stronghold.

Election issues revolve around the race question. In general, the United party approves the racial segregation which predates the Nationalist government but it holds to a less rigid attitude than the Nationalist policy of apartheid, or complete separation of people according to the color of their skin.

There is less local interest than in the last general election of 1953, which saw the government of Prime Minister Daniel Malan retaining its majority in Parliament, although it had less than half of the popular vote.

Only 72 of the 147 provincial seats at stake are contested. The remainder go by default to unopposed candidates—45 Nationalists and 30 United party. In the 1953 elections all but two seats were contested. Both general and provincial elections are held every five years.

Nearly nine million natives and South Africa's Indian population of 400,000 have no votes. About 30,000 half-castes living in Cape Province, and known locally as "Cape Coloreds," may vote. This fact has produced one of the major election issues. There are property and education qualifications for a Cape Colored to vote.

Malan has failed several times in efforts to get Parliament to put the Cape Coloreds on a separate voting roll so that they would be restricted to voting for four persons who would specifically represent the interests of the more than one million Cape Coloreds who trace their mixed ancestry back several centuries to alliance between the early white settlers, blacks and Orientals.

Political informants say the present voting procedure with Cape Colored votes mixed indiscriminately with those of whites results in the former influencing the selection of more than a score of members of Parliament.

The Coloreds' right to vote in Cape Province is incorporated in South Africa's original constitution. To change their status, as Malan wants to do, requires a two-thirds vote of both houses of Parliament. Malan came within a hair's breadth of success at the last session when a few United party deputies crossed over to support his measure.

United party writers say they don't believe Malan can gain enough ground to get the two-thirds majority he needs, although some fear he might attempt victory on this issue by changing the laws governing election of senators.

Race issues dominated campaign oratory, excepting perhaps for speeches about a sporadic shortage of meat in butcher shops. Opposition speakers claimed this was due partly to the Nationalists sending beef to Russia.

One political commentator here sums up the situation thusly: Color has become such a dominating factor in South African politics that the stage has been reached where it is brought into every issue on every level of public representation.

15 Nations To Show Best Movies At Film Festival

By WEBB McKINLEY

ROME, Aug. 17 (AP)—The motion picture industries of 15 nations will begin putting their best footages forward next week in the Venice Film Festival.

Some of the famed folk of the movie world, a host of people who would like to be and a serious squad of film critics will gather in the gondola city for the 16-day event.

A total of 28 motion pictures, representing both sides of the Iron Curtain, will be shown, beginning Aug. 22. When it's all over on Sept. 7, the Board of Critics will — or may — select one of the films for the prize of the Golden Lion of St. Mark.

Runners-up will get Silver Lions, lesser entries will get Bronze Lions and individual prizes will go to actors and actresses.

Last year the critics wouldn't give the Golden Lion to any picture. Silver Lions went to six, including the American production "The Little Fugitive" and the British-produced "Moulin Rouge."

There was an undertone of East-West rivalry last year, the first year in which entries came from behind the Iron Curtain, and the American industry felt the selection board overlooked some of its best films.

But, "The motif this year is sweetness and light," said one U.S. representative.

The American entries this year are "Three Coins in the Fountain," directed by Jean Negulescu; "Executive Suite" by Robert Wise; and "The Caine Mutiny" of Edward Dmytryk.

They fill the formal American quota. But two "over-quota" films will be shown — Alfred Hitchcock's "Rear Window" and Elia Kazan's "On the Waterfront."

Competing with the Americans will be choice films of Argentina, Austria, Bulgaria, Finland, France, Germany, Britain, Japan, India, Mexico, Poland Sweden, Hungary and Italy.

Each American has an average of 39 horsepower available for his use today compared with half a horsepower per capita in 1899.

South Africans Hold Provincial Elections Today

By FRED ZUSY

PRETORIA, South Africa, Aug. 17 (AP)—South Africa holds provincial elections Wednesday in three of its four provinces, with the Nationalist party government seeking a mandate to go ahead with further apartheid racial measures.

Voters will elect 147 members of provincial councils in the Transvaal, Orange Free State and Cape Province. Natal, South Africa's other province, held its election earlier, with the opposition United party winning as expected in its traditional stronghold.

Election issues revolve around the race question. In general, the United party approves the racial segregation which predates the Nationalist government but it holds to a less rigid attitude than the Nationalist policy of apartheid, or complete separation of people according to the color of their skin.

There is less local interest than in the last general election of 1953, which saw the government of Prime Minister Daniel Malan retaining its majority in Parliament, although it had less than half of the popular vote.

Only 72 of the 147 provincial seats at stake are contested. The remainder go by default to unopposed candidates—45 Nationalists and 30 United party. In the 1953 elections all but two seats were contested. Both general and provincial elections are held every five years.

Nearly nine million natives and South Africa's Indian population of 400,000 have no votes. About 30,000 half-castes living in Cape Province, and known locally as "Cape Coloreds," may vote. This fact has produced one of the major election issues. There are property and education qualifications for a Cape Colored to vote.

Malan has failed several times in efforts to get Parliament to put the Cape Coloreds on a separate voting roll so that they would be restricted to voting for four persons who would specifically represent the interests of the more than one million Cape Coloreds who trace their mixed ancestry back several centuries to alliance between the early white settlers, blacks and Orientals.

Music Stores Owner Charges School Graft

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 17 (AP) — Charges that "politics, corruption or graft" exists in the purchasing department of the Anne Arundel County Board of Education were made before the Board of County Commissioners today.

Donald O. Keeney, proprietor of music stores in Annapolis and Glen Burnie, said the "purchasing department . . . and the ultimate receivers of bids should be thoroughly investigated."

He said although he submitted a bid $1,311 lower than any competitor for a contract to furnish 19 pianos for use in the county schools, he was told all bids were rejected.

He said he then learned last week that the school board was advertising for new bids, specifically calling for instruments "equal" to competing brands.

County School Superintendent David S. Jenkins, called before the board by President Ralph L. Lowman, denied any wrong doing and declared:

"Keeney should make such accusations before the grand jury and not before the commissioners."

Jenkins said his department operates on two premises—to try and get the best and to give the teachers what they want.

He said the teachers do not like the product sold by Keeney, but prefer the competing instrument. He added that there is a law allowing him to specify brand names in advertising for bids.

Woman Succumbs From Crash Injuries

FREDERICK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Horace D. Radcliffe, 64, of Randallstown, died in Frederick Memorial Hospital today of internal injuries, shock and lacerations received in an automobile accident on Maryland 26 near Libertytown Sunday morning.

Her 65-year-old husband, driver of one of the cars involved, is in critical condition with similar injuries.

The Radcliff machine skidded and collided with one driven by Raymond E. Covey, 40, of Union Bridge. Covey was not hurt.

Baltimore Firm Cuts Its Coffee Prices Five Cents

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17 (AP)—Levering Coffee Co., one of Baltimore's largest coffee roasters, announced today it has reduced its price five cents a pound.

Manager M. J. Curley said the cut will be passed along to customers in about two weeks.

Coffee merchants in other large cities have announced cuts of 5 and 10 cents a pound, attributed to new currency regulations in Brazil and a resultant dip in the New York wholesale market.

In Philadelphia, Food Fair Stores Inc. announced a 10 cent per pound reduction in the price of its three popular brands of coffee, effective tomorrow.

The price will apply in more than 150 Food Fair supermarkets in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

The new prices were listed as $1.03 and $1.05 for packages and $1.09 for vacuum packed.

School Board Has No Space

TOWSON, Md., Aug. 17 (AP)—The Baltimore County Board of Education reported today it faces "the most severe shortage of classroom space in the county's history."

More than 10,000 pupils who will go on half-day shifts are to attend school in emergency, makeshift quarters when the new year opens next month.

The shortage has developed despite the completion of five new buildings, the school board reported. It will be eased a little when another new elementary school is completed in December.

Present plans for next month will put 5,490 pupils on part-time shifts at three high schools and 14 elementary schools.

Another 4,600 from 27 schools will attend classes in churches, converted business buildings, abandoned but reclaimed school buildings, school cafeterias, and storerooms.

The county has a prospective enrollment of 57,135, or an increase of 17,000 since the fall of 1950. All through the previous 10 years, enrollment only increased 16,000.

Storms Break August Heat Wave, Aid Maryland Crops

[By The Associated Press]

A storm, accompanied by gusts of wind up to 55 miles an hour, swept over Maryland Monday night, bringing these results:

Temperatures tumbled 15 to 20 degrees, breaking the back of a mid-August heat wave almost before it could get started.

Crops got another good soaking, especially those in the west, north and central parts of the state and on the Eastern Shore.

Some trees and power lines were blown down, although no extensive damage was reported. Lightning set off a fire that destroyed a barn in Carroll County.

The water level behind Liberty Dam, closed last month to provide another source of water for Baltimore, rose another 5.5 inches. Eventually, the Patapsco River water impounded by the dam will form a 40 billion gallon reservoir.

The Weather Bureau, in its five-day forecast issued Tuesday, said temperatures would remain pleasantly cool for several days, with a warming trend setting in late Thursday and continuing over the week end.

Rains last week and Monday were a boon to Maryland crops, some of which still suffered from a prolonged midsummer drought. Corn and soybeans showed some improvement, although most advanced fields of corn cannot recover completely. Pastures remained very low, although improving, and many farmers continued to feed hay and silage.

Monday's storm activity was generated by a mass of cool air moving eastward across the state, meeting hot, humid air as it progressed.

Precipitation ranged from nearly two-thirds of an inch in Salisbury to .20 of an inch at Waldorf. A full 30-degree drop in temperature, from a high of 95 to an overnight low of 65, was recorded at Waldorf.

Flames Destroy Summer Camp

CLAIBORNE, Md., Aug. 17 (AP)—The old "Miracle House" of the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn. has gone down in flames, leaving only a cottage and a little schoolhouse of what was once a gay children's summer camp.

The main frame building and several other smaller structures went up in smoke early today in a blaze firemen believe was caused by an inquisitive racoon probing the wiring system with sharp and mischievous teeth.

The association, which used the place as a summer camp for children from families hit by TB, sold out in 1944 when other methods of prevention were evolved.

The present owner is Ernest J. Schneider who had it up for sale with a price tag believed to have been in the neighborhood of $65,000.

A member of the St. Michaels Volunteer Fire Department, 46-year-old Wilson Ferguson, died of a heart attack that came on while he was working to free hose lines clogged of moss from Eastern Bay's unusually low tide.

Man Is Charged With Manslaughter In Hit-Run Death

SALISBURY, Aug. 17 (AP)—Samuel Lloyd Culley, who claims police have the right car but the wrong man, was charged with manslaughter today in the hit-and-run death of a 52-year-old Salisbury woman.

The 33-year-old Culley, a Negro, told police his car was stolen about the time of the fatal accident. The car was found abandoned on a suburban road, but police say witnesses saw Culley leave it there.

The victim, Mrs. Agnes Pauline Davis, was struck last night as she attempted to lead a little dog across the street in front of her home.

She had been at the filling station operated by her husband, E. Linwood Davis, just before the speeding car hit her.

Buffalo Scene Cut From Film

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17 (AP)—Walt Disney's film, "The Vanishing Prairie", can open here tomorrow, but that buffalo obstetrical scene will have to be removed—at least for the time being.

Sydney R. Traub, chairman of Maryland's Board of Motion Picture Censors, said today the Board could not rule on the questioned scene showing the birth of a baby buffalo until school officials are consulted.

Traub wants Dr. John H. Fischer, city school superintendent, and Dr. Thomas Pullen, State school superintendent, to view the scene.

Meanwhile, Traub released a letter from the first vice president of the co-ordinating council of the Baltimore Public School Parent-Teacher Organizations.

The writer of the letter, Mrs. Louis A. Huether, argued that the scene is "indelicate" and ought to be cut.

Traub quoted the letter as follows:

"It is my opinion that this type of scene in a picture which will attract children's audiences is indelicate; and, in view of the publicity which has already appeared in the public press, will provoke curiousity among the children and lead to confusion in the home."

Mahoney Says

hold his ruling, the fight for the nomination will be over.

If it reverses him, there still is a fight ahead in Queen Annes County because Mahoney needs a minimum of five unit votes to upset the outcome and Talbot has only four.

Continue New Challenges

Attorneys for both sides today continued their new challenging at Centreville of the ballots cast in Queen Annes.

At the close of the day they had inspected about 4,000 of the 4,900 votes. The Byrd forces had challenged 1,027 ballots cast for Mahoney, the Mahoney forces 473 cast for Byrd—a total of 1,500 out of the 4,000.

The attorneys expected to finish tomorrow their reexamination of the ballots in the last three of the county's 15 ballot boxes.

Former Attorney General William C. Walsh of Cumberland was Byrd's chief counsel in the case.

Music Stores Owner Charges School Graft

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 17 (AP) — Charges that "politics, corruption or graft" exists in the purchasing department of the Anne Arundel County Board of Education were made before the Board of County Commissioners today.

Donald O. Keeney, proprietor of music stores in Annapolis and Glen Burnie, said the "purchasing department . . . and the ultimate receivers of bids should be thoroughly investigated."

He said although he submitted a bid $1,311 lower than any competitor for a contract to furnish 19 pianos for use in the county schools, he was told all bids were rejected.

He said he then learned last week that the school board was advertising for new bids, specifically calling for instruments "equal" to competing brands.

County School Superintendent David S. Jenkins, called before the board by President Ralph L. Lowman, denied any wrong doing and declared:

"Keeney should make such accusations before the grand jury and not before the commissioners."

Jenkins said his department operates on two premises—to try and get the best and to give the teachers what they want.

He said the teachers do not like the product sold by Keeney, but prefer the competing instrument. He added that there is a law allowing him to specify brand names in advertising for bids.

Woman Succumbs From Crash Injuries

FREDERICK, Aug. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Horace D. Radcliffe, 64, of Randallstown, died in Frederick Memorial Hospital today of internal injuries, shock and lacerations received in an automobile accident on Maryland 26 near Libertytown Sunday morning.

Her 65-year-old husband, driver of one of the cars involved, is in critical condition with similar injuries.

The Radcliff machine skidded and collided with one driven by Raymond E. Covey, 40, of Union Bridge. Covey was not hurt.

Baltimore Firm Cuts Its Coffee Prices Five Cents

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17 (AP)—Levering Coffee Co., one of Baltimore's largest coffee roasters, announced today it has reduced its price five cents a pound.

Manager M. J. Curley said the cut will be passed along to customers in about two weeks.

Coffee merchants in other large cities have announced cuts of 5 and 10 cents a pound, attributed to new currency regulations in Brazil and a resultant dip in the New York wholesale market.

In Philadelphia, Food Fair Stores Inc. announced a 10 cent per pound reduction in the price of its three popular brands of coffee, effective tomorrow.

The price will apply in more than 150 Food Fair supermarkets in Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

The new prices were listed as $1.03 and $1.05 for packages and $1.09 for vacuum packed.

School Board Has No Space

TOWSON, Md., Aug. 17 (AP)—The Baltimore County Board of Education reported today it faces "the most severe shortage of classroom space in the county's history."

More than 10,000 pupils who will go on half-day shifts are to attend school in emergency, makeshift quarters when the new year opens next month.

The shortage has developed despite the completion of five new buildings, the school board reported. It will be eased a little when another new elementary school is completed in December.

Present plans for next month will put 5,490 pupils on part-time shifts at three high schools and 14 elementary schools.

Another 4,600 from 27 schools will attend classes in churches, converted business buildings, abandoned but reclaimed school buildings, school cafeterias, and storerooms.

The county has a prospective enrollment of 57,135, or an increase of 17,000 since the fall of 1950. All through the previous 10 years, enrollment only increased 16,000.

Storms Break August Heat Wave, Aid Maryland Crops

[By The Associated Press]

A storm, accompanied by gusts of wind up to 55 miles an hour, swept over Maryland Monday night, bringing these results:

Temperatures tumbled 15 to 20 degrees, breaking the back of a mid-August heat wave almost before it could get started.

Crops got another good soaking, especially those in the west, north and central parts of the state and on the Eastern Shore.

Some trees and power lines were blown down, although no extensive damage was reported. Lightning set off a fire that destroyed a barn in Carroll County.

The water level behind Liberty Dam, closed last month to provide another source of water for Baltimore, rose another 5.5 inches. Eventually, the Patapsco River water impounded by the dam will form a 40 billion gallon reservoir.

The Weather Bureau, in its five-day forecast issued Tuesday, said temperatures would remain pleasantly cool for several days, with a warming trend setting in late Thursday and continuing over the week end.

Rains last week and Monday were a boon to Maryland crops, some of which still suffered from a prolonged midsummer drought. Corn and soybeans showed some improvement, although most advanced fields of corn cannot recover completely. Pastures remained very low, although improving, and many farmers continued to feed hay and silage.

Monday's storm activity was generated by a mass of cool air moving eastward across the state, meeting hot, humid air as it progressed.

Precipitation ranged from nearly two-thirds of an inch in Salisbury to .20 of an inch at Waldorf. A full 30-degree drop in temperature, from a high of 95 to an overnight low of 65, was recorded at Waldorf.

Flames Destroy Summer Camp

CLAIBORNE, Md., Aug. 17 (AP)—The old "Miracle House" of the Maryland Tuberculosis Assn. has gone down in flames, leaving only a cottage and a little schoolhouse of what was once a gay children's summer camp.

The main frame building and several other smaller structures went up in smoke early today in a blaze firemen believe was caused by an inquisitive racecoon probing the wiring system with sharp and mischievous teeth.

The association, which used the place as a summer camp for children from families hit by TB, sold out in 1944 when other methods of prevention were evolved.

The present owner is Ernest J. Schneider who had it up for sale with a price tag believed to have been in the neighborhood of $65,000.

A member of the St. Michaels Volunteer Fire Department, 46-year-old Wilson Ferguson, died of a heart attack that came on while he was working to free hose lines clogged of moss from Eastern Bay's unusually low tide.

Man Is Charged With Manslaughter In Hit-Run Death

SALISBURY, Aug. 17 (AP)—Samuel Lloyd Culley, who claims police have the right car but the wrong man, was charged with manslaughter today in the hit-and-run death of a 52-year-old Salisbury woman.

The 33-year-old Culley, a Negro, told police his car was stolen about the time of the fatal accident. The car was found abandoned on a suburban road, but police say witnesses saw Culley leave it there.

The victim, Mrs. Agnes Pauline Davis, was struck last night as she attempted to lead a little dog across the street in front of her home.

She had been at the filling station operated by her husband, E. Linwood Davis, just before the speeding car hit her.

Buffalo Scene Cut From Film

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17 (AP)—Walt Disney's film, "The Vanishing Prairie", can open here tomorrow, but that buffalo obstetrical scene will have to be removed—at least for the time being.

Sydney R. Traub, chairman of Maryland's Board of Motion Picture Censors, said today the Board could not rule on the questioned scene showing the birth of a baby buffalo until school officials are consulted.

Traub wants Dr. John H. Fischer, city school superintendent, and Dr. Thomas Pullen, State school superintendent, to view the scene.

Meanwhile, Traub released a letter from the first vice president of the co-ordinating council of the Baltimore Public School Parent-Teacher Organizations.

The writer of the letter, Mrs. Louis A. Huether, argued that the scene is "indelicate" and ought to be cut.

Traub quoted the letter as follows:

"It is my opinion that this type of scene in a picture which will attract children's audiences is indelicate; and, in view of the publicity which has already appeared in the public press, will provoke curiousity among the children and lead to confusion in the home."

Mahoney Says

hold his ruling, the fight for the nomination will be over.

If it reverses him, there still is a fight ahead in Queen Annes County because Mahoney needs a minimum of five unit votes to upset the outcome and Talbot has only four.

Continue New Challenges

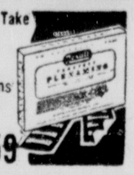

Attorneys for both sides today continued their new challenging at Centreville of the ballots cast in Queen Annes.

At the close of the day they had inspected about 4,000 of the 4,900 votes. The Byrd forces had challenged 1,027 ballots cast for Mahoney, the Mahoney forces 473 cast for Byrd—a total of 1,500 out of the 4,000.

The attorneys expected to finish tomorrow their reexamination of the ballots in the last three of the county's 15 ballot boxes.

Former Attorney General William C. Walsh of Cumberland was Byrd's chief counsel in the case.

New Fall Hats Will Completely Cover The Head

AP Newsfeatures

Hats will be hats this fall.

Bigger, deeper, covering the head, they have a new importance and a breezy, casual air that does with the new relaxed silhouette of dresses and suits.

The deep, head-hugging cloche of the flapper era is back with a bang, in many versions and a wide range of lavish materials, ranging from fur to satin.

The slouch-brim felt hat also is slated for wide popularity, with wider brims appearing also on other less casual silhouettes.

White and pastel satin hats in all shapes and sizes are shown for daytime wear with tweeds. Colors are important, with all shades or red, tangerine, gold and mauve being seen, in addition to the always popular neutrals and black.

Milliners are agreed—it's a season of "hattier" hats.

New Fall Hats Will Completely Cover The Head

AP Newsfeatures

Hats will be hats this fall.

Bigger, deeper, covering the head, they have a new importance and a breezy, casual air that does with the new relaxed silhouette of dresses and suits.

The deep, head-hugging cloche of the flapper era is back with a bang, in many versions and a wide range of lavish materials, ranging from fur to satin.

The slouch-brim felt hat also is slated for wide popularity, with wider brims appearing also on other less casual silhouettes.

White and pastel satin hats in all shapes and sizes are shown for daytime wear with tweeds. Colors are important, with all shades or red, tangerine, gold and mauve being seen, in addition to the always popular neutrals and black.

Milliners are agreed—it's a season of "hattier" hats.

SLOUCH CLOCHE . . . This head-covering hat in turquoise velours, is gathered at the top with black ribbon. By Lilly Dache.

TUNNEL CLOCHE . . . Here is a wider version of the deep-crowned hat, done by John Frederics in beige beaver, ginger velvet trim.

LEOPARD CONE . . . Emme's dramatic fur hat that ties under the chin.

Vanderbilt's Stage Debut Encouraged By Former Resident

He is Richard Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bender, 220 Greene Street.

A graduate of La Salle here, Bender has been in theatrical work since leaving Cumberland 20 or more years ago. For most of that time he has been staging plays for Gilbert Miller and, under the Miller aegis, directed Audrey Hepburn in "Gigi," one of the outstanding dramatic hits of recent years.

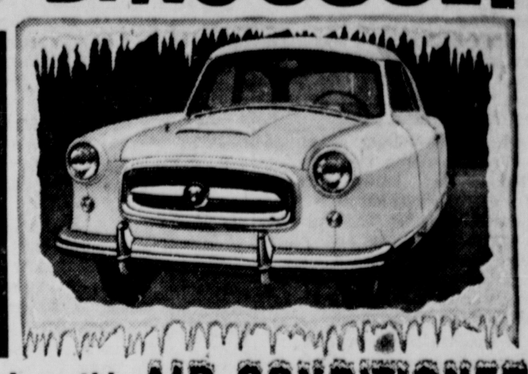

According to a feature story in the weekly magazine "Parade", it was Bender who persuaded the 30 year old Vanderbilt, now the wife of Leopold Stokowski, world famous orchestra conductor, to take the leading role in "The Swan," Ferenc Molnar's fairy tale drama in which Eva Le Gallienne starred on Broadway in 1923.

Harmon W. Duckworth, 22, a soldier stationed in Washington, was admitted to the institution with lacerations of the forehead. His condition is "good."

West Virginia State Police said the accident occurred when an auto driven by Robert Lee Shaw, 27, of Elkins, failed to negotiate a curve and skidded headon into Duckworth's machine.

Trooper Donald G. Peters charged Shaw with failing to keep to the right of the highway. A hearing will be held before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle in Keyser.

Hospitalized as the result of a weekend crash on Route 9 west of Berkeley Springs near Coal Run, were Calvin Jacobs and his wife, Eva, of 426 Race Street, Cumberland.

Jacobs required 25 stitches in his face and 22 in the left knee. Mrs. Jacobs suffered a rib fracture and shock.

According to Trooper Robert Mozingo, Jacobs was headed east when his car skidded on a curve and swerved in front of an automobile operated by Grover E. Adair, Arlington, Va. A reckless driving charge was filed against Jacobs.

Vanderbilt's Stage Debut Encouraged By Former Resident

He is Richard Bender, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bender, 220 Greene Street.

A graduate of La Salle here, Bender has been in theatrical work since leaving Cumberland 20 or more years ago. For most of that time he has been staging plays for Gilbert Miller and, under the Miller aegis, directed Audrey Hepburn in "Gigi," one of the outstanding dramatic hits of recent years.

According to a feature story in the weekly magazine "Parade", it was Bender who persuaded the 30 year old Vanderbilt, now the wife of Leopold Stokowski, world famous orchestra conductor, to take the leading role in "The Swan," Ferenc Molnar's fairy tale drama in which Eva Le Gallienne starred on Broadway in 1923.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

VALLEJO, Calif., Aug. 17—(INS)—It is coming up 100 years, man and boy, since Commander David G. Farragut, then age 50 but with 40 years service in the U. S. Navy behind him, took charge of a feeble little installation on a long, low island in San Pablo Bay. The Navy had paid $83,491 for the land a year before and now was determined to establish on it the first Pacific Coast base.

Farragut, who later as an admiral was to damn the torpedoes of Mobile Bay, immediately set about the construction of a yard, ways and means. The value of the endless buildings and jungle of equipment on Mare Island is now placed at $180,000,000. Almost countless millions more are tied up in its moth-balled fleet.

At one point during World War II it employed more than 40,000, including about 5,000 lady riveters—species of femininity which might have unnerved Farragut on sight.

A lot happened in between. Navy musician Paul Whiteman fiddled at Mare Island as a youngster and dreamed of a day when he'd have a band of his own.

Among the refugees from the San Francisco earthquake and fire of 48 years ago, received on Mare Island with open arms, was a dimply, cuddly job named Elsa Maxwell. Local legend is that she immediately arranged a party. Ships were built, too.

Farragut was transferred in 1859 not long before the first ship built under his direction hit the water. It was the wooden-side-wheeler "Saginaw." Curiously enough, the most recent products of Mare Island, minesweepers "Bluebird" and "Cormorant" are of wooden construction, too.

But the reason that most certainly would have baffled Farragut, the 'sweeps' were so constructed to guard against any affinity they might have in the future for magnetic mines.

Farragut's first shop was populated by a stone mason, a joiner and a blacksmith. Today Mare Island trains 600 marine engineers and technicians annually.

There is no record of what Farragut paid his first experts. Today the yard's annual payroll is around $55,000,000, but that's peace-time strength of around 13,000 employes. Mare Island, which got its name from a white horse which swam ashore from a tipped flatboat (during the rule of Mexican general Mariano Guadalupe Vallejo) has a number of notable first to its credit, aside from launching Elsa.

It has turned out more than 500 ships, including the battleship California, launched in 1919 and destined to be battered at Pearl Harbor. It built in 1917 the biggest sub ever made, the 371-foot pre-atomic Nautilus. Jupiter, which became the first aircraft carrier under the name "Langley," was built here and was the Navy's first electrically driven ship.

During World War I the keel of the destroyer Ward was laid May 15, 1918, and she hit the water exactly 17 days later —a record that still stands.

During World War II Mare Island had to be seen to be believed. Some 386 ships of all types slid down her ways between Pearl Harbor and V-J Day, 42 during the month of November, 1942. Ships that limped in from the wear, tear and wounds of the Pacific war were speedily reconditioned, brought up to date with the constant refinements worked out by engineers who never stopped thinking.

Mare Island, from a great height, must have resembled a tremendous magnet drawing to it night and day tens of thousands of workers and endless streams of prefabricated ship sections.

Peace will never make a ghost yard of Mare Island. Its apprentice training school, set up in 1912 under the sponsorship of President Taft, continues to produce something perhaps even more important than a modern destroyer or carrier. It produces "know how," keeps us technically abreast or ahead of the enemy.

Just A Match Starts This Car

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP) — All Paul J. Tusek needed yesterday was a match to start his stalled car—a 1906 Stanley steamer.

Paul's car was in a motorcade of ancient autos making the journey from Fort Lee, N.J., to Times Square to publicize the 10 - car American team which sails Aug. 20 for an Anglo-American vintage vehicle meet in England.

A Stanley steamer won't steam without a pilot light—which failed. But one match later Tusek was on his way.

Tusek, incidentally, hails from Power Point, Ohio.

Playlot Activities Will Close Tomorrow

City playgrounds will close tomorrow after what has been termed one of the most successful summer seasons, Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, announced.

Pence noted that several new ideas were tried out and caught the interest of children and adults.

Heavy equipment such as sliding boards and swings will be left on playgrounds until this fall for the benefit of school children.

Others To Be Stored

Other equipment will be stored by Glenwood Reel, Recreation Department maintenance man, until next summer.

While playgrounds close Thursday, the final event of the season will be the fishing rodeo Saturday at the Battie Mixon Fishing Hole, near Oldtown.

In reviewing the past summer's activities, Pence pointed to innovations the department attempted.

A tennis program under L. E. Van Sant was started for the first time at three courts with 100 teenagers and 100 adults participating.

Swimming Program Extended

The learn-to-swim program took in children from all playgrounds, and also was expanded to include swimming instruction, both basic and advanced, for adult classes.

Five classes of 12 each were held in golf instruction through the sponsorship of the Recreation Department.

The first swimming show in the city was held in Constitution Park Pool.

For the first time a track meet was held for all playgrounds at Thomas Post Playground and a large playlot picnic at Constitution Park.

One of the new activities tried out and which proved successful was the morning cook-out at various playgrounds.

Helping to acquaint groups of children from various sections were the square dances held by two or three playgrounds at one spot, Pence said.

A parade was substituted for stunt night and it provided much interest for both children and individual playground associations. Many people gathered Friday night in downtown Cumberland to see the 16 well-made floats and playground queens in open convertibles.

In addition to the many playground activities, Pence's department takes care a number of softball leagues and field assignments.

The fall and winter program will be formulated in the near future after the department takes a "breathing" spell from the hectic and busy summer.

Let your figure determine whether you'll include a knit dress in your fall wardrobe.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What do you first ask yourself when selecting a new dress? Is it fashionable? Is it practical? Can I wear it?

Certainly the fashionable and practical factors are important. Even more so is the third question! When choosing any item of apparel, base your choice on its suitability for your individual figure, size and type.

No new fashion is just right for every figure. The idea that one must wear a new style because it is current results in many a ludicrous sight! You don't want to look like a beanstalk, or a balloon; you ed. So select what honestly becomes you.

Questions And Answers

Apply my first two questions to the knit dresses and knit costumes that will be seen everywhere this fall. Yes, a knit dress is fashionable. Yes, it is practical — easy to wear, easy to care for, right for many occasions. What about the third question, the one that comes down to cases about your figure?

If you are well-proportioned, you can wear almost any style, knitwear included because your figure can "take" a dress that clings softly. If your figure one of extremes — very tall, very short, very full or very slender — beware of knits, for they tend to exaggerate the extreme that you wish to disguise.

For any but these extremes, however, a knit dress can be quite flattering, if you control your choice by your figure, and by these suggestions from my styling consultant:

Are you short, with only a tendency to weight? Select a one-piece knit dress, with a straight skirt.

Short, but quite slender? Try on a two-piece dress with a narrow belt, easy blouse, and softly flaring skirt in a ribbed knit; you'll discover it looks good on you.

For a tall, somewhat heavy figure, the two-piece knit is also good. Choose one with neckline interest, three-quarter sleeves and and easy skirt, in a dark color.

If you are tall, but quite slender, your best choice is a belted, two-piece knit, with bloused top and horizontally patterned skirt.

For Every Age

The knit dress, while it must accommodate the figure type, is one fashion that knows no age. College girls, young career girls and older women alike will find their sizes and styles available. Trimmings differ, to add interest to the basic dress. There are angora collars, starched dickeys, velvet bows. And there are varied knit patterns: ribbed, cable stitch, and a "popcorn" stitch that looks like a hand knit.

Don't say you can't wear a knit without trying one on. But do be severe with yourself in answering the question: Can I wear it?

Playlot Activities Will Close Tomorrow

City playgrounds will close tomorrow after what has been termed one of the most successful summer seasons, Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, announced.

Pence noted that several new ideas were tried out and caught the interest of children and adults.

Heavy equipment such as sliding boards and swings will be left on playgrounds until this fall for the benefit of school children.

Others To Be Stored

Other equipment will be stored by Glenwood Reel, Recreation Department maintenance man, until next summer.

While playgrounds close Thursday, the final event of the season will be the fishing rodeo Saturday at the Battie Mixon Fishing Hole, near Oldtown.

In reviewing the past summer's activities, Pence pointed to innovations the department attempted.

A tennis program under L. E. Van Sant was started for the first time at three courts with 100 teenagers and 100 adults participating.

Swimming Program Extended

The learn-to-swim program took in children from all playgrounds, and also was expanded to include swimming instruction, both basic and advanced, for adult classes.

Five classes of 12 each were held in golf instruction through the sponsorship of the Recreation Department.

The first swimming show in the city was held in Constitution Park Pool.

For the first time a track meet was held for all playgrounds at Thomas Post Playground and a large playlot picnic at Constitution Park.

One of the new activities tried out and which proved successful was the morning cook-out at various playgrounds.

Helping to acquaint groups of children from various sections were the square dances held by two or three playgrounds at one spot, Pence said.

A parade was substituted for stunt night and it provided much interest for both children and individual playground associations. Many people gathered Friday night in downtown Cumberland to see the 16 well-made floats and playground queens in open convertibles.

In addition to the many playground activities, Pence's department takes care a number of softball leagues and field assignments.

The fall and winter program will be formulated in the near future after the department takes a "breathing" spell from the hectic and busy summer.

Let your figure determine whether you'll include a knit dress in your fall wardrobe.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

What do you first ask yourself when selecting a new dress? Is it fashionable? Is it practical? Can I wear it?

Certainly the fashionable and practical factors are important. Even more so is the third question! When choosing any item of apparel, base your choice on its suitability for your individual figure, size and type.

No new fashion is just right for every figure. The idea that one must wear a new style because it is current results in many a ludicrous sight! You don't want to look like a beanstalk, or a balloon; you ed. So select what honestly becomes you.

Questions And Answers

Apply my first two questions to the knit dresses and knit costumes that will be seen everywhere this fall. Yes, a knit dress is fashionable. Yes, it is practical — easy to wear, easy to care for, right for many occasions. What about the third question, the one that comes down to cases about your figure?

If you are well-proportioned, you can wear almost any style, knitwear included because your figure can "take" a dress that clings softly. If your figure one of extremes — very tall, very short, very full or very slender — beware of knits, for they tend to exaggerate the extreme that you wish to disguise.

For any but these extremes, however, a knit dress can be quite flattering, if you control your choice by your figure, and by these suggestions from my styling consultant:

Are you short, with only a tendency to weight? Select a one-piece knit dress, with a straight skirt.

Short, but quite slender? Try on a two-piece dress with a narrow belt, easy blouse, and softly flaring skirt in a ribbed knit; you'll discover it looks good on you.

For a tall, somewhat heavy figure, the two-piece knit is also good. Choose one with neckline interest, three-quarter sleeves and and easy skirt, in a dark color.

If you are tall, but quite slender, your best choice is a belted, two-piece knit, with bloused top and horizontally patterned skirt.

The knit dress, while it must accommodate the figure type, is one fashion that knows no age. College girls, young career girls and older women alike will find their sizes and styles available. Trimmings differ, to add interest to the basic dress. There are angora collars, starched dickeys, velvet bows. And there are varied knit patterns: ribbed, cable stitch, and a "popcorn" stitch that looks like a hand knit.

Don't say you can't wear a knit without trying one on. But do be severe with yourself in answering the question: Can I wear it?

Assessing Powers Of County Board Are Listed By Getty

William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, has received legal advice from Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, concerning authority of the commissioners in connection with operation of the Assessing Department.

Lemmert asked Getty to check into the matter in view of statements by some county taxpayers pertaining to whether or not the supervisor of assessments and individual assessors are subject to the supervision and control of the county commissioners.

Getty's statement in part follows:

"In view of the fact that the provisions of the law differ with respect to the Supervisor and the assessors I am writing about them separately.

Supervisor Of Assessments

"An examination of the statutes regarding this matter, with regard to the supervisor, indicates that he is appointed by the State Tax Commission, is subject to the supervision and control of the State Tax Commission and can be removed by the commission.

"The supervisor is charged with the duty of recommending assessments to the county commissioners; listing escaped or new property; cooperating with the county commissioners in obtaining fair and equitable assessments; appealing to the State Tax Commission all assessments which he shall consider improper; obtaining information concerning valuation of local property; keeping posted on sales in his county and reporting such matters to the county commissioners. He must also act as chief assessor in his county 'with such additional duties as the State Tax Commission shall determine and designate.'

"The county commissioners, in turn, are required to furnish him with an office at the county seat, to pay one-half of his salary, to pay all other expenses incident to local assessment and to cooperate with him in securing fair and equitable assessments.

Individual Assessors

"With regard to the individual assessors, these men are appointed by the county commissioners from a list approved by the State Tax Commission after examination and grading. After appointment each assessor is required to perform his duties "under the direction of the supervisor of assessments" and is subject to removal only by the State Tax Commission. One-half of their salaries is paid by the county commissioners and their expenses are paid as a part of the expense incident to assessments.

"It would therefore appear that the supervisor and the individual assessors are state employes; that the supervisor is responsible to the State Tax Commission and the assessors to the State Tax Commission through the supervisor and that the county commissioners have and are entitled to exercise no supervision and control over either."

Assessing Powers Of County Board Are Listed By Getty

William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, has received legal advice from Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, concerning authority of the commissioners in connection with operation of the Assessing Department.

Lemmert asked Getty to check into the matter in view of statements by some county taxpayers pertaining to whether or not the supervisor of assessments and individual assessors are subject to the supervision and control of the county commissioners.

Getty's statement in part follows:

"In view of the fact that the provisions of the law differ with respect to the Supervisor and the assessors I am writing about them separately.

Supervisor Of Assessments

"An examination of the statutes regarding this matter, with regard to the supervisor, indicates that he is appointed by the State Tax Commission, is subject to the supervision and control of the State Tax Commission and can be removed by the commission.

"The supervisor is charged with the duty of recommending assessments to the county commissioners; listing escaped or new property; cooperating with the county commissioners in obtaining fair and equitable assessments; appealing to the State Tax Commission all assessments which he shall consider improper; obtaining information concerning valuation of local property; keeping posted on sales in his county and reporting such matters to the county commissioners. He must also act as chief assessor in his county 'with such additional duties as the State Tax Commission shall determine and designate.'

"The county commissioners, in turn, are required to furnish him with an office at the county seat, to pay one-half of his salary, to pay all other expenses incident to local assessment and to cooperate with him in securing fair and equitable assessments.

Individual Assessors

"With regard to the individual assessors, these men are appointed by the county commissioners from a list approved by the State Tax Commission after examination and grading. After appointment each assessor is required to perform his duties "under the direction of the supervisor of assessments" and is subject to removal only by the State Tax Commission. One-half of their salaries is paid by the county commissioners and their expenses are paid as a part of the expense incident to assessments.

"It would therefore appear that the supervisor and the individual assessors are state employes; that the supervisor is responsible to the State Tax Commission and the assessors to the State Tax Commission through the supervisor and that the county commissioners have and are entitled to exercise no supervision and control over either."

Stolen Items Recovered By City Police

Two percolators and an electric drill, reportedly taken from two local stores by a Washington resident who was taken into custody here last week, have been recovered by local authorities.

Lt. James E. Van of the City Police Detective Bureau, yesterday identified the man as John E. Smith, who was arrested here on August 12 by Officer J. Henry Stitcher.

Smith was held for investigation and following questioning and a hearing in Trial Magistrate's Court, is being detained in the County Jail pending a report from the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

When Smith was arrested, Van said, he had a percolator in his possession which reportedly was taken from the Sears Roebuck store.

Also reported stolen during the week were another percolator valued at $50 taken from Wilson and Pugh Company, 26 South George Street, and an electric drill from Sears Roebuck.

When Sloan finished second in a three-man race for the county treasurer nomination, Turnbull resigned as magistrate. Governor McKeldin signed a new commission for Sloan which extends to the first Monday in May 1955.

Valley Street Bridge Going Up

S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company workers are stripping the forms from the center and final pier for the Valley Street Bridge. Steel for the single-span arch bridge across Wills Creek and the Western Maryland Railway has arrived here, and workers are slated to begin erecting the system of I beams this week. Company officials reported yesterday that the reinforced concrete deck of the span will be poured before cold weather hits. This is one of three spans across Wills Creek which are to be rebuilt in connection with the $18,000,000 Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection Project. Plans for the new Market Street span will be completed soon.

Peaches May Be Infected With Virus

"Take a look at your peach trees for symptoms of a virus disease known as yellows," advises County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

"This disease can cause serious losses, but you can hold losses by inspecting trees and promptly removing infected ones."

One thing to look for is premature ripening of fruit on all or part of a tree. Fruit on yellows-infected peach trees ripens prematurely, a few days to three weeks or more in advance of normal. Such fruit usually lacks flavor and often is speckled or blotched with red. Premature ripening is a symptom that distinguishes yellows from little peach disease.

Fruit on little peach diseased trees ripens later than normal.

Yellows-infected trees also have or will have wiry, willow-like shoots bearing small, narrow, yellow leaves. This growth is distinguished by its upright habit and the tendency to branch repeatedly.

Peach yellows is transmitted from diseased to healthy trees by the plum leafhopper. This insect feeds primarily upon young twigs rather than on the leaf. It has been shown that yellows cannot be transmitted by pruning tools or by pollen from diseased trees.

Since plums may harbor the leafhopper and are symptomless carriers of peach yellows, it is suggested that plums not be planted in the vicinity of peach orchards.

Eradication of diseased trees in orchards as soon as symptoms appear has proved effective in control, Steger says the method recommended by the University of Maryland extension plant pathologist, Dr. L. O. Weaver, is to cut off all branches close to the trunk and pile them until they wilt and dry. The stump should be pulled and all wood removed in the dormant season.

Lack Of Clothes Was No Hinderance

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17 (AP) — Frances Smith's refusal to put on her clothes didn't stump Patrolman Edward Duffy. He hauled the 28-year-old barmaid into Northeastern Police Station today in nothing but her bra and panties.

The charge was disturbing the peace by loud argument at 3 a.m. Patrolman Duffy also arrested the other party to the argument, Leon Lackey, 40, who lives in the same building.

Miss Smith protested Duffy couldn't arrest her in her unmentionables. She also refused to put on more.

When it came time to appear in police court, a matron equipped her with a sheet. Miss Smith refused to talk. She was fined $25. The case against Lackey was dismissed.

A man paid Miss Smith's fine a little while later. She tripped out to his car, still encased in the sheet. Before they drove off, she handed the sheet back to the matron.

Pentagon Hopes Asia Conference Will Up Morale

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Pentagon hopes the Southeast Asia conference next month will produce maximum morale benefits for the region with minimum demands on American armed forces, already heavily committed in other parts of the world.

This is understood to be the view of Defense Department planners who will be called upon to put military flesh and muscle on the political skeleton to be contrived by the foreign ministers of eight nations at their meeting in the Philippines starting Sept. 6.

American officials, it was reported, see an urgent need to bolster anti-Communist spirits in Southeast Asia, where Western prestige was battered badly by what military men here openly refer to as the "debacle" in Indochina.

But the Pentagon neither desires nor expects that the "fabric of peace" woven at Baguio, the Philippines summer capital, next month will provide Southeast Asia with a hard and fast political and military alliance patterned after the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

There is even less inclination among U. S. defense chiefs to get involved in a Korea-style collective effort, it was learned. In Korea the United States provided the entire starting initiative and the continuing military leadership while contributing most of the men and bearing the heavy brunt of losses. Nevertheless, it had little more than a single voice in the councils that determined policies and objectives of the war.

Squirrels He Saw Were Already Bagged

COVINGTON, Ky., Aug. 17 (AP) — Eleven-year-old Gene O'Hara popped up over the brow of a hill, saw some squirrels and fired.

The result—two slightly injured hunters.

Raymond Lyons, 20, and Edward Sowder, 22, had already bagged the animals and were sitting down alongside them when the youngster let go.

Nearly a million people crowd the 991 square miles of the Saar, the largely self-governing state set up in 1947 in an effort to settle the old dispute between France and Germany over control of the Saar's fuel deposits.

World Farmers Paid Less, Produce More, But Cost Of Food To Consumers Is Same

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME, Thursday, Aug. 19 (AP)—The world's farmers are getting paid progressively less for producing steadily more, yet the cost of food to consumers has not gone down.

This was reported in an exhaustive annual survey of the world food situation for 1954, issued today by the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), headquartered here.

"The widening gap between the cost of food at the farm gate and the cost to the consumer" was linked by FAO to five other trends:

1. "Heavy surpluses of certain commodities have accumulated in some countries although there has been little improvement in the diet of millions of inadequately fed people . . .

2. "the gradual decline of (wholesale) farm prices and of farm incomes is likely to continue through 1954. The reduced purchasing power of the farm population is already being felt in other sections of the economy . . .

Marketing Costs High

3. "Marketing costs represent from 30 up to 50 per cent, and at times nearly 70 per cent, of the food costs to the consumer.

4. "World trade in foodstuffs has become static at almost exactly the 1934-38 (prewar) level. The static condition is in sharp contrast to the steady expansion of agricultural production, and indicates that a gradually diminishing proportion of the world's output is entering international trade . . .

5. "Food production per capita is still four to five times greater in North America and Oceania (the surplus producing sections) than in the Far East, Near East and Africa (the sections of greatest want) . . ."

FAO reported that in 1953-54, for the second successive year, world food production increased (nearly 3 per cent) at a rate faster than the world's gain in population (1½ per cent.)

FAO said this increase in 1953-54 was less than in the preceding year, and added:

"Fully half the world's people are still inadequately housed, clothed and nourished."

The summary said one of the most critical problems was that of the surpluses which have piled up—wheat in the United States, Canada, Australia and the Argentine, sugar in Cuba, and coffee in Central and South America.

"Wheat represents the crux of the problem," the report said.

"Stocks of wheat held by the four major exporting countries — United States, Canada, Australia and Argentina—increased by some 12 million tons (33 per cent) during 1953-54 and now represent about 2½ times their normal level of exports. The carry-over at the end of 1954 is likely to show a further increase . . . ."

FAO said the value of all holdings of the United States Commodity Credit Corp.'s stocks of agricultural products rose from $3,066,000,000 in March 1953 to $6,229,000,000 in March 1954.

Exports Account For Income

"Falling agricultural exports account for only part of this increase," FAO said. "For example, in the United States the increase in the value of government-held stocks in the 12 months to March 1954 was more than five times the fall in the value of agricultural exports . . .

"There was no decline in the high level of domestic demand for farm products. Nevertheless, the continuing fall in farm and wholesale prices in North America was reflected only to a very limited extent in lower retail prices and can have had little effect in stimulating consumption."

The report added:

"During the years 1952 and 1953 farm prices fell by 17 per cent in the United States and 23 per cent in Canada, and were closely followed by wholesale prices — but retail prices fell in the same period by only 2 per cent in the United States and 8 per cent in Canada . . .

"As it is only the retail price that affects the final demand, the rigidity of retail prices despite falling farm and wholesale prices must have reduced the expansion of demand. . . and contributed to the piling up of surpluses and the tendency to reduce farm prices even further."

The FAO summary found a "new policy" in Soviet Russia too which it said tended to shift the world's food balance.

Russia Imports Less Food

That new policy is to let "Comrade Ivan" have more to eat, the summary said. But since this has not yet been accompanied by an equivalent increase in Russian food production, it means Russia is importing less food to the rest of the world, and increasing her own imports.

FAO put it this way:

"A growing pressure of consumer demand, hitherto kept intentionally at a low level, appears to have been the main reason for drastic changes in policy in the U.S.S.R. and most Eastern European countries during 1953-54. . ."

It said the Soviet government has eased up in its drive for farm collectivization, and appears to be trying hard for increased grain production "probably mainly for animal feeding" to get more milk and meat to the Russian buyer.

FAO's experts regarded what it called the "post-Korean economic recession in the United States" with cautious optimism.

"The effects on the rest of the world of a continued and deepening United States recession would be serious indeed," the summary said, but it added:

"If, however, as now seems more probable, the downswing in the United States is slowly coming to an end, the outlook for 1954-55 in the more advantaged regions of the world—North America, Western Europe and Oceania—is likely to be one of modest improvement."

U. S. Is Blamed For Trade Loss

TOKYO, Tuesday, Aug. 17 (AP) — Red China's official newspaper blames the United States for "artificial obstacles" to trade between China and Britain.

Peiping radio yesterday broadcast an editorial from People's Daily saying:

"These obstacles are created by the so-called embargo policy arbitrarily undertaken by the United States.

"Another reason why Sino-British trade has not been further developed is that the United States has controlled the high seas in the Far East and directed the traitor Chiang Kai-shek to seize and intercept merchant vessels trading with China."

The editorial welcomed to Red China the party of British Socialists headed by Clement Attlee, former British Prime Minister.

Navy To Transport Viet Nam Refugees

MANILA, Aug. 17 (AP)—U. S. Navy ships are en route to Indochina to transport untold thousands of refugees in their flight from Communist-ruled Northern Viet Nam.

Rear Adm. L.S. Sabin told a press conference here the operation would be "one of the largest mass civilian sea evacuations in history." He said the number of refugees had been estimated at "100,000 to a quarter million or more."

Sabin, commander Amphibious Group, Western Pacific, said both the French and Vietnamese government had asked the United States to help move the refugees from the Haiphong area to Saigon.

The admiral declined to disclose the number of ships assigned to the operation but he said they included transports, cargo ships and amphibious craft.

"Good Intentions" Not Overwhelming

To help ease international tension and to show the deep sincerity of its desire for peace, no doubt, Communist Hungary is setting free 1,200 Greek men, women and children. Earlier this year it sent 1,000 home.

All of these were prisoners or hostages for five to eight years. Between 1946 and 1949, when the Greek Communists were fighting the Greek government, more than 28,000 non-Communist Greeks were sent behind the iron curtain. Many of them were children separated from their parents. Most of them are still unaccounted for. The Communists have refused to give an accounting of them.

While the Greek Communists were attempting to overthrow the Greek government by force, Communist delegates to the United Nations insisted angrily that this was an internal affair of Greece, and none of the UN's business. Most of the 28,000 Greeks were not soldiers and had no part in putting down the Communist uprising. But they were shipped out of their counrty as hostages and most of them are still being held.

What happened to them? Part of the answer was revealed by the previous batch of returnees. They were subjected to propaganda and indoctrination, of course. Many went to slave-labor camps. A number, especially among the impressionable children, embraced communism. How many of those now being returned go as secret agents of the cominform is a question that must trouble the Greek government.

It is all part of the savage, anti-human policy of the Communists. More than 90 per cent of these captives have not been returned and may never be. This new "proof" of Communist good intentions falls short of being overwhelming.

These Days

Citizens Or Communities

Back in 1917 in Stockholm, I attended a Congress of Minority Nationalities and was impressed by the fact that as small as Europe is, there were communities of men intent upon making each country smaller. Each nationality sought to be a separate nation; each linguistic group wanted to be distinct and autonomous because it used a different language.

The United States has never formally or legally recognized any group, racial, religious or nationalistic, as a minority group. There is no federal legislation distinguishing a minority group in the United States. There has been some state legislation to that effect, but it has been declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court.

Our basic theory is that each individual has inalienable rights as a person, not as a part of a majority or as a minority. Each stands in a court of law alone as a person whose rights, privileges, immunities and remedies are not to be related to groups or communities. Of course, there are violations of the law as there are violations of morals, but the principle of the oneness of this nation was determined by the War Between the States and the rights of the individual have been stipulated by the Constitution and by decisions of the Court.

Recently Will Maslow, General Counsel of the American Jewish Congress, appeared before the Jenner Committee to make some recommendations as to how Congressional committees should comport themselves. In the course of his statement, he said:

"As part of a total community whose ultimate security depends upon the maintenance of a sound and healthy political structure, the American Jewish Congress believes that Jewish groups must share the present concern over infringements upon individual liberties . . ."

What is a "total community" in the United States? Who can speak for an entity called a "total community"—for any such entity in the United States? Can the American Federation of Labor speak for the 60 million workers of this country? Can any organization speak for all the manufacturers, all the retailers, all the newspaper proprietors of this country? Can the Bar Association speak in all respects for all lawyers?

Legally only the Congress speaks for the total American community. Even if we break that total up into states, only the Senators or the Governors of each state can speak for the whole. And yet we know that even such lawful spokesmen are constantly being challenged by associations and by individuals from each state who have contrary views.

The strength of the American system is that while it presents the appearance of anarchistic individualism, through representation in Congress, the whole people join together in an orderly fashion. While no individual is required to conform to the views of another, all are obligated to obey the laws passed by Congress. There are no Fascistic syndicates in the United States such as Mussolini set up in Italy; there are no "total communities" of majority or minority groups.

It would seem to me important to make this point at the present time when certain national organizations seek to impress upon the Congress their tremendous importance. For instance, I am a Jew but the American Jewish Congress does not speak for me or for thousands of other Jews. I belong to the American Jewish League Against Communism which challenges the right of the American Jewish Congress to speak for it, as undoubtedly the American Jewish Committee, the Anti-Defamation League of the B'nai B'rith and countless other organizations do. And none of these organizations can speak for a "total community" because there is none.

The concept of a minority people, of minority representation, and of the rights of minorities is strictly European and undoubtedly resulted from the conquests in wars. For instance, the old Austro-Hungarian Empire was thrown together to include many nations and peoples who had a thousand or more years of wars and hatreds as a heritage. We ought to have none of this in the United States.

Governors Veer Toward Ike's Views On $50 Billion Highway Program

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The five governors who discussed the 50-billion-dollar highway program with Eisenhower at a White House luncheon the other day found themselves veering somewhat over toward Ike's ideas despite previous opposition.

Remarked one Republican governor afterward: "You know, I'm beginning to feel almost New Dealish."

Not all the conversation had to do with highways, however. For the benefit of the Southern governors present — Kennon of Louisiana and Wetherby of Kentucky — the President told this story about his election campaign.

"My advisers told me," he said, "that if I went down South on a tour I would get a corporal's guard out to hear me talk. Well, I decided to go anyway, and as I gathered momentum, I began to realize just how big a corporal's guard really is. I never knew before it could be so large."

Congressmen Need A Raise

It may sound strange coming from one who has done his share of criticizing Congress, but in my opinion it would be a tragedy if Congress did not come back this fall to vote a pay raise both for judges and congressmen themselves.

President Eisenhower urged such a pay boost last year. A commission was appointed, a recommendation made, but now all has been forgotten.

Congressmen and federal judges are still struggling along on salaries that few similarly qualified professional men would work for, though some are getting tired and resigning.

In the old days, the Senate was a rich man's corporation, where a member could afford to work for nothing. And the resultant legislation, as could be expected, benefited the rich. The House of Representatives has featured those who got kickbacks from their staff, private expense accounts a la Nixon, or skimped their families.

Few men in any job these days have to maintain two houses, unless they are corporation executives and get paid for it. But a congressman must keep a home in his district and a home in Washington, especially if he has children. The expense is terrific.

On top of this, few people are called upon to work longer hours than a United States senator. While the rest of the U. S. was pleasantly weekending, the Senate adjourned at 8:07 p. m. last Saturday night. Long hours have been the rule rather than the exception. Seldom has the Senate adjourned this summer before 8 p. m., and this does not include filibusters when debate continued all night.

The ordinary citizen working such hours would have gone on strike long ago, whether union or non-union.

Yet most members of Congress are conscientious, honest men. This writer happens to have exposed irregularities, helped send four congressmen to jail in recent years. However, I am certain these do not represent the congressional average.

What's bound to happen is that if congressional salaries are not increased, the caliber of our legislators will go down and down.

Fiscal Politics

President Eisenhower got a friendly tip over the weekend that he had better appoint a vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board or face some hot speeches in Congress.

Under the law, the President is required to appoint not only a chairman but a vice chairman of the Federal Reserve. Furthermore, he is required to appoint seven members to the board, and for months he failed to do the latter.

It was not until Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota made a speech accusing the President of deliberately violating the law that two additional board members were appointed — Canby Balderston of Philadelphia and Paul Miller of St. Paul. Both are good men.

So over the weekend, the White House was told that Senator Humphrey was ready to deliver another speech if Ike did not designate a vice chairman — also necessary under the law.

All this may seem like unimportant financial politics to the average taxpayer; but it isn't. It affects the credit structure of the nation and the amount of interest you pay when you go to the bank for a loan. For it goes back to the traditional battle between the Treasury and the Federal Reserve as to whether interest rates will be high or low, inflation up or down.

During the Truman administration this battle between Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and Federal Reserve Chairman Marriner Eccles made headlines. In the end, Truman demoted Eccles, which let the Treasury dominate the Federal Reserve Board.

Today the Treasury still dominates the Federal Reserve Board—though without headlines. The domination has been entirely friendly, through the fact that William McChesney Martin, new board chairman, was once undersecretary of the treasury and is a great friend of Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. Their cooperation is perfect.

However, many bankers point out that this is not the function of the Federal Reserve. Its function is to remain independent of the Treasury, of keeping the nation's credit aloof from the political dictates of the Treasury.

So when the Federal Reserve Board has five members instead of seven; and when it has no vice chairman, it's a little less independent, a little easier to dominate. That's why the board got along for months minus two members. Ike's financial advisers in the Treasury just didn't want them appointed.

Martin Dies Tells Of Frustrations In Fighting Reds

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Martin Dies, Texas Democrat, has just told for the first time the complete story of the frustration and interference he encountered from the Roosevelt administration as well as the details of personal attacks which he suffered from 1938 to 1945 when he was chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He withdrew at that time from the race in his district in the face of Communist and labor union and "liberal" opposition but now has come back to Congress as a representative-at-large, elected by an overwhelming majority of the voters of the entire state of Texas.

"I had stood for this thing for seven years," said Mr. Dies in a copyrighted interview in "U.S. News & World Report," this week. "What was really the matter with me was nervous exhaustion. They gave me the works — everything they could do, little personal things."

"Anything like what McCarthy has had?" he was asked.

Found Nothing Wrong

"Oh, he doesn't know what it is. They tried to get me, too. Listen, they examined my income taxes for six months—sat there in my town with two revenue men sent from Baltimore and spent six months making me dig up everything I had ever made for 10 years."

"Did they find anything wrong?"

"No, nothing whatever."

The Texas congressman told of harassing tactics by the White House and by cabinet officers and by Communists. He told of threats against his life and attempts to kidnap his son, which he attributes generally to opponents of his investigating committee.

"There was hardly a mail that I opened," he said, "that there wasn't a note threatening me with death or the children with kidnapping."

Mr. Dies says that as early as 1941 he "submitted to the executive a list of about 2,000 Communists on the federal payroll, including Alger Hiss, Harry Dexter White, Harold Glasser and others, and asked that they be discharged."

This was refused, so Mr. Dies persuaded the House of Representatives to appropriate $100,000 for the purpose of investigating the Department of Justice. He says that, while the FBI was an efficient organization, its hands were tied by its superiors.

Used White House Car

Mr. Dies says that the late President Roosevelt admitted to him that it would be bad politically for the Democratic party to alienate elements friendly to the Communists. He charges also that, when his committee was investigating the American Youth Congress for possible Communist connections, Mrs. Roosevelt invited Joseph Lash and the rest of the officers to stay at the White House during the entire investigation.

She (Mrs. Roosevelt) drove them to the committee hearings in the White House car," relates Mr. Dies. "They'd show up in the morning. Mrs. Roosevelt would come sit right by them, knitting. Then when noontime came, they all got in the White House car and went back to the White House.

"Finally, the evidence was so conclusive that Mrs. Roosevelt became very disturbed and sent for me to come to the White House."

At this meeting, according to Mr. Dies, Mrs. Roosevelt admitted that Joseph Lash had confessed to her he had been a Communist but that she still wanted to get him a commission in U.S. Naval Intelligence. The Texas congressman then insisted that Lash testify under oath, which he did.

"So, then Joe Lash came before the committee," says Mr. Dies, "and I got him to Confess that he had perjured himself, that he had been a Communist, and that he was an applicant for the naval intelligence and would get in the naval intelligence.

"Then I asked him why he was not drafted, and he couldn't give an explanation. I then called the draft board in New York to find out, in the presence of the committee, and the draft board said that because of White House interference they did not draft Joe Lash. So, that was the sort of thing that Roosevelt was surrounded with. Until you understand that, you simply don't understand what went on during that critical period."

One-Man Hearings Essential

Mr. Dies tells of how the CIO's executive board had on it a majority of Communists, how the CIO later expelled several unions to which he had originally drawn attention, and says he was generally condemned during that time for his "methods," although he never quite understood what was meant by this form of attack except to frustrate his committee's work. The Texas congressman says, moreover, that if one-man hearings are abolished, "it would be the end of all of them." He says there is so much work to be done that individual members have to hold many of the hearings.

As for Senator McCarthy he feels the Wisconsin senator, like himself, has been making some mistakes.

"I felt that McCarthy," said Mr. Dies, "rushed headlong into trouble that he could avoid. Now, perhaps he couldn't. It's awfully easy to sit on the sidelines and tell the other fellow how to run a committee."

Mr. Dies favors outlawing the Communist party. He doesn't favor executive employes revealing secrets to congressmen, but he tells of one instance where a State Department employe did come to his home to warn him that the Roosevelt administration was about to burn some of the records which the Hoover administration had on the Communists. Under those circumstances, he thinks an executive employe should go to members of Congress and tell them the facts. The real issue, he believes, is whether the individual feels that, by informing Congress, he is upholding his oath to defend the United States.

Soviet Jet Engine

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The Pentagon intelligence analysts have reluctantly concluded that the Soviet Union is already producing a jet engine about twice as powerful as any yet produced in the United States.

This is the biggest shock, the bitterest pill, in a development that was generally shocking and unexpected. Until a few months ago, the official forecasters were convinced that the Soviet aircraft industry would need at least two years more, to turn out planes comparable to our B-47 and B-52. But now such planes are already in the air, as reported in this space, in the form of the Soviet TU-37 and TU-39.

To find the Soviet strategic air development two years ahead of schedule, was unpleasant enough in itself. It was even more unpalatable to find that this remarkable Soviet jump forward depended upon, and in fact probably resulted from, the successful design of a jet engine greatly surpassing any jet engine as yet designed in the West. At first, therefore, the whole development was dismissed as fraudulent and imaginary.

There were good reasons, at first, to think that the Soviet display of new strategic air power was nothing but another proof of the Russian talent for building Potemkin villages. Potemkin had a strong interest in convincing the Empress Catherine that her realm was prosperous, and he built his cardboard villages to prove it. So the Kremlin today has a strong interest in convincing the West of the power of the Soviet strategic air army.

Suspicious Circumstances

The circumstances in which the first of the new planes was seen were also decidedly suspicious. As though inviting inspection, a TU-37, which is the equivalent of our B-52, not only flew low over Moscow, but also virtually circled above the American Embassy.

The new aircraft was slightly larger than its American equivadent. Where the B-52 needs the thrust of eight of the largest American jet engines to do its job, the TU-37 showed only four engine nacelles.

To be sure, the air intakes of the TU-37 engines were startingly huge. But the American analysts calculated that a four-engined bomber of this size would normally require engines with the unprecedented thrust of 18,000 to 20,000 pounds.

They calculated further that the TU-37 would look like the real thing with engines of 7,500 pounds thrust, provided it carried no pay load and fuel for only a couple of hours in the air. They remembered the apparent Soviet intention to impress. And so, initially, they wrote the whole thing off as a fake.

Unfortunately, this comfortable conclusion did not stand up for very long. It had hardly been reached indeed, when more than 20 TU-39s were observed, under very different circumstances, flying formation. There was no indication, this time, of a desire to impress. Whereas the TU-37 was flown publicly in the Moscow air show, the TU-39s have never been publicly flown to this day.

Furthermore, the TU-39 was a twin-engined jet bomber almost exactly comparable in size to our B-47, which has four engines. And in the TU-39 there were the same startingly big air intakes that had so puzzled the experts in the TU-37.

It was not possible to believe that the sighting of a large number of TU-39s, flying formation in a way that indicated advance unit training, was just another Potemkin village. On the other hand, if you assumed the existence of a new engine powerful enough to need the out-sized air intake, the whole pattern made sense.

Not A Fake

For all these reasons, in the language of a very high authority, "we have got to assume that there is nothing fake about the two new Soviet planes; and we have got to assume further that Soviet jet engine design has overtaken American jet engine design, at least in the cardinal point of thrust, which means power."

This kind of unpleasant shock has been repeatedly felt at the Pentagon from the first Soviet atomic bomb tests onward. For example, these reporters can well remember the late Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg arguing that the first MIG-15 was not an important phenomenon, but was a specially built plane mainly intended to impress the West.

At that time, the official analysts had told Gen. Vandenberg the Russians could never produce MIGS in quantity, because we ourselves were then having such difficulty in producing jet engines for our own fighters. But according to the now-accepted official estimate, the Soviets have finally produced no less than 13,000 MIG-15s before shutting off the line.

One can see why Donald Quarles, the assistant secretary of defense for research development, recently warned that the Soviets were challenging the American lead in weapons development. But one cannot see why Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson came very close to complacently contradicting his own subordinate the very next day.

Brucellosis And Its Origin In Man And Animal

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Brucellosis (undulant fever) is primarily a disease of animals. Humans develop the malady when they drink the milk or handle the flesh of infected cattle, pigs, goats, and sheep. It is logical to assume that if we can eliminate the disease in animals, it will disappear in humans.

There are three types of brucellosis, depending upon the source. The melitensis variety, comes from unpasteurized goat's milk and freshly prepared goat's cheese. Less than 10 per cent of human cases in the United States stem from this source.

Brucella suis comes from the pig and is acquired by handling infected tissues of freshly slaughtered hogs. From 10 to 15 per cent of human brucellosis is of this type, except in Iowa, Alabama, and Georgia, where it is a major cause. This species, is the most severe and debilitating form of the disease cause.

Brucella abortus is responsible for 75 to 80 per cent of all cases. The organisms originate in cattle and are passed to humans via unpasteurized milk and by handling the tissues or body fluids of infected animals. Germs usually enter through minute abrasions in the skin or through the membranes of the eyes or mouth.

Unpasteurized milk has received too much blame in the past; actually only 25 per cent of all victims acquire brucellosis in this manner. The remainder result from handling contaminated meat or taking care of the infected animal. For this reason, brucellosis is common among farmers, livestock producers, veterinarians, butchers, and employes of packing plants.

Approximately three weeks elapse between making the contact with the micro-organisms and the onset of symptoms. In more than half the cases, the individual develops fever, weakness, sweating, pains, and aches. These early manifestations resemble flu and for the first week or 10 days the condition often is treated as flu.

In addition, the victim suffers from headache, nervousness, loss of appetite, depression, and insomnia. When there is involvement of the joints the physician thinks of arthritis, rheumatism, or rheumatic fever. But the diagnosis is clinched when blood and skin tests are made. There are many remedies but the antibiotics and sulfonamides work best.

Brucellosis is more disabling than serious, particularly when the ailment lasts longer than a year. It then goes into the chronic phase and the patient becomes too weak to perform ordinary tasks. Nervousness, mental depression, and sexual impotence are common.

The disease ultimately burns itself out and complete recovery is the rule. The death rate varies from one to two per cent. The number of cases in humans is remarkably small, however, considering the incidence of the disease in animals.

"Good Intentions" Not Overwhelming

To help ease international tension and to show the deep sincerity of its desire for peace, no doubt, Communist Hungary is setting free 1,200 Greek men, women and children. Earlier this year it sent 1,000 home.

All of these were prisoners or hostages for five to eight years. Between 1946 and 1949, when the Greek Communists were fighting the Greek government, more than 28,000 non-Communist Greeks were sent behind the iron curtain. Many of them were children separated from their parents. Most of them are still unaccounted for. The Communists have refused to give an accounting of them.

While the Greek Communists were attempting to overthrow the Greek government by force, Communist delegates to the United Nations insisted angrily that this was an internal affair of Greece, and none of the UN's business. Most of the 28,000 Greeks were not soldiers and had no part in putting down the Communist uprising. But they were shipped out of their counrty as hostages and most of them are still being held.

What happened to them? Part of the answer was revealed by the previous batch of returnees. They were subjected to propaganda and indoctrination, of course. Many went to slave-labor camps. "Finally, the evidence was so conclusive that Mrs. Roosevelt became very disturbed and sent for me to come to the White House."

At this meeting, according to Mr. Dies, Mrs. Roosevelt admitted that Joseph Lash had confessed to her he had been a Communist but that she still wanted to get him a commission in U.S. Naval Intelligence. The Texas congressman then insisted that Lash testify under oath, which he did.

"So, then Joe Lash came before the committee," says Mr. Dies, "and I got him to Confess that he had perjured himself, that he had been a Communist, and that he was an applicant for the naval intelligence and would get in the naval intelligence.

"Then I asked him why he was not drafted, and he couldn't give an explanation. I then called the draft board in New York to find out, in the presence of the committee, and the draft board said that because of White House interference they did not draft Joe Lash. So, that was the sort of thing that Roosevelt was surrounded with. Until you understand that, you simply don't understand what went on during that critical period."

One-Man Hearings Essential

Mr. Dies tells of how the CIO's executive board had on it a majority of Communists, how the CIO later expelled several unions to which he had originally drawn attention, and says he was generally condemned during that time for his "methods," although he never quite understood what was meant by this form of attack except to frustrate his committee's work. The Texas congressman says, moreover, that if one-man hearings are abolished, "it would be the end of all of them." He says there is so much work to be done that individual members have to hold many of the hearings.

As for Senator McCarthy he feels the Wisconsin senator, like himself, has been making some mistakes.

"I felt that McCarthy," said Mr. Dies, "rushed headlong into trouble that he could avoid. Now, perhaps he couldn't. It's awfully easy to sit on the sidelines and tell the other fellow how to run a committee."

Mr. Dies favors outlawing the Communist party. He doesn't favor executive employes revealing secrets to congressmen, but he tells of one instance where a State Department employe did come to his home to warn him that the Roosevelt administration was about to burn some of the records which the Hoover administration had on the Communists. Under those circumstances, he thinks an executive employe should go to members of Congress and tell them the facts. The real issue, he believes, is whether the individual feels that, by informing Congress, he is upholding his oath to defend the United States.

Brucellosis And Its Origin In Man And Animal

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Brucellosis (undulant fever) is primarily a disease of animals. Humans develop the malady when they drink the milk or handle the flesh of infected cattle, pigs, goats, and sheep. It is logical to assume that if we can eliminate the disease in animals, it will disappear in humans.

There are three types of brucellosis, depending upon the source. The melitensis variety, comes from unpasteurized goat's milk and freshly prepared goat's cheese. Less than 10 per cent of human cases in the United States stem from this source.

Brucella suis comes from the pig and is acquired by handling infected tissues of freshly slaughtered hogs. From 10 to 15 per cent of human brucellosis is of this type, except in Iowa, Alabama, and Georgia, where it is a major cause. This species, is the most severe and debilitating form of the disease cause.

Brucella abortus is responsible for 75 to 80 per cent of all cases. The organisms originate in cattle and are passed to humans via unpasteurized milk and by handling the tissues or body fluids of infected animals. Germs usually enter through minute abrasions in the skin or through the membranes of the eyes or mouth.

Unpasteurized milk has received too much blame in the past; actually only 25 per cent of all victims acquire brucellosis in this manner. The remainder result from handling contaminated meat or taking care of the infected animal. For this reason, brucellosis is common among farmers, livestock producers, veterinarians, butchers, and employes of packing plants.

Approximately three weeks elapse between making the contact with the micro-organisms and the onset of symptoms. In more than half the cases, the individual develops fever, weakness, sweating, pains, and aches. These early manifestations resemble flu and for the first week or 10 days the condition often is treated as flu.

In addition, the victim suffers from headache, nervousness, loss of appetite, depression, and insomnia. When there is involvement of the joints the physician thinks of arthritis, rheumatism, or rheumatic fever. But the diagnosis is clinched when blood and skin tests are made. There are many remedies but the antibiotics and sulfonamides work best.

Brucellosis is more disabling than serious, particularly when the ailment lasts longer than a year. It then goes into the chronic phase and the patient becomes too weak to perform ordinary tasks. Nervousness, mental depression, and sexual impotence are common.

The disease ultimately burns itself out and complete recovery is the rule. The death rate varies from one to two per cent. The number of cases in humans is remarkably small, however, considering the incidence of the disease in animals.

Governors Veer Toward Ike's Views On $50 Billion Highway Program

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The five governors who discussed the 50-billion-dollar highway program with Eisenhower at a White House luncheon the other day found themselves veering somewhat over toward Ike's ideas despite previous opposition.

Remarked one Republican governor afterward: "You know, I'm beginning to feel almost New Dealish."

Not all the conversation had to do with highways, however. For the benefit of the Southern governors present — Kennon of Louisiana and Wetherby of Kentucky — the President told this story about his election campaign.

"My advisers told me," he said, "that if I went down South on a tour I would get a corporal's guard out to hear me talk. Well, I decided to go anyway, and as I gathered momentum, I began to realize just how big a corporal's guard really is. I never knew before it could be so large."

Congressmen Need A Raise

It may sound strange coming from one who has done his share of criticizing Congress, but in my opinion it would be a tragedy if Congress did not come back this fall to vote a pay raise both for judges and congressmen themselves.

President Eisenhower urged such a pay boost last year. A commission was appointed, a recommendation made, but now all has been forgotten.

Congressmen and federal judges are still struggling along on salaries that few similarly qualified professional men would work for, though some are getting tired and resigning.

In the old days, the Senate was a rich man's corporation, where a member could afford to work for nothing. And the resultant legislation, as could be expected, benefited the rich. The House of Representatives has featured those who got kickbacks from their staff, private expense accounts a la Nixon, or skimped their families.

Few men in any job these days have to maintain two houses, unless they are corporation executives and get paid for it. But a congressman must keep a home in his district and a home in Washington, especially if he has children. The expense is terrific.

On top of this, few people are called upon to work longer hours than a United States senator. While the rest of the U. S. was pleasantly weekending, the Senate adjourned at 8:07 p. m. last Saturday night. Long hours have been the rule rather than the exception. Seldom has the Senate adjourned this summer before 8 p. m., and this does not include filibusters when debate continued all night.

The ordinary citizen working such hours would have gone on strike long ago, whether union or non-union.

Yet most members of Congress are conscientious, honest men. This writer happens to have exposed irregularities, helped send four congressmen to jail in recent years. However, I am certain these do not represent the congressional average.

What's bound to happen is that if congressional salaries are not increased, the caliber of our legislators will go down and down.

Fiscal Politics

President Eisenhower got a friendly tip over the weekend that he had better appoint a vice chairman of the Federal Reserve Board or face some hot speeches in Congress.

Under the law, the President is required to appoint not only a chairman but a vice chairman of the Federal Reserve. Furthermore, he is required to appoint seven members to the board, and for months he failed to do the latter. It was not until Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota made a speech accusing the President of deliberately violating the law that two additional board members were appointed — Canby Balderston of Philadelphia and Paul Miller of St. Paul. Both are good men.

So over the weekend, the White House was told that Senator Humphrey was ready to deliver another speech if Ike did not designate a vice chairman — also necessary under the law.

All this may seem like unimportant financial politics to the average taxpayer; but it isn't. It affects the credit structure of the nation and the amount of interest you pay when you go to the bank for a loan. For it goes back to the traditional battle between the Treasury and the Federal Reserve as to whether interest rates will be high or low, inflation up or down.

During the Truman administration this battle between Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and Federal Reserve Chairman Marriner Eccles made headlines. In the end, Truman demoted Eccles, which let the Treasury dominate the Federal Reserve Board.

Today the Treasury still dominates the Federal Reserve Board —though without headlines. The domination has been entirely friendly, through the fact that William McChesney Martin, new board chairman, was once undersecretary of the treasury and is a great friend of Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey. Their cooperation is perfect.

However, many bankers point out that this is not the function of the Federal Reserve. Its function is to remain independent of the Treasury, of keeping the nation's credit aloof from the political dictates of the Treasury.

So when the Federal Reserve Board has five members instead of seven; and when it has no vice chairman, it's a little less independent, a little easier to dominate. That's why the board got along for months minus two members. Ike's financial advisers in the Treasury just didn't want them appointed.

Soviet Jet Engine

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The Pentagon intelligence analysts have reluctantly concluded that the Soviet Union is already producing a jet engine about twice as powerful as any yet produced in the United States.

This is the biggest shock, the bitterest pill, in a development that was generally shocking and unexpected. Until a few months ago, the official forecasters were convinced that the Soviet aircraft industry would need at least two years more, to turn out planes comparable to our B-47 and B-52. But now such planes are already in the air, as reported in this space, in the form of the Soviet TU-37 and TU-39.

To find the Soviet strategic air development two years ahead of schedule, was unpleasant enough in itself. It was even more unpalatable to find that this remarkable Soviet jump forward depended upon, and in fact probably resulted from, the successful design of a jet engine greatly surpassing any jet engine as yet designed in the West. At first, therefore, the whole development was dismissed as fraudulent and imaginary.

There were good reasons, at first, to think that the Soviet display of new strategic air power was nothing but another proof of the Russian talent for building Potemkin villages. Potemkin had a strong interest in convincing the Empress Catherine that her realm was prosperous, and he built his cardboard villages to prove it. So the Kremlin today has a strong interest in convincing the West of the power of the Soviet strategic air army.

Suspicious Circumstances

The circumstances in which the first of the new planes was seen were also decidedly suspicious. As though inviting inspection, a TU-37, which is the equivalent of our B-52, not only flew low over Moscow, but also virtually circled above the American Embassy.

The new aircraft was slightly larger than its American equivadent. Where the B-52 needs the thrust of eight of the largest American jet engines to do its job, the TU-37 showed only four engine nacelles.

To be sure, the air intakes of the TU-37 engines were startingly huge. But the American analysts calculated that a four-engined bomber of this size would normally require engines with the unprecedented thrust of 18,000 to 20,000 pounds.

They calculated further that the TU-37 would look like the real thing with engines of 7,500 pounds thrust, provided it carried no pay load and fuel for only a couple of hours in the air. They remembered the apparent Soviet intention to impress. And so, initially, they wrote the whole thing off as a fake.

Unfortunately, this comfortable conclusion did not stand up for very long. It had hardly been reached indeed, when more than 20 TU-39s were observed, under very different circumstances, flying formation. There was no indication, this time, of a desire to impress. Whereas the TU-37 was flown publicly in the Moscow air show, the TU-39s have never been publicly flown to this day.

Furthermore, the TU-39 was a twin-engined jet bomber almost exactly comparable in size to our B-47, which has four engines. And in the TU-39 there were the same startingly big air intakes that had so puzzled the experts in the TU-37.

It was not possible to believe that the sighting of a large number of TU-39s, flying formation in a way that indicated advance unit training, was just another Potemkin village. On the other hand, if you assumed the existence of a new engine powerful enough to need the out-sized air intake, the whole pattern made sense.

Not A Fake

For all these reasons, in the language of a very high authority, "we have got to assume that there is nothing fake about the two new Soviet planes; and we have got to assume further that Soviet jet engine design has overtaken American jet engine design, at least in the cardinal point of thrust, which means power."

This kind of unpleasant shock has been repeatedly felt at the Pentagon from the first Soviet atomic bomb tests onward. For example, these reporters can well remember the late Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg arguing that the first MIG-15 was not an important phenomenon, but was a specially built plane mainly intended to impress the West.

At that time, the official analysts had told Gen. Vandenberg the Russians could never produce MIGS in quantity, because we ourselves were then having such difficulty in producing jet engines for our own fighters. But according to the now-accepted official estimate, the Soviets have finally produced no less than 13,000 MIG-15s before shutting off the line.

One can see why Donald Quarles, the assistant secretary of defense for research development, recently warned that the Soviets were challenging the American lead in weapons development. But one cannot see why Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson came very close to complacently contradicting his own subordinate the very next day.

Another banquet honored members of the wrestling and basketball squads.

In addition, members of the Booster Club constructed a platform for the taking of movies at the football games. A donation toward the purchase of new uniforms for the Beall High Band was also made. The Booster Club also purchased a short movie film strip advertising the Beall High Football schedule for the coming season and Publicity Chairman Rusty Bevans announced that the Palace Theater will start showing this film strip August 20.

Twister Hits Tucker County Rural Area

Moore Farm Home Almost Destroyed

PARSONS — A twister hit for the second time this summer in Tucker County Tuesday night and a woman carried some distance by the high wind miraculously escaped unharmed.

A house, barn and two outbuildings at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Moore, who reside eight miles northwest of Parsons on Pifer Mountain, were practically destroyed.

An occupant of the home, Mrs. Godfrey Moore, 68, is a patient in Tucker County Hospital, Parsons, suffering from shock.

The woman who was carried about 40 feet from the milk house and deposited on the front porch was a daughter-in-law of the Moores. She is Mrs. Okie Moore, 35, who received only cuts on her legs in her perilous flight through space.

The elder Moore, his son, Okie, and two grandsons, Donald and Okie Ray, were not injured. The two families reside together.

The roof and second story of the frame home was deposited in the front yard.

The milk house in which Mrs. Okie Moore was using the milk separator at the time the blow struck was practically demolished.

The barn lost its roof and second floor, one end of a sawmill was destroyed and a grainery damaged.

A pump house in the rear of the home was blown into the front yard and wrapped around a large apple tree which was twisted out of the ground by its roots.

The twister converged on the top of Pifer Mountain and cut a path about a city block wide.

The Monongahela Power Company was called into the section to take a fallen power line from the road which is Section 15 Road connecting Routes 72 and 92.

The power company checked the section beyond the Moore home but could not find any other damage.

The Pifer Mountain School located 200 yards from the Moore residence was not damaged.

Clothing and furniture splintered into bits littered the area around the stricken home.

The elder Moore and his grandson Okie Ray are residing at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel Holsberry in Parsons while Mr. and Mrs. Okie Moore and son, Donald, are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Nestor nearby. There was no insurance.

A number of large trees on the farm of Clare Miller who lives in the valley below Pifer Mountain was torn out by the roots, but the Miller buildings or the Murphy School nearby escaped damage.

Mrs. Okie Moore said she was in the milk house separating milk when the wind hit. She said she heard a swish, followed by a deathly silence and then did not remember anything until she regained consciousness lying on the front porch of the Moore home covered with mud.

A considerable number of glass jars of canned foods stored in the milk house were pulverized and fine powdery glass covered the area around the stricken home.

A large metal stove in the milk house was carried 25 feet as was a table. A washer in this building had not been recovered last night. The separator remained intact on its bench, however.

Five trees around the home were either broken off or twisted out of the ground.

Two horses in the barn, that was partially destroyed, were not hurt nor were several cows that were in the damaged grainery building.

The other twister this summer in Tucker County occurred on July 14 when Thomas was stricken severely.

KEYSER — The Mayor and Council decided to invite J. J. Storman, B&O maintenance engineer on the Cumberland division, serving during the illness of E. J. Clopton, to meet with city officials at a special meeting next Tuesday at 1 p. m. During that time matters pertaining to the crossings, including Main, East and Water streets, will be discussed to clarify the situation in which the company asks elimination of one crossing in addition to placing gates at the Main Street crossing.

The company had set aside next week to make the changes at the Main Street crossing, but council has some questions to discuss relating to the other crossings.

The company has offered to use the money, amounting to approximately $5,000, that will be saved in cutting out work on another crossing for enlarging the sewer in "Ditch Alley." A substitute proposition will be presented for the Water Street crossing by council.

An invitation has been extended to the local service clubs, including Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions, to attend an open house meeting at the City Filtration plant in the South End of the city, next Wednesday. Improvements, which the city feels will be of interest to the service clubs, have been completed.

John R. Shelton, director of the Keyser Municipal Swimming Pool, told the mayor and council, that he believes it will be impossible to conduct opening ceremonies for the pool this year, due to a number of minor activities that are incomplete and cannot be expected to be ready for use this season. He enumerated the various items necessary and the mayor and members of council believe it will be inadvisable to have a formal opening this year.

Beall Boosters Launch Drive For New Members

Election Scheduled For August 25

FROSTBURG — The Beall High Booster Club launched a membership drive and a renewal of memberships at a recent meeting held in Beall High School. The Beall Booster Club was formed one year ago and present membership totals approximately 500.

It is hoped that all present members will renew their membership cards in the near future and that as many as possible new members will be added.

Pinkney Holmes, treasurer, reported that the Booster Club had spent a total of $1,002.67 at Beall High School since last September. In addition to this, one of the projects now underway is the construction of a concrete block enclosure around the main oil switch to the stadium floodlights. This work is to be done entirely by members of the Booster Club.

During the past year, the Booster Club initiated a Player Of The Week Award for members of the football team; presented each member of the soccer squad with miniature gold soccer balls; purchased entirely new uniforms for all members of the wrestling team; presented new jackets to each member of the basketball squad, and all members of the football and soccer squads were feted at a banquet. Another banquet honored members of the wrestling and basketball squads.

In addition, members of the Booster Club constructed a platform for the taking of movies at the football games. A donation toward the purchase of new uniforms for the Beall High Band was also made. The Booster Club also purchased a short movie film strip advertising the Beall High Football schedule for the coming season and Publicity Chairman Rusty Bevans announced that the Palace Theater will start showing this film strip August 20.

The next meeting of the Beall High Booster Club will be held Wednesday, August 25 at which time election of officers for the coming year will be held. New Booster Club membership cards may be purchased from any member of the Booster Club.

Twister Hits Tucker County Rural Area

Moore Farm Home Almost Destroyed

PARSONS — A twister hit for the second time this summer in Tucker County Tuesday night and a woman carried some distance by the high wind miraculously escaped unharmed.

A house, barn and two outbuildings at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Moore, who reside eight miles northwest of Parsons on Pifer Mountain, were practically destroyed.

An occupant of the home, Mrs. Godfrey Moore, 68, is a patient in Tucker County Hospital, Parsons, suffering from shock.

The woman who was carried about 40 feet from the milk house and deposited on the front porch was a daughter-in-law of the Moores. She is Mrs. Okie Moore, 35, who received only cuts on her legs in her perilous flight through space.

The elder Moore, his son, Okie, and two grandsons, Donald and Okie Ray, were not injured. The two families reside together.

The roof and second story of the frame home was deposited in the front yard.

The milk house in which Mrs. Okie Moore was using the milk separator at the time the blow struck was practically demolished.

The barn lost its roof and second floor, one end of a sawmill was destroyed and a grainery damaged.

A pump house in the rear of the home was blown into the front yard and wrapped around a large apple tree which was twisted out of the ground by its roots.

The twister converged on the top of Pifer Mountain and cut a path about a city block wide.

The Monongahela Power Company was called into the section to take a fallen power line from the road which is Section 15 Road connecting Routes 72 and 92.

The power company checked the section beyond the Moore home but could not find any other damage.

The Pifer Mountain School located 200 yards from the Moore residence was not damaged.

Clothing and furniture splintered into bits littered the area around the stricken home.

The elder Moore and his grandson Okie Ray are residing at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel Holsberry in Parsons while Mr. and Mrs. Okie Moore and son, Donald, are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Nestor nearby. There was no insurance.

A number of large trees on the farm of Clare Miller who lives in the valley below Pifer Mountain was torn out by the roots, but the Miller buildings or the Murphy School nearby escaped damage.

Mrs. Okie Moore said she was in the milk house separating milk when the wind hit. She said she heard a swish, followed by a deathly silence and then did not remember anything until she regained consciousness lying on the front porch of the Moore home covered with mud.

A considerable number of glass jars of canned foods stored in the milk house were pulverized and fine powdery glass covered the area around the stricken home.

A large metal stove in the milk house was carried 25 feet as was a table. A washer in this building had not been recovered last night. The separator remained intact on its bench, however.

Five trees around the home were either broken off or twisted out of the ground.

Two horses in the barn, that was partially destroyed, were not hurt nor were several cows that were in the damaged grainery building.

The other twister this summer in Tucker County occurred on July 14 when Thomas was stricken severely.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17—(INS)—American money is being offered for the motion picture rights to "Witness For The Prosecution," a murder mystery by Agatha Christie. On my last night in London, Van Johnson and David Lewis took me to see this play, which has had a most successful run.

"The Mouse Trap," by the same author, is another play that's bringing them in. What with all the books Miss Christie writes, I should say she's one of the richest women in England.

After the play Van and David took me to the Caprice for supper and we met Bea Lillie, who's arranging to open her play in London, provided she can get Eadie and Rack and Reginald Gardiner.

New York was alerted for the arrival of Marilyn Monroe, who is supposed to join Joe DiMaggio there. When I left she had not yet put in an appearance. The press was waiting to get interviews.

If Marilyn ever goes to London she'll be mobbed. I'd say that Marilyn is the top Hollywood star there. I base this on the reams and reams of publicity in the London newspapers which print every scrap of news about her—even on the days when the political situation was tense with discussions on the deal made with Egypt.

The best news that greeted me in New York is the good business motion pictures are doing. I really believe TV has been a blessing in disguise. Our studios knew they had to turn out good products and at less expense—and believe me, they're doing it.

"On The Water Front" will give Harry Cohn another reason to cheer; "Caine Mutiny" is still going strong; "Susan Slept Here" played to capacity houses in London and New York. "The Egyptian" opens in New York next week and Jean Simmons, Gene Tierney and other top stars will be in the big town for the premiere.

I have no wish to start a feud with Director Willie Wyler, for whom I have always had great admiration as both a director and a person. But I can't go along with his contention that there is no young actress in Hollywood 19 years old who is good enough to play the daughter role in "Desperate Hours."

After testing two dozen young players, Wyler says he is leaving for the East to hunt for an unknown.

If you are less than 20, look enough like Freddie March to be his daughter, and can act better than Bette Davis, get in touch with Director Willie.

I never saw Henry Fonda as Lt. Greenwald in "Caine Mutiny Court Martial," but I don't believe he could be any better than Barry Sullivan. What a surprise that boy is!

Of course, reams have been written about Lloyd Nolan as Captain Queeg, and they're all well deserved. John Hodiak, too, brings great symapthy to the role of Maryk.

I must say I was mighty proud when our three Hollywood boys stepped out on the stage and took bow after bow.

I went backstage to see Lloyd and the two boys joined us in his dressing room. Mrs. Nolan and Lloyd just celebrated their wedding anniversary and her present from Lloyd was a replica of her first night ticket to "Caine Mutiny" on a bracelet.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Carl Brissom, looking fabulous, has bought a place in the Virgin Islands. He's mighty proud of his son, Freddie Brisson's hit "Pajama Game."

Between acts of "Pajama Game" I dropped into Sardi's with Harold Prince. Walter Winchell was having dinner and was joined by Irving Berlin and Irving Hoffman. Walter's on vacation and restless to get back on the job. I took stock of myself and wondered if I'm as restless as he is. I probably am, but I heartily recommend a vacation for everyone. I feel at least 20 years younger.

In London I was given a luncheon by Maurice Childs, managing director of the Savoy. Among the guests was Walter Bedford Sharp, who had grown up in Houston and known Howard Hughes all his life.

Went on to Mocambo to hear Billy Daniels. He sang several of Jimmy McHugh's songs, which delighted Mrs. May Gormley (Jimmy's sister) who with her husband, Joseph Gromley, is the house guest of the song writer.

Another bit of news that greeted me is that Luis Dominguin and Annabella had attended the bullfights in Tijuana together. When I left town Ava Gardner was his big moment. Just can't keep up with these romances.

Sorry to have missed Cyd Charisse and Tony Martin's party Saturday night. Sounded very gay. It was after Tony's appearance at the Hollywood Bowl.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Susan Hayward Wins Divorce

BURBANK, Calif., Aug. 17 (AP)—The hotly contested Susan Hayward-Jess Barker divorce case ended today when a judge granted the actress a decree and the right to keep all her real and personal property.

Her property includes more than a quarter of a million dollars in cash, bonds and insurance and a million dollar movie contract.

Barker, also an actor, was awarded a Ford station wagon and the right to visit the couple's twin sons on alternate weekends. Miss Hayward was given custody as part of the ruling.

Barker had contested his wife's divorce action and at one point his attorney said he had turned down a $100,000 settlement offer from Miss Hayward because of "certain strings attached."

The hectic divorce trial included charges that Barker once threw her into their swimming pool during an argument and a counter charge by Barker's lawyer that she was an "icy woman, an absentee mother."

During trial of the case last June it was brought out that assets in her own name included $293-319. Barker's bank account was set at about $5,000. In 1951 and 1952 he earned a total of $665 while she earned $374,068.

In 1953, Federal restrictions against the sale of liquor to Indians were removed.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17—(INS)—American money is being offered for the motion picture rights to "Witness For The Prosecution," a murder mystery by Agatha Christie. On my last night in London, Van Johnson and David Lewis took me to see this play, which has had a most successful run.

"The Mouse Trap," by the same author, is another play that's bringing them in. What with all the books Miss Christie writes, I should say she's one of the richest women in England.

After the play Van and David took me to the Caprice for supper and we met Bea Lillie, who's arranging to open her play in London, provided she can get Eadie and Rack and Reginald Gardiner.

Avila's Bases Loaded Single Decides; Yanks Belt Athletics, 11-1

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians came from behind in the ninth inning tonight and beat the Detroit Tigers 4-3 on Bobby Avila's single with the bases loaded. The victory was the seventh in a row for the Tribe and the eighth triumph by pitcher Bob Lemon in the last four weeks.

The Indians thus maintained their margin of three full games over the second-place New York Yankees.

Dale Mitchell started the winning rally with a pinch single, and singles by pinch hitter Dave Philley and Lemon drove home the tying run. Al Smith was purposely walked to fill the bases. Then Avila slapped a single to right to bring Philley home with the deciding run.

Lemon's victory was his 17th against five losses. Virgil Trucks of Chicago is the only other American League pitcher to have won 17.

The Giants pulled two full games ahead of the second place Brooklyn Dodgers who lost 4-2 at Pittsburgh.

The Giants jumped on Curt Simmons for four runs in the first inning on a two-run triple by Mays and a two-run homer by Hofman and went on to break a three-game losing streak. The Giants had lost seven of their last eight starts.

Antonelli was in trouble only twice, in the fifth inning when Del Ennis and Willie Jones hit bases-empty home runs and in the ninth when doubles by Bobby Morgan and Del Ennis and a single by Ted Kazanski produced one more run.

Grid Rules Changes • • • Going To Vandalia

39 Fan In One Game • • • Mrs. Jacques Writes

By C. V. BURNS

SPECTATORS at high school football games this fall will miss one of the oldest standbys in the sport—the so-called "sleeper" play.

Maryland, like other states affiliated with the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, has outlawed the maneuver which, when it worked, frequently resulted in a long touchdown pass.

The new rule calls for each player on the offensive team to take a position momentarily before the ball is put in play "not more than 15 yards from the spot where the ball is to be snapped."

He then may move legally to a wider position on the field but the rule, as it is worded, eliminates all possibility of surprise — the factor which made the play work.

Among other rules changes which will be in force this year are:

1—An increase in the penalty for defensive holding from five yards to 15 yards. This eliminates the distinction between offensive and defensive holding or illegal use of the hands.

2—Provision for pacing off a foul for unsportsmanlike conduct at the beginning of the second half if the foul occurs on the last play of the first half.

Rules makers also took note of the controversy aroused by the feigning of injuries to stop the clock which occurred in some games last year.

This practice is "negligible" in high school play but arbiters are advised that if it occurs they should start the clock "as soon as it is obvious the player will not be removed."

MARTINSBURG High School's football program this year is described as follows by the Journal's sports writer:

"A dynamite-laden suicidal football schedule of 10 games has been released for the 1954 Martinsburg high school football team."

Beall, Morgantown, Waynesboro, Fort Hill, Charles Town, Hagerstown, Allegany, University High of Morgantown, Front Royal and Handley will be met by the Bulldogs.

AMONG the area trapshooters planning to participate in the Grand American Trapshooting events at Vandalia, Ohio, next week are Edgar McDonald, West Virginia champion from Headsville, Mineral county, who will vie with champions of the other 47 states in the Champion of Champions event on Tuesday; Tony Francis, trapshooting chairman of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club; Russ McElfish, of Bedford Road, and Charles Simpson and Charles "Lefty" Jordan, of Cumberland.

FRIDAY is being observed as "Cumberland Day" at the Hagerstown Fair Association's race meeting.

MONDAY'S exhibition game at Fenway Park in which the Red Sox beat the New York Giants, 6-5, drew the largest crowd at that American League park in 20 years.

Attendance was 37,710 fans. The game was staged for the Hospitalized Veterans Fund, a most worthy cause.

DON HANSEL, secretary of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, reports that there were 39 strikeouts recorded in the game of Saturday, August 7, in which Grantsville defeated Keyser Ridge by the score of 5-4 in 13 innings.

Bill Perry, negro ace from Piedmont, who went the route for Grantsville, fired the third strike past 21 ash wielders. Two Keyser Ridge pitchers fanned 18.

Bill See broke up the game in the 13th by hitting a home run.

THE WAR MEMORIAL Arena of Johnstown, Pa., showed an actual cash operating loss of $33,137.82 last year. The figure includes $6 672.14 for hockey.

FROM Mrs. Mary Brining Jacques, Smithsburg, Md., daughter of the late Charles Brining, owner and trainer of race horses, comes the following letter:

"My mother and I wish to thank you for sending us the picture of my father, C. E. Brining. It means so much since we had nothing else that was such a likeness.

"Your letter took me back to my childhood days. I can remember being taken to Cumberland as a very small child to see my uncle Everett's horses run. My father was then a farmer as he continued to be even after he acquired his first horse about 18 or 20 years ago.

"He gave up farming in the fall of 1941 to "follow the races" altogether. I suppose it will seem strange to some of the racegoers not to see Brining on the program. I know it will to me.

"I do want to thank you again for the picture. I have a 6-year-old son and it will mean so much to him later on."

MEN GOLFERS of the Cumberland Country Club are qualifying this week for the fall tournament—the 33rd since Dr. Karl P. Heintz won the first one in 1920.

Charles S. "Bill" Catherman, Jr., won the fall title seven times in the last 15 years. Martin D. Tenney, Jr., was a four-times winner and Dr. Heintz copped the crown three times.

THE PROPOSED new and higher football classification for larger West Virginia high schools has been tabled for another year's study by the State High School Athletic Association's Board of Appeals.

Present A and B classes will be retained for the 1954 grid season.

Under the proposed new setup schools would have been divided into Classes AA, A and B, according to enrollments.

One of the major difficulties was establishing the dividing line between Classes AA and A.

PITTSBURGH — Max Surkont, Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher, says Jim Greengrass of the Cincinnati Redlegs gives him just about as much trouble as any hitter in the National League.

The statistics bear Surkont out. In his first 11 trips to the plate against Surkont this season, Greengrass came through with five hits. Two of the safeties were homers.

One of Greengrass' circuit clouts came in the ninth inning of a game at Cincinnati, breaking a 3-3 tie to give the Redlegs the victory.

Wins Game In Eighth; Phillips Bags 15th

Manager Jimmy Allen's Potomac Valley Cubs, pennant winners, forged to the finals of the County Softball League playoffs by defeating Corriganville yesterday on the latter's field by the score of 7-5, in eight innings.

Corriganville lost the series opener last week by the score of 10-0 and yesterday's setback eliminated the team that finished the regular season in second place.

Potomac Valley earned the right to play the winner of the Central Quick Lunch-Stringtown series in the finals.

The Cubs put the game on ice in the 8th when Bill Thompson doubled and scored the winning run on Bill Ware's triple. "Speed" Hanna doubled home the "insurance" tally.

Corriganville nicked Hayden Phillips for 10 hits but the Cubs' ace turned back eleven via the strikeout route to notch his 15th win of the year.

Potomac Valley gathered 11 hits, including two doubles and a single by "Tippy" Cecil and a pair of two-base wallops by Pete Cecil. Johnny Price, Bill Thompson and "Red" Whitman obtained two hits each for the losers. The score:

St. Louis Stops Milwaukee, 4-1

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 17 (AP) — Rookie Joe Frazier smashed a three-run pinch homer off Jim (no-hit) Wilson, putting teeth into Brooks Lawrence's seven-hitter tonight, as the St. Louis Cardinals snapped Milwaukee's nine-game winning streak with a 4-1 triumph.

The loss, the Braves third in the last 23 games, cost them a full game in their chase of league-leading New York and dropped them 4½ games behind the Giants.

Frazier's homer, made batting for Alex Grammas in the seventh, chased Wilson and put an end to his personal string of eight straight wins. The 385-foot blast into the rightfield bleachers was Frazier's third of the year, all in pinchhit roles.

The result of yesterday's game tied the Eagles and O. D. C. for first place with 15-8 records.

Outdoor Club scored its three runs in the first inning on Cook's two-run single, the only blow yielded by Allan Sheetz, and an error. The Eagles scored two in the 6th and won the game in the two-run 7th when Jim Kienhofer singled over second base to score "Shorty" Brown.

Kienhofer and Sheetz had two hits each for the Eagles. Bill Dean featured in center with a brilliant catch of Penner's bid for an extra base wallop while Manager Cecil Grimes starred at short. The victory was Sheetz's 14th against four defeats.

Seventeen bases on balls were issued by three pitchers in the Elks' 11-6 triumph over the K. of C. at Allegany Field.

Loibel and Law, K. of C. pitchers, walked 11 while Bill Underdonk gave up six free tickets in scoring his 10th win of the campaign. Harden garnered four of the Knights' eleven hits, two triples and two singles. Underdonk smacked a triple, double and single in five trips for the Elks.

Morey And Knowles Upset In Amateur

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17 (AP) — A pair of publicity shy unknowns struck down two of America's top players—Dale Morey of Indianapolis and Bobby Knowles of South Hamilton, Mass.—in the second round of the Canadian Amateur golf championship today.

Garth Simonson, civil engineer from Stratford, Ont., stunned Morey, runnerup in last year's U. S. amateur, 4 and 2. John Veghte of Gloversville, N. Y., surprised Knowles, former Walker Cupper, 2 and 1.

Leading a solid corps of Americans into the third round were defending champion Don Cherry, Bill Campbell, Bruce Cudd, Charley Coe, Billy Goodloe and Hobart Manley.

Coe averted disaster with a back-nine rally and defeated Jack Hendrickson, from Philadelphia, on the 19th green.

Campbell, tall meticulous veteran from Huntington, W. Va., had it easy, whipping Grant Dearnaley of Montreal, 4 and 3. Campbell was one down after four holes but won the next five, two with birdie putts of 12 and 8 feet.

Lions Down Optimists In 2-1 Contest

Knippenburg's Double Wins Playoff Opener

Denny Knippenberg's double with the bases loaded in the last of the 7th inning gave the Lions Club a 2-1 decision over the Optimist Club last night at Penn Avenue Field in the opener of the semi-final playoff series between the Hot Stove League nines.

Matt Mullaney and Dave White hooked up in a scoreless pitching duel until the top of the seventh when Murray's home run gave the Optimists a 1-0 edge.

Then the Lions wound up with the necessary two runs in their half of the inning after Pinch Hitter Winebrenner struck out. Robinson rapped his second single of the game and raced to third on Miller's double. Root fanned and Mulligan walked, loading the bases. Then Knippenburg doubled over second to send over the tying and winning tallies.

Mullaney whiffed 14 Optimists and the only hits he yielded were Weaver's single in the second and Murray's four-bagger in the 7th. Robinson collected two of the Lions' five hits. White fanned 13 Lions and gave up four bases on balls.

The second game of the best-of-three series is set for Thursday at 6:15 at Penn Avenue Field. Score:

Indians Beat Tigers In 9th By Score 4-3

Avila's Bases Loaded Single Decides; Yanks Belt Athletics, 11-1

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians came from behind in the ninth inning tonight and beat the Detroit Tigers 4-3 on Bobby Avila's single with the bases loaded. The victory was the seventh in a row for the Tribe and the eighth triumph by pitcher Bob Lemon in the last four weeks.

The Indians thus maintained their margin of three full games over the second-place New York Yankees.

Dale Mitchell started the winning rally with a pinch single, and singles by pinch hitter Dave Philley and Lemon drove home the tying run. Al Smith was purposely walked to fill the bases. Then Avila slapped a single to right to bring Philley home with the deciding run.

Lemon's victory was his 17th against five losses. Virgil Trucks of Chicago is the only other American League pitcher to have won 17.

Antonelli was in trouble only twice, in the fifth inning when Del Ennis and Willie Jones hit bases-empty home runs and in the ninth when doubles by Bobby Morgan and Del Ennis and a single by Ted Kazanski produced one more run.

Grid Rules Changes ... Going To Vandalia

39 Fan In One Game ... Mrs. Jacques Writes

By C. V. BURNS

SPECTATORS at high school football games this fall will miss one of the oldest standbys in the sport—the so-called "sleeper" play.

Maryland, like other states affiliated with the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, has outlawed the maneuver which, when it worked, frequently resulted in a long touchdown pass.

The new rule calls for each player on the offensive team to take a position momentarily before the ball is put in play "not more than 15 yards from the spot where the ball is to be snapped."

He then may move legally to a wider position on the field but the rule, as it is worded, eliminates all possibility of surprise — the factor which made the play work.

Among other rules changes which will be in force this year are:

1—An increase in the penalty for defensive holding from five yards to 15 yards. This eliminates the distinction between offensive and defensive holding or illegal use of the hands.

2—Provision for pacing off a foul for unsportsmanlike conduct at the beginning of the second half if the foul occurs on the last play of the first half.

Rules makers also took note of the controversy aroused by the feigning of injuries to stop the clock which occurred in some games last year.

This practice is "negligible" in high school play but arbiters are advised that if it occurs they should start the clock "as soon as it is obvious the player will not be removed."

MARTINSBURG High School's football program this year is described as follows by the Journal's sports writer:

"A dynamite-laden suicidal football schedule of 10 games has been released for the 1954 Martinsburg high school football team."

Beall, Morgantown, Waynesboro, Fort Hill, Charles Town, Hagerstown, Allegany, University High of Morgantown, Front Royal and Handley will be met by the Bulldogs.

AMONG the area trapshooters planning to participate in the Grand American Trapshooting events at Vandalia, Ohio, next week are Edgar McDonald, West Virginia champion from Headsville, Mineral county, who will vie with champions of the other 47 states in the Champion of Champions event on Tuesday; Tony Francis, trapshooting chairman of the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club; Russ McElfish, of Bedford Road, and Charles Simpson and Charles "Lefty" Jordan, of Cumberland.

FRIDAY is being observed as "Cumberland Day" at the Hagerstown Fair Association's race meeting.

MONDAY'S exhibition game at Fenway Park in which the Red Sox beat the New York Giants, 6-5, drew the largest crowd at that American League park in 20 years.

Attendance was 37,710 fans. The game was staged for the Hospitalized Veterans Fund, a most worthy cause.

DON HANSEL, secretary of the Pen-Mar Baseball League, reports that there were 39 strikeouts recorded in the game of Saturday, August 7, in which Grantsville defeated Keyser Ridge by the score of 5-4 in 13 innings.

Bill Perry, negro ace from Piedmont, who went the route for Grantsville, fired the third strike past 21 ash wielders. Two Keyser Ridge pitchers fanned 18.

Bill See broke up the game in the 13th by hitting a home run.

THE WAR MEMORIAL Arena of Johnstown, Pa., showed an actual cash operating loss of $33,137.82 last year. The figure includes $6 672.14 for hockey.

FROM Mrs. Mary Brining Jacques, Smithsburg, Md., daughter of the late Charles Brining, owner and trainer of race horses, comes the following letter:

"My mother and I wish to thank you for sending us the picture of my father, C. E. Brining. It means so much since we had nothing else that was such a likeness.

"Your letter took me back to my childhood days. I can remember being taken to Cumberland as a very small child to see my uncle Everett's horses run. My father was then a farmer as he continued to be even after he acquired his first horse about 18 or 20 years ago.

"He gave up farming in the fall of 1941 to "follow the aces" altogether. I suppose it will seem strange to some of the racegoers not to see Brining on the program. I know it will to me.

"I do want to thank you again for the picture. I have a 6-year-old son and it will mean so much to him later on."

PETER (Press) Maravich, who served as assistant basketball coach at Davis and Elkins College under "Red" Brown and later was head coach at West Virginia Wesleyan, is the new cage mentor at Aliquippa, Pa. high school.

Maravich will receive a $1,000 coaching salary in addition to an undisclosed teaching salary.

"Press" is a native of Aliquippa.

MEN GOLFERS of the Cumberland Country Club are qualifying this week for the fall tournament—the 33rd since Dr. Karl P. Heintz won the first one in 1920.

Charles S. "Bil" Catherman, Jr., won the fall title seven times in the last 15 years. Martin D. Tenney, Jr., was a four-times winner and Dr. Heintz copped the crown three times.

THE PROPOSED new and higher football classification for larger West Virginia high schools has been tabled for another year's study by the State High School Athletic Association's Board of Appeals.

Present A and B classes will be retained for the 1954 grid season.

Under the proposed new setup schools would have been divided into Classes AA, A and B, according to enrollments.

One of the major difficulties was establishing the dividing line between Classes AA and A.

Wins Game In Eighth; Phillips Bags 15th

Manager Jimmy Allen's Potomac Valley Cubs, pennant winners, forged to the finals of the County Softball League playoffs by defeating Corriganville yesterday on the latter's field by the score of 7-5, in eight innings.

Corriganville lost the series opener last week by the score of 10-0 and yesterday's setback eliminated the team that finished the regular season in second place.

Potomac Valley earned the right to play the winner of the Central Quick Lunch-Stringtown series in the finals.

The Cubs put the game on ice in the 8th when Bill Thompson doubled and scored the winning run on Bill Ware's triple. "Speed" Hanna doubled home the "insurance" tally.

Corriganville nicked Hayden Phillips for 10 hits but the Cubs' ace turned back eleven via the strikeout route to notch his 15th win of the year.

Potomac Valley gathered 11 hits, including two doubles and a single by "Tippy" Cecil and a pair of two-base wallops by Pete Cecil. Johnny Price, Bill Thompson and "Red" Whitman obtained two hits each for the losers. The score:

St. Louis Stops Milwaukee, 4-1

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 17 (AP) — Rookie Joe Frazier smashed a three-run pinch homer off Jim (no-hit) Wilson, putting teeth into Brooks Lawrence's seven-hitter tonight, as the St. Louis Cardinals snapped Milwaukee's nine-game winning streak with a 4-1 triumph.

The loss, the Braves third in the last 23 games, cost them a full game in their chase of league-leading New York and dropped them 4½ games behind the Giants.

Frazier's homer, made batting for Alex Grammas in the seventh, chased Wilson and put an end to his personal string of eight straight wins. The 385-foot blast into the rightfield bleachers was Frazier's third of the year, all in pinchhit roles.

Rallying for four runs in the last two innings, the Fraternal Order of Eagles came from behind to defeat the Outdoor Club yesterday and deadlocked the Rocking Chair Softball League pennant race. The score was 4-3.

The result of yesterday's game tied the Eagles and O. D. C. for first place with 15-8 records.

Outdoor Club scored its three runs in the first inning on Cook's two-run single, the only blow yielded by Allan Sheetz, and an error. The Eagles scored two in the 6th and won the game in the two-run 7th when Jim Kienhofer singled over second base to score "Shorty" Brown.

Kienhofer and Sheetz had two hits each for the Eagles. Bill Dean featured in center with a brilliant catch of Penner's bid for an extra base wallop while Manager Cecil Grimes starred at short. The victory was Sheetz's 14th against four defeats.

Seventeen bases on balls were issued by three pitchers in the Elks' 11-6 triumph over the K. of C. at Allegany Field.

Loibel and Law, K. of C. pitchers, walked 11 while Bill Underdonk gave up six free tickets in scoring his 10th win of the campaign. Harden garnered four of the Knights' eleven hits, two triples and two singles. Underdonk smacked a triple, double and single in five trips for the Elks.

Campbell Wins Canada Match

Morey And Knowles Upset In Amateur

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17 (AP) — A pair of publicity shy unknowns struck down two of America's top players—Dale Morey of Indianapolis and Bobby Knowles of South Hamilton, Mass.—in the second round of the Canadian Amateur golf championship today.

Garth Simonson, civil engineer from Stratford, Ont., stunned Morey, runnerup in last year's U. S. amateur, 4 and 2. John Veghte of Gloversville, N. Y., surprised Knowles, former Walker Cupper, 2 and 1.

Leading a solid corps of Americans into the third round were defending champion Don Cherry, Bill Campbell, Bruce Cudd, Charley Coe, Billy Goodloe and Hobart Manley.

Coe averted disaster with a back-nine rally and defeated Jack Hendrickson, from Philadelphia, on the 19th green.

Campbell, tall meticulous veteran from Huntington, W. Va., had it easy, whipping Grant Dearnaley of Montreal, 4 and 3. Campbell was one down after four holes but won the next five, two with birdie putts of 12 and 8 feet.

Lions Down Optimists In 2-1 Contest

Knippenburg's Double Wins Playoff Opener

Denny Knippenberg's double with the bases loaded in the last of the 7th inning gave the Lions Club a 2-1 decision over the Optimist Club last night at Penn Avenue Field in the opener of the semi-final playoff series between the Hot Stove League nines.

Matt Mullaney and Dave White hooked up in a scoreless pitching duel until the top of the seventh when Murray's home run gave the Optimists a 1-0 edge.

Then the Lions wound up with the necessary two runs in their half of the inning after Pinch Hitter Winebrenner struck out. Robinson rapped his second single of the game and raced to third on Miller's double. Root fanned and Mulligan walked, loading the bases. Then Knippenburg doubled over second to send over the tying and winning tallies.

Mullaney whiffed 14 Optimists and the only hits he yielded were Weaver's single in the second and Murray's four-bagger in the 7th. Robinson collected two of the Lions' five hits. White fanned 13 Lions and gave up four bases on balls.

The second game of the best-of-three series is set for Thursday at 6:15 at Penn Avenue Field.

Haney Declares Pirates Relax And Win Games

Team Is Getting Good Pitching And Hitting

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17 (AP)—Fred Haney says his Pittsburgh Pirates now know how to relax and "that's why we're winning ball games."

The red-hot Pirates, cellar dwellers of the National League, boast eight victories in the last 10 games and 12 in 17—the best mark of any Pittsburgh club since 1949.

"We've just reached the right mental point," commented Haney today. "But it's nothing new. We had it in spring training but lost it once the season started.

"Youngsters like Jerry Lynch and Bob Skinner murdered the ball in spring training. Jack Shepard, Dick Hall and Gair Allie also looked good.

"What happened? It's the same old story. Stage fright. But the kids are finally learning to relax. I thought in spring training we had the most improved club of any in the league.

"And we're a lot better club than some give us credit. How many games did we get good pitching and no hitting, or good hitting and no pitching?

"Now we're getting both. The combination of the two will win ball games for any club and that's why we're winning. I hope it continues."

Simmons Is Baseball Coach Of The Year

Chicago Cubs Beat Redlegs In Twin Bill

Pollet And Minner Score 5-0, 6-1 Wins

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Catcher Clyde McCullough hit his first grand slam homer in his 14-year major league career to spark the Chicago Cubs to a 6-1 victory over Cincinnati in the second game of a doubleheader today. Veteran Howie Pollet blanked the Redlegs on five hits to win the opener, 5-0.

The opening win snapped a 10-game Cub losing streak. The doubleheader victory was their third of 20 played this season and came after a string of 17 Chicago losses in 21 road games.

McCullough's homer, off loser Bud Podbielan, was his second of the season—first since opening day at St. Louis. Paul Minner, posting his 10th triumph to become the Cubs' winningest pitcher, stopped the Redlegs on six hits, four by Bobby Adams.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (INS) — Thinking about it, it seems remarkable that in such a comparatively short time Negro baseball players have made themselves established stars of a sport which once banned them on the basis of an unwritten law.

It seems only yesterday that Branch Rickey, then running the Dodgers, introduced Jackie Robinson into the majors with the Dodgers.

Since then more than a score have come up and made good and many more are now in the minors waiting for a shot at the big time.

Not long ago the Dodgers had five Negroes playing in a game. There were Jackie Robinson, still going strong, Sandy Amoros, Junior Gilliam, Don Newcombe and Roy Campanella, all of them regulars, not bench warmers.

And two other Negroes, Willie Mays of the Giants and Larry Doby of the Indians, are leading their respective leagues in home runs and Doby also tops the American League in runs batted in.

Still another, Minnie Minoso of the White Sox, is second only to Irv Noren of the Yanks, in hitting in the American.

You could pick your outfield from Doby, Al Smith and Dave Pope all of the Indians, Monte Irvin and Willie Mays of the Giants, Minoso of the White Sox and Bill Bruton (leading base stealer of the majors) and Hank Aaron, both of the Braves.

Since Luke Easter is back in the minors, you'd have to put Jackie Robinson on first, a position he has played for the Dodgers, and for the rest of your infield you would have a choice of Junior Gilliam of the Dodgers, Ernie Banks and Gene Baker of the Cubs, Curt Roberts of the Pirates, Chuck Harmon of the Reds and Hank Thompson of the Giants.

Don Newcombe of the Dodgers and Brooks Lawrence of the Cardinals could be on that mound and back of the plate Roy Campanella, generally rated the best catcher in the league, who last year won the most valuable player award.

Just as the fame of Joe Louis started thousands of young Negroes toward ring careers, so, too, have these ball players paved the way for thousands of their race to take to the game.

San Juan, capital of Puerto Rico, is the oldest city in the new world under the Stars and Stripes. It was established in 1510.

Haney Declares Pirates Relax And Win Games

Team Is Getting Good Pitching And Hitting

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17 (AP)—Fred Haney says his Pittsburgh Pirates now know how to relax and "that's why we're winning ball games."

The red-hot Pirates, cellar dwellers of the National League, boast eight victories in the last 10 games and 12 in 17—the best mark of any Pittsburgh club since 1949.

"We've just reached the right mental point," commented Haney today. "But it's nothing new. We had it in spring training but lost it once the season started.

"Youngsters like Jerry Lynch and Bob Skinner murdered the ball in spring training. Jack Shepard, Dick Hall and Gair Allie also looked good.

"What happened? It's the same old story. Stage fright. But the kids are finally learning to relax. I thought in spring training we had the most improved club of any in the league.

"And we're a lot better club than some give us credit. How many games did we get good pitching and no hitting, or good hitting and no pitching?

"Now we're getting both. The combination of the two will win ball games for any club and that's why we're winning. I hope it continues."

Simmons Is Baseball Coach Of The Year

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP) — John (Hi) Simmons, baseball coach at the University of Missouri, was named "Coach of the Year" today by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Under Simmons tutelage, Missouri captured the national collegiate championship in the college world series at Omaha this summer. In 1952 Missouri finished in the runner-up position losing to Holy Cross.

Chicago Cubs Beat Redlegs In Twin Bill

Pollet And Minner Score 5-0, 6-1 Wins

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—Catcher Clyde McCullough hit his first grand slam homer in his 14-year major league career to spark the Chicago Cubs to a 6-1 victory over Cincinnati in the second game of a doubleheader today. Veteran Howie Pollet blanked the Redlegs on five hits to win the opener, 5-0.

The opening win snapped a 10-game Cub losing streak. The doubleheader victory was their third of 20 played this season and came after a string of 17 Chicago losses in 21 road games.

McCullough's homer, off loser Bud Podbielan, was his second of the season—first since opening day at St. Louis. Paul Minner, posting his 10th triumph to become the Cubs' winningest pitcher, stopped the Redlegs on six hits, four by Bobby Adams.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (INS) — Thinking about it, it seems remarkable that in such a comparatively short time Negro baseball players have made themselves established stars of a sport which once banned them on the basis of an unwritten law.

It seems only yesterday that Branch Rickey, then running the Dodgers, introduced Jackie Robinson into the majors with the Dodgers.

Since then more than a score have come up and made good and many more are now in the minors waiting for a shot at the big time.

Not long ago the Dodgers had five Negroes playing in a game. There were Jackie Robinson, still going strong, Sandy Amoros, Junior Gilliam, Don Newcombe and Roy Campanella, all of them regulars, not bench warmers.

And two other Negroes, Willie Mays of the Giants and Larry Doby of the Indians, are leading their respective leagues in home runs and Doby also tops the American League in runs batted in.

Still another, Minnie Minoso of the White Sox, is second only to Irv Noren of the Yanks, in hitting in the American.

You could pick a very formidable team from Negro regulars now playing in the majors.

You could pick your outfield from Doby, Al Smith and Dave Pope all of the Indians, Monte Irvin and Willie Mays of the Giants, Minoso of the White Sox and Bill Bruton (leading base stealer of the majors) and Hank Aaron, both of the Braves.

Since Luke Easter is back in the minors, you'd have to put Jackie Robinson on first, a position he has played for the Dodgers, and for the rest of your infield you would have a choice of Junior Gilliam of the Dodgers, Ernie Banks and Gene Baker of the Cubs, Curt Roberts of the Pirates, Chuck Harmon of the Reds and Hank Thompson of the Giants.

Don Newcombe of the Dodgers and Brooks Lawrence of the Cardinals could be on that mound and back of the plate Roy Campanella, generally rated the best catcher in the league, who last year won the most valuable player award.

Just as the fame of Joe Louis started thousands of young Negroes toward ring careers, so, too, have these ball players paved the way for thousands of their race to take to the game.

San Juan, capital of Puerto Rico, is the oldest city in the new world under the Stars and Stripes. It was established in 1510.

Radio And Television

The New Jerry Lester

Jerry Lester, a pioneer at the art of keeping people up later than they ought to be, is back at the same old line of work after a fairly lengthy interval of starvation. You graybeards in the audience will recall that Lester once had a late at night television show on NBC some eons ago which was distinguished, among other things, by the presence of Dagmar, a blonde dish who is statuesque in all directions.

Then temperament reared, as it will in show business, and the Lester show disappeared. And so did Lester. Somewhere in the last couple years, though, humility set in and Lester, chastened though hardly subdued, is back on the late evening air where he flourishes like an owl. (Or at least he was back. The Lester show went off for a six weeks vacation but it'll return, it'll return).

This Lester show is pretty much like the other one—in short, shapeless and characterized by an extraordinary degree of informality. Lester is a graduate of the Catskills where comedians get terribly expert at making it all up as they go along. Naturally, Lester needs help from other people and he has assembled a group which is almost as adept as he is at keeping things rolling with the minimum of preparation.

Included among the helpmates are Bobby Sherwood, singer, trumpet player, and thespian of sorts; Nancy Walker, who has an interesting face, can sing and is fairly hep at comedy; and Betty George, who has an interesting body and a flair for making some of the dumbest remarks you ever heard.

Miss George, in other words, is the equivalent of Dagmar — a beauty on a massive scale which seems to be a Lester specialty. On one show, she happened to express a wishful desire to acquire a husband and since then Lester has been trying to marry her off right on the show. Some of the badinage that accompanies this bit is pretty hilarious. For instance, when Miss Walker was asked by Mr. Lester to endorse the bird-brain Miss George's character (in case any prospective husband was interested in that aspect of her), she replied: "She has two very nice traits"—which may be the dimest compliment of all time.

"She's murder with a mop," added Miss Walker thoughtfully. "I give that to you for what it's worth."

Most of the dialogue on the show has this slap-happy, colloquial quality which no writer could conceivably invent. Miss George, for instance, has a way with words, a sort of lower case elegance that I find very refreshing. "People will think I'm sick or something—I can't find a husband." And on another show: "I was washing my—uh—things. You know—my girdle."

When not engaged in trying to marry off Miss George, Lester and his sidekicks—Mr. Sherwood, Miss George and Miss Walker—engage in sketches which have a decidedly extemporaneous air about them. During these affairs, the actors frequently fracture each other, if not always the audience. Sherwood, who has played stooge to just about everyone from Milton Berle to Bert Parks, is very, very good at this sort of thing, just about the best in the business right now.

Lester is a hyper-tense type of comic, very quick with an insult, and with a storehouse of jokes collected in the Catskill which ought to keep him going roughly forever. The Lester show is an hour-long (11:10 p. m. to 12:10 a. m., EDT. ABC-TV) five times a week and Lester is out in front of the camera roughly 45 minutes of each hour, and seems to thrive on it.

For that hour of the evening you can't find anything much better.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

THE QUESTION BOX!

Q. WHY DO PEOPLE IN CUMBERLAND HAVE TROUBLE GETTING TV STATIONS BY ANTENNA?

A. Due to the nearby mountains and comparatively long distance from TV stations, the residents of Cumberland, by individual antenna, will always have trouble getting the reception and programs they want, regardless of the amount of money they want to spend, and Cable TV is smoother, easier on the eyes, more interesting and enjoyable than receiving TV by direct antenna. In fact, many of our subscribers returning from vacation tell us that after seeing TV in many of the big cities that they now appreciate Cumberland's Cable TV more than ever.

JEOPARDIZING AN HONOR

A GOOD deal of the time, if you lead a suit which contains an honor or honors not in sequence, you take some kind of risk that you may be jeopardizing your trick-taking ability in the suit. The higher the honor from which you lead, the greater is the chance that your choice may cost a trick. Conversely, the lower the honor, the less the chance that it will prove costly.

	♠ J 10 5 ♥ K 7 3 2 ♦ 3 2 ♣ A J 8 3
♠ Q 8 3 ♥ Q 8 6 4 ♦ A J 7 ♣ 10 7 5	N W E S	♠ A 7 4 2 ♥ 10 9 5 ♦ 9 6 5 ♣ K Q 6
	♠ K 9 6 ♥ A J ♦ K Q 10 8 4 ♣ 9 4 2

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 ♦

This deal was played by some Norths at 1-No Trump, the contract usually being made right on the head. There were more 2-Diamond contracts by South in the tournament, and it was edifying to note the difference caused by West's choice of opening lead.

Notice that in each suit the opener had some kind of honor or honors not in sequence. Let's look first at the strongest honored suit, diamonds. It is obvious that a lead of any card in that holding will reduce West's trick-taking from two tricks to one. Next examine the two majors, in each of which the leader has a guarded Q. The lead of a heart, any heart, is sure to give South three trick-takers, whereas he will have only two if he has to lead the suit himself. Indeed, a lead of the heart 4 at one table enabled South to score with the J, A and later the K to discard a club, thus limiting himself to dropping only one trick in clubs plus two each in diamonds and spades to make the contract.

It happens that a spade lead will not prove costly, unless it is the Q, and if East puts the A on a low card lead and returns the suit toward the Q, as the defense will get two tricks in the suit.

The safest and least risky lead, however, is a club. Where that suit was opened, the contract was set in every case. The declarer lost two each in clubs, diamonds and spades. The club is the soundest lead here for a fine player, since the 10 is so low it is unlikely to be a winner anyway, whereas either major Q has a good chance for a trick if not impaired by leading the suit.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ K Q 6 ♥ 10 6 ♦ Q 8 7 4 2 ♣ A J 4
♠ 8 4 ♥ 9 5 2 ♦ J 9 6 3 ♣ K 10 9 5	N W E S	♠ J 7 3 ♥ K Q J 8 4 ♦ A K ♣ Q 7 2
	♠ A 10 9 5 2 ♥ A 7 3 ♦ 10 5 ♣ 8 6 3

(Dealer: West. Vulnerability not reported.)

If South gets into 4-Spades on this rubber deal, after East overcalled and then rebid hearts, what play would you expect?

The New Jerry Lester

Jerry Lester, a pioneer at the art of keeping people up later than they ought to be, is back at the same old line of work after a fairly lengthy interval of starvation. You graybeards in the audience will recall that Lester once had a late at night television show on NBC some eons ago which was distinguished, among other things, by the presence of Dagmar, a blonde dish who is statuesque in all directions.

Then temperament reared, as it will in show business, and the Lester show disappeared. And so did Lester. Somewhere in the last couple years, though, humility set in and Lester, chastened though hardly subdued, is back on the late evening air where he flourishes like an owl. (Or at least he was back. The Lester show went off for a six weeks vacation but it'll return, it'll return).

This Lester show is pretty much like the other one—in short, shapeless and characterized by an extraordinary degree of informality. Lester is a graduate of the Catskills where comedians get terribly expert at making it all up as they go along. Naturally, Lester needs help from other people and he has assembled a group which is almost as adept as he is at keeping things rolling with the minimum of preparation.

Included among the helpmates are Bobby Sherwood, singer, trumpet player, and thespian of sorts; Nancy Walker, who has an interesting face, can sing and is fairly hep at comedy; and Betty George, who has an interesting body and a flair for making some of the dumbest remarks you ever heard.

Miss George, in other words, is the equivalent of Dagmar — a beauty on a massive scale which seems to be a Lester specialty. On one show, she happened to express a wishful desire to acquire a husband and since then Lester has been trying to marry her off right on the show. Some of the badinage that accompanies this bit is pretty hilarious. For instance, when Miss Walker was asked by Mr. Lester to endorse the bird-brain Miss George's character (in case any prospective husband was interested in that aspect of her), she replied: "She has two very nice traits"—which may be the dimest compliment of all time.

"She's murder with a mop," added Miss Walker thoughtfully. "I give that to you for what it's worth."

Most of the dialogue on the show has this slap-happy, colloquial quality which no writer could conceivably invent. Miss George, for instance, has a way with words, a sort of lower case elegance that I find very refreshing. "People will think I'm sick or something—I can't find a husband." And on another show: "I was washing my—uh—things. You know—my girdle."

When not engaged in trying to marry off Miss George, Lester and his sidekicks—Mr. Sherwood, Miss George and Miss Walker—engage in sketches which have a decidedly extemporaneous air about them. During these affairs, the actors frequently fracture each other, if not always the audience. Sherwood, who has played stooge to just about everyone from Milton Berle to Bert Parks, is very, very good at this sort of thing, just about the best in the business right now.

Lester is a hyper-tense type of comic, very quick with an insult, and with a storehouse of jokes collected in the Catskill which ought to keep him going roughly forever. The Lester show is an hour-long (11:10 p. m. to 12:10 a. m., EDT. ABC-TV) five times a week and Lester is out in front of the camera roughly 45 minutes of each hour, and seems to thrive on it.

For that hour of the evening you can't find anything much better.

Daily Bridge Lesson

JEOPARDIZING AN HONOR

A GOOD deal of the time, if you lead a suit which contains an honor or honors not in sequence, you take some kind of risk that you may be jeopardizing your trick-taking ability in the suit. The higher the honor from which you lead, the greater is the chance that your choice may cost a trick. Conversely, the lower the honor, the less the chance that it will prove costly.

	♠ J 10 5 ♥ K 7 3 2 ♦ 3 2 ♣ A J 8 3
♠ Q 8 3 ♥ Q 8 6 4 ♦ A J 7 ♣ 10 7 5	N W E S	♠ A 7 4 2 ♥ 10 9 5 ♦ 9 6 5 ♣ K Q 6
	♠ K 9 6 ♥ A J ♦ K Q 10 8 4 ♣ 9 4 2

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 ♦

This deal was played by some Norths at 1-No Trump, the contract usually being made right on the head. There were more 2-Diamond contracts by South in the tournament, and it was edifying to note the difference caused by West's choice of opening lead.

Notice that in each suit the opener had some kind of honor or honors not in sequence. Let's look first at the strongest honored suit, diamonds. It is obvious that a lead of any card in that holding will reduce West's trick-taking from two tricks to one. Next examine the two majors, in each of which the leader has a guarded Q. The lead of a heart, any heart, is sure to give South three trick-takers, whereas he will have only two if he has to lead the suit himself. Indeed, a lead of the heart 4 at one table enabled South to score with the J, A and later the K to discard a club, thus limiting himself to dropping only one trick in clubs plus two each in diamonds and spades to make the contract.

It happens that a spade lead will not prove costly, unless it is the Q, and if East puts the A on a low card lead and returns the suit toward the Q, as the defense will get two tricks in the suit.

The safest and least risky lead, however, is a club. Where that suit was opened, the contract was set in every case. The declarer lost two each in clubs, diamonds and spades. The club is the soundest lead here for a fine player, since the 10 is so low it is unlikely to be a winner anyway, whereas either major Q has a good chance for a trick if not impaired by leading the suit.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ K Q 6 ♥ 10 6 ♦ Q 8 7 4 2 ♣ A J 4
♠ 8 4 ♥ 9 5 2 ♦ J 9 6 3 ♣ K 10 9 5	N W E S	♠ J 7 3 ♥ K Q J 8 4 ♦ A K ♣ Q 7 2
	♠ A 10 9 5 2 ♥ A 7 3 ♦ 10 5 ♣ 8 6 3

(Dealer: West. Vulnerability not reported.)

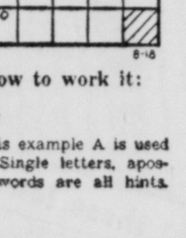

If South gets into 4-Spades on this rubber deal, after East overcalled and then rebid hearts, what play would you expect?

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

THE QUESTION BOX!

Q. WHY DO PEOPLE IN CUMBERLAND HAVE TROUBLE GETTING TV STATIONS BY ANTENNA?

A. Due to the nearby mountains and comparatively long distance from TV stations, the residents of Cumberland, by individual antenna, will always have trouble getting the reception and programs they want, regardless of the amount of money they want to spend, and Cable TV is smoother, easier on the eyes, more interesting and enjoyable than receiving TV by direct antenna. In fact, many of our subscribers returning from vacation tell us that after seeing TV in many of the big cities that they now appreciate Cumberland's Cable TV more than ever.

In Memoriam

A tribute of love in memory of our dear husband and father, Victor A. May, who passed away eighteen years ago, August 18, 1936.

Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green,
And never fade away.

His devoted wife, EDNA MAY and daughter, KATHLEEN.

In Memoriam

A tribute of love in memory of our dear husband and father, Victor A. May, who passed away eighteen years ago, August 18, 1936.

Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green,
And never fade away.

His devoted wife, EDNA MAY
and daughter, KATHLEEN.

Stock Market Ends Lower, Reversing Upward Trend

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP) — The Stock Market ended lower today, reversing an upward trend in the final hour.

Oils and motors, which sustained the upward movement through most of the session, ended firm. But railroads, utilities and motion pictures departed from the plus column during the late selloff. And radio-television and mining issues became irregular. Mail order houses and airlines were generally higher.

The early upsurge followed by a market reversal generated a lusty 2,900,000 share volume, up from yesterday's 2,760,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 50 cents from its 25-year peak to $134.20. The industrial component was off 80 cents, railroads 50 cents and utilities slipped 20 cents.

Packard Motors and Studebaker sparked the motors upward after stockholders of both companies approved merger terms. Packard was the most active issue, ending unchanged at 2¾ on 81,600 shares. Studebaker was fourth most active, closing up ⅝ at 19⅜ on 35,500 shares.

Other key quotations included: Bethlehem Steel 77 off 1¼, Youngstown Sheet 59⅜ off 1½, Chrysler 59½ up ⅝, Goodrich 102¼ up 1½, Montgomery Ward 70¼ up 2¼, Douglas Aircraft 84½ off 2, Radio Corp. 33⅝ off ⅜, American Telephone 173¼ up ⅛, Allied Chemical 95½ off 1¾, Hilton Hotels 32 up 3½, Santa Fe 115 off ⅝, Standard Oil (NJ) 96⅜ up 1⅛ and Sinclair Oil 44¼ up ⅜.

Position Of Treasury

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (AP)—The cash position of the Treasury Aug. 12:

Balance $5,650,813,721.75, deposits fiscal year July 1 $5,049,429,906.54, withdrawals fiscal year $9,491,455,474.15, total debt X$274,666,663,786.72, gold assets $21,858,326,380.71.

X-Includes $536,283,336.47 debt not subject to statutory limit.

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, 1950 Edition, notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, did, in regular session on Monday, July 26, 1954, approve the Report of Commissioners on the closing of Creek Street or Creek Lane from its intersection with the westerly side of Market Street through the property of the Queen City Brewing Company to its terminus. Said Commissioners were appointed by virtue of Ordinance No. 1984 for the purpose of assessing any damages or benefits incurred by or accruing to any owners of property affected by the closing of said Creek Street or Creek Lane. After meeting on the premises and hearing those persons who would be affected by the closing of said Creek Street or Creek Lane, the commissioners present the following:

"It is the unanimous opinion of the undersigned, that as a result of the closing of Creek Street or Creek Lane from its intersection with the westerly side of Market Street through the property of the Queen City Brewing Company to its westerly terminus, that no damages have been sustained and no benefits have accrued, not already enjoyed, by the abutting property owner, which is the aforesaid Queen City Brewing Company. Accordingly, our decision is that no benefits are to be levied and no damages should be assessed.

We further direct that the Queen City Brewing Company should pay all costs attendant to the closing of said Creek Lane or Creek Street, which proceedings were instituted at the request of said corporation."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after July 26, 1954, by filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

Stock Market Ends Lower, Reversing Upward Trend

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP) — The Stock Market ended lower today, reversing an upward trend in the final hour.

Oils and motors, which sustained the upward movement through most of the session, ended firm. But railroads, utilities and motion pictures departed from the plus column during the late selloff. And radio-television and mining issues became irregular. Mail order houses and airlines were generally higher.

The early upsurge followed by a market reversal generated a lusty 2,900,000 share volume, up from yesterday's 2,760,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 50 cents from its 25-year peak to $134.20. The industrial component was off 80 cents, railroads 50 cents and utilities slipped 20 cents.

Packard Motors and Studebaker sparked the motors upward after stockholders of both companies approved merger terms. Packard was the most active issue, ending unchanged at 2¾ on 81,600 shares. Studebaker was fourth most active, closing up ⅝ at 19⅜ on 35,500 shares.

Other key quotations included: Bethlehem Steel 77 off 1¼, Youngstown Sheet 59⅜ off 1½, Chrysler 59½ up ⅝, Goodrich 102¼ up 1½, Montgomery Ward 70¼ up 2¼, Douglas Aircraft 84½ off 2, Radio Corp. 33⅜ off ⅜, American Telephone 173¼ up ⅛, Allied Chemical 95½ off 1¾, Hilton Hotels 32 up 3½, Santa Fe 115 off ⅝, Standard Oil (NJ) 96⅜ up 1⅛ and Sinclair Oil 44¼ up ⅜.

NOTICE

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 127 of the Charter of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, 1950 Edition, notice is hereby given that the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, did, in regular session on Monday, July 26, 1954, approve the Report of Commissioners on the closing of Creek Street or Creek Lane from its intersection with the westerly side of Market Street through the property of the Queen City Brewing Company to its terminus. Said Commissioners were appointed by virtue of Ordinance No. 1984 for the purpose of assessing any damages or benefits incurred by or accruing to any owners of property affected by the closing of said Creek Street or Creek Lane. After meeting on the premises and hearing those persons who would be affected by the closing of said Creek Street or Creek Lane, the commissioners present the following:

"It is the unanimous opinion of the undersigned, that as a result of the closing of Creek Street or Creek Lane from its intersection with the westerly side of Market Street through the property of the Queen City Brewing Company to its westerly terminus, that no damages have been sustained and no benefits have accrued, not already enjoyed, by the abutting property owner, which is the aforesaid Queen City Brewing Company. Accordingly, our decision is that no benefits are to be levied and no damages should be assessed.

We further direct that the Queen City Brewing Company should pay all costs attendant to the closing of said Creek Lane or Creek Street, which proceedings were instituted at the request of said corporation."

Any person, persons, firm or corporation feeling aggrieved by the decision of the commissioners may appeal therefrom within thirty (30) days after July 26, 1954, by filing written notice of such appeal with the City Clerk of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, who will transmit same to the Circuit Court for Allegany County to be docketed for jury trial.

City Officials Will Tackle Budget Problem

Mayor To Schedule Special Conference

Mayor Roy W. Eves announced yesterday that the Mayor and Council plans to set the 1954-55 levy on Monday.

He said a special meeting will be held by the Mayor and Council late this week to prepare the budget for the current fiscal year.

Each commissioner, the mayor said, is cooperating in a plan to provide the essential services in departments under his jursidiction at the least possible cost to the taxpayers.

The process, informed sources said, involves trimming expenditures down to meet expected income.

Only two budget requests have been announced, and both call for increased expenditures.

The Recreation Department has asked $45,000, an increase of $5,000 to allow matching funds for work done by playground associations and other capital improvements which cannot be done through the $150,000 recreation bond issue sold this year.

Pension Costs Up

The Cumberland Free Public Library has requested an appropriation of $27,000, up $5,000 from its 1953-54 allotment from the city.

The Health Department, which received $37,000 last year, is understood to have requested about the same as last year.

The city must set aside about $68,500 this year as its contribution for pensions to employes covered by the State Retirement System. The sum will be about $3,000 more than last year. No change is expected in the city's contribution to the Police Pension Fund.

The Smoke Abatement Department has submitted its budget request for operations during the coming year.

Want More Money

One informed source commented that all requests are not in but that a study of requests submitted so far show that "all want more money."

There will be more money to start the budget than was available last year.

When last year's Mayor and Council sat down to set the budget, they had a nest egg of $66,000 on hand—the surplus from the 1952-53 fiscal year.

Left over on June 30, from an all-time high 1953-54 budget which totaled $1,400,000 was $143,631.80.

This sum includes $15,000 set aside last year for the new South End fire truck which is expected to be delivered within a few days, and a $16,000 carryover from 1953 truck licenses.

Pouring Double-Decker For Parking

Livestock Show At Coming Fair Will Be Varied

Over 200 Head Of Cattle Entered

About 215 head of dairy and beef cattle will be exhibited at the 37th annual Cumberland Fair starting Monday at Fairgo, according to County Agent Joseph M. Steger, who is superintendent of the fair's livestock department.

Two breeders will show Guernsey dairy cattle, a breed that was not exhibited here last year. Fred C. Downey of Williawsport will have 16 head of Guernseys and R. A. McCauley of Hagerstown will show 20 here. They will be judged starting at 9 a. m. Tuesday by Herbert Snyder of Union Bridge in Carroll County.

About 48 head of Jerseys will be judged by J. R. Schabinger, dairy specialist at the University of Maryland, starting at 9 a. m. Tuesday. The exhibitors will include S. Braden King, Boonsboro, 25 head; George Stiles, also Boonsboro, 20 head, and Albert O'Brien, Manns Choice, Pa., three head.

Ayrshire exhibitors at the Cumberland Fair will include Robert Shank of Hagerstown, 14 head; W. I. Shank and Sons, also Hagerstown, 18 head, and S. A. Diehl, Bedford, Pa., 15 head. Walter Hahn of Frederick will begin judging them at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Holstein cattle will be brought to the Fair here by C. Renn Remsburg of Middletown, 17 head; Bernard and A. Doty Remsburg of Jefferson, 16 head, and Harry O. Harbaugh of Hagerstown, 15 head. Schabinger will judge them too, starting at 1 p. m. Tuesday.

Three beef cattle breeders also will show their stock at the Fair. Angus cattle will be exhibited by W. G. Merrells of Burlington, W. Va., 15 head, and Clyde C. Bonar, also of Burlington, 10 head. Boyd Whittle, livestock specialist at the University of Maryland, will judge them Tuesday at 1 p. m.

Albert O'Brien of Manns Choice, Pa., will have 10 head of Herefords here but they will be without competition.

George Lechlider of Gaithersburg will show several pens of Duroc hogs and Jack Shober of Berlin, Pa., will exhibit Shropshire and Hampshire sheep.

Roeder Builds City's First Double-Deck Parking Area

An extensive improvement is being made on the North George Street Blue White Tower parking lot operated by C. Paul Roeder and his wife, Sylvia M. Roeder.

Roeder opened the parking lot May 15, 1952 and has steadily improved and expanded his parking facilities. The newest development is a concrete second deck over the entire forward portion of the area.

Yesterday, John S. Cook and Sons, local contractors, completed the task of pouring 90 cubic yards of ready-mixed concrete for the second story deck. Cook said it was the largest single-day pour he has attempted for sometime, and the first open-air, double-deck parking area in this section.

Patterned after five and six-story parking structures in Pittsburgh and other large cities, the deck is so designed and constructed that additional decks can be added, or the new one extended to cover the entire parking lot.

About 100 cars can be accommodated on the lower level, and about 35 on the new upper deck, Roeder said. The top deck, poured yesterday, measures about 6,000 square feet, over an area about 105 by 60 feet.

A metal railing is to be added all around the outside edges and after the normal 28 days drying time for this type of concrete, forms can be removed and the upper deck placed in operation. Parking continues as usual, however, on the lower level.

Both the lower and upper levels can be approached from George Street, due to the natural rise in the street grade at this point. A sandwich shop which fronts the area will be reopened next Spring, Roeder said. It has been closed during construction.

To the additional parking facilities, Roeder is providing for the downtown area, he has started to work on remodeling an old concrete block structure on one side of the parking lot. This building, a two-story affair, was once used as a garage and storage structure. Roeder is adding storage space and car washing facilities on the lower level and is remodeling the upper portion into three modern motel rooms.

He stated that numerous traveling men have suggested that the motel rooms would be popular because visitors, such as traveling salesmen, could park their cars, which carry their samples, immediately adjacent to their living quarters.

Roeder said he liked the proposal, and since the structure was already on the lot, decided to utilize it. The three bedrooms being completed measure about 10 by 16 feet, and each will be equipped with a shower, heat and other conveniences.

Roeder and his wife live at 813 Ashland Avenue. He has been a member of the Cumberland Zoning Board for about eight years and for several years past has been chairman of the board.

When his project is fully completed, he expects to employ about six more persons, however, this will not be possible until about next spring.

Tucker Tornado Picks Pocket Of Farmer

The tornado which practically destroyed the house, barn and two outbuildings on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Moore in Tucker County Monday night also proved a pickpocket.

Moore's nephew, Okie, reported that before the storm struck he had placed two $10 bills and four $1 bills and a clean handkerchief in the pocket of a pair of trousers he had hanging in his bedroom.

The pants were blown away with most of the other clothing in the family's possession. When Okie went out yesterday morning looking for his possessions along the path the tornado had followed he came upon his trousers in a tree on the Boyd Miller farm.

He looked in the pocket and found the four $1 bills but the two $10 bills and the handkerchief were gone, obviously whipped out by the wind. (See Other Story On Page 14)

Planning Group Displays Map On Traffic Plan

A map showing the first phase of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission's plan for traffic congestion elimination in downtown Cumberland is on display in the C & A Gas Company's window.

(A note on the map explains the display was made at the request of the Planning Commission and is not sponsored by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company).

Included in the program are plans for the extension of Canal Street to connect with the proposed Industrial Highway route to Oldtown Road, an underpass at Williams Street and the extension of North George Street.

G. D. Campbell, Area Druggist, Dies In Hospital

Operated Pharmacy In Lonaconing

George Dowery Campbell Sr., 74, well-known pharmacist of this area and president of the Campbell Coal Company of Piedmont, died last night at Memorial Hospital.

He resided at 80 East Main Street in Lonaconing, and had operated a drug store in that community for over 50 years. Dr. Campbell was still active as a pharmacist up until the time of his illness.

A native of Barton, he was a son of the late James and Mary Campbell of that community. He graduated from the University of Maryland School of Pharmacy in 1900.

Active in Masonic circles he was a member of the Lonaconing Lodge for the past 50 years and was also a member of the 32d Degree Masons.

Surviving are four children, Col. George D. Campbell Jr., Biloxi, Miss.; James F. Campbell, San Juan, Puerto Rico; Mrs. H. M. Hodgson, San Francisco; and Mrs. Richard M. Johnson, LaVale.

Also surviving are three brothers, Joseph Campbell, Akron, Ohio; Dr. William D. Campbell, Hagerstown; James Campbell, Westernport, and a number of grandchildren.

The body will be taken to the residence late this afternoon.

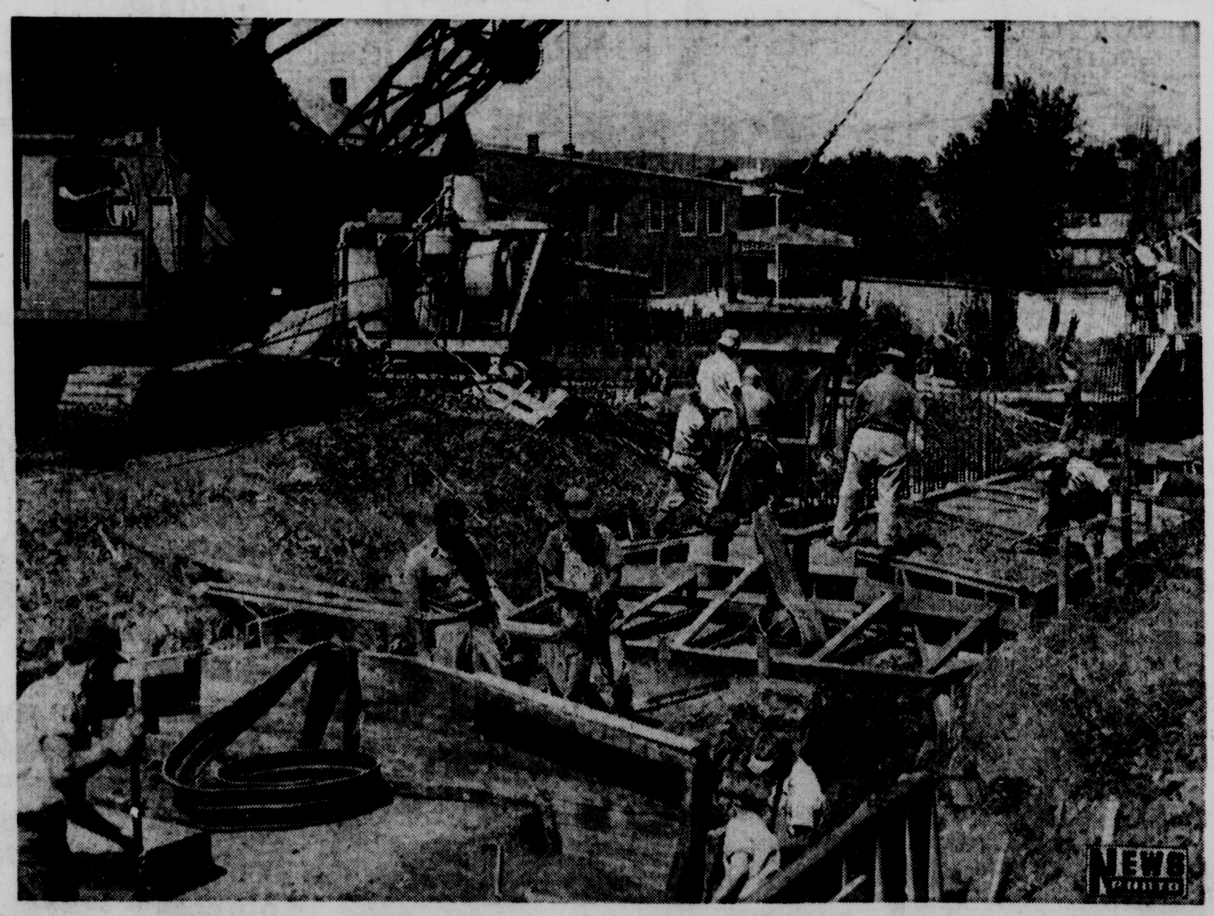

Auto Wrecker Seeks Dingle Hill Site

The application of Michael Beerman, 153 Wineow Street, to build a one-story concrete block building on McMullen Highway has been referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Beerman, who operates an auto wrecking business on Wineow Street, listed the use of the building, on his application, as an office, storeroom and storage building.

The site sought is just inside the city limits on Dingle Hill, and is in a business zone.

The Zoning Appeals Board will meet Thursday, August 26.

West Side Flood Wall Work Begins

Wright Contracting Company crews are seen pouring foundations for the West Side Flood Wall which is being built by the Corps of Engineers as part of the $18,000,000 Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection program. In the background, rodmen are busy placing reinforcing rods for the wall, which will average a height of 17 feet — high enough to keep out any flood water from the Potomac River. Two 20-foot sections of the foundations have been poured and city officials have been told the contractor plans to pour about 40 feet a day after the project gets into full swing. The wall begins at the rear of the Moose Home and extends upstream about 780 feet.

Johnson Heights School Addition Bid Is Accepted

Board Approves Five Contracts

Five contracts involving a total cost of $152,400.83 were given formal approval yesterday afternoon by the Allegany County Board of Education.

Biggest item among the five is $90,984 to the George F. Hazelwood Company for the construction of a four-room addition, remodeling the kitchen for cafeteria use and installing a new boiler in Johnson Heights Elementary School.

Two bids for the Johnson Heights School were opened earlier yesterday afternoon by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and Lee Murray of the Silver Spring architectural firm of Johannes and Murray, which drew the plans.

$92,828 Base Bid

Hazelwood offered a base bid of $92,828, just $1,503 lower than the figure submitted by the George Construction Company of $94,331.

Five alternates were submitted with the base bids and the Board of Education definitely accepted three of the five. Held in abeyance is the alternate which would result in a $13,422 saving if the construction and services incidental to the kitchen and kitchen toilet are omitted. The board empowered Webster to accept or reject this item.

The difficulty concerned with the remodeling of the kitchen is that school officials fear that construction will disrupt the operation of the school lunch room. If a plan can be agreed upon by the Hazelwood firm whereby the work can be done with little disruption to the lunch room operations that portion of the contract will be accepted.

The alternates which were accepted on the Johnson Heights School job include (1) a $1,604 saving with the use of steel bar joists instead of the Dox system with cinder blocks; (2) a $710 addition for the use of insulation under all the new main floor and (3) a $910 saving with the omission of inside vestibules. Acceptance of all of these alternates was recommended by Murray, according to the school superintendent.

Other Contracts Approved

Other contracts given approval by the school board include a $40,672 bid, also by Hazelwood, for the construction of a sewage disposal system at Oldtown School; $13,544.50 to the Sterling Electric Company for the installation of floodlights on the football field at Beall High School in Frostburg; $5,389.99 to Joseph S. Karp and Brothers, Inc. for furnishing, delivering and erecting cafeteria equipment at the Oldtown School, and $1,810.34 to Clarence U. McKenzie, representing the Farm Bureau Insurance Company for providing $20,000 minimum insurance coverage on the 92 buses and seven automobiles used to transport children to school.

The insurance bid was awarded on the recommendation of William J. Gunter, attorney to the Board of Education. Only three of the five board members were present yesterday. They were Kenneth R. Malcolm, Mrs. Stanley Buckley and Mrs. Albert C. Cook. The other members, W. Earle Cobey and Edward J. Ryan were both out of town.

Salvation Army Lt. Harold May and his wife, Lt. Helen May, will present a musical program at the weekly dinner-meeting of the Cumberland Optimist Club today at 6:15 in Central YMCA. The Opti-Mrs. and all wives of members of the Optimist Club are invited to attend.

Boy Escapes Drowning In Wills Creek

A North End youth, who gave his name as "Butch" Jenkins, narrowly escaped drowning when he was snatched from the muddy waters of Wills Creek yesterday afternoon near the 700 block of North Mechanic Street.

The boy, who is 12, lives at 517 North Centre Street. He had been swimming in the creek with other companions and was pulled out of the water by Robert J. Buzzard, also 12, of 530 North Centre Street, and James Dyche, of the neighborhood. Ray Stott, an employe at Wolfe's slaughterhouse, also went to the rescue.

Stott said he jumped into the creek when he saw the two boys, Buzzard and Jenkins struggling in the water. Police said the creek, swollen after recent rains, measured approximately 75 feet across and was about eight feet deep.

Jenkins told police he had tried swimming across the creek but the current apparently exhausted him.

The boy, who said he was all right and was going to ride home on his bike parked nearby, didn't require treatment, according to police. Police have been warning the children of that neighborhood not to swim in the water, as it is polluted.

Officer Louis D. Downey investigated. Police Headquarters received a call about 2:15 p. m.

Milk Producers Union To Get AFL Charter

The charter for the Allegany Milk Producers Cooperative Union will be presented at a meeting of the recently organized unit Thursday at 8 p. m. in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Earl Rider, general AFL organizer, said the unit will be chartered as a local of the National Agricultural Workers Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The election of 1954 officers of the new AFL local is also expected to be held Thursday night.

John T. Mason, Cresaptown, has been serving as temporary chairman of the organization which was formed here in March.

Officials reported a tentative agreement has been drawn up and negotiations started with several dairies of the Cumberland area.

A report on these negotiations will be presented at the coming meeting, Rider said.

The union was formed to provide an organization for the some 250 milk producers in Allegany and Garrett counties, Md., Bedford and Somerset counties, Pa., and Mineral and Hardy counties, W. Va., who ship milk into the Cumberland milkshed, so, Rider said, "they can be sure of the price they will get for milk at the platform."

Beer License Action Deferred By Board

The Allegany County Board of License Commissioners yesterday deferred action on the application of Irene Smith Thompson for a beer license at Cresaptown.

The delay occurred because James L. and Catherine L. Meagher were issued a beer license for the premises on McMullen Highway May 1. The new license will be issued after the old one is surrendered because two permits cannot be obtained for the same premises.

Escapee Caught After Leading Police On Chase

Tries To Thumb Ride On 'Wagon'

It all happened like this, according to City Police:

John Vincent Green, about 16, who was on a five-year parole and had been told by the court to stay out of Cumberland, came to the city last night and was nabbed on a pickup notice by Officer Harry Iser on Baltimore Street about 8 p. m.

Later he was taken to Police Headquarters, where David M. Steele, probation officer, was notified. Steele was taking Green to the County Jail when he made his escape.

Snatches Purse

On his way down Washington Street, Green reportedly snatched a purse from Emma Redman, 22 Thomas Street, and continued his flight, but in the meantime he lost one of his shoes. It was brought to Police Headquarters by Emma Redman.

Steele notified City Police, who joined in the chase for Green. As the escapee turned into Cumberland Street at the Algonquin Hotel, he lost his other shoe and continued his journey barefoot.

He ran up to Market Street Bridge, then to Mechanic Street and toward the Narrows, with City Police close on his trail.

"Thumbs" Wagon

Green was bottlenecked in the Narrows after he tried to thumb a ride with the driver of the patrol wagon, Officer John G. Powers.

Officers Richard Lashley and Iser were in the vicinity when he was nabbed for the second time. Also on the scene, after the wild chase, were Sgt. Clarence Roby, Officer Kenneth W. Morrissey, and Joseph H. Stitcher, of the City Police Detective Bureau, who questioned Green back at Police Headquarters.

He was given back his shoes—and a cell in City Jail for the night—about 9:30 p. m.

Today he is expected to be given a hearing on the theft of the purse, which police said he admitted taking. And then he will be turned over to the State's Attorney's Office. The purse was recovered.

Bloodmobile Here Aug. 30

The next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be August 30, Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter Red Cross said yesterday. On the following day, August 31, the bloodmobile will visit Frostburg.

Cumberland and Frostburg each have quotas of 150 donor pints, and volunteers are now being enlisted to give blood. On recent visits, the local quota has been exceeded, but Red Cross workers point out that the majority of the donors are repeaters, who have donated blood before.

It is necessary that others, therefore, help in this work, so that sufficient blood can be continually available for local hospitals, for armed forces needs, and for the campaign against polio.

Mrs. Witherup also noted that the Red Cross is arranging for a large display outlining the blood program, home service, disaster and other programs, to be shown at the Cumberland Fair next week.

Mrs. Young Dies In Hospital

Mrs. Chessie L. Young, 58, wife of Walter W. Young, Western Maryland train dispatcher, of LaVale Court, died yesterday at Sacred Heart Hospital, where she had been a patient for a week.

A native of Gassaway, W. Va., she was a daughter of the late Robert E. and Rose (Long) Bean. She was a member of the First Baptist Church, Cumberland, and Randolph Chapter 74, Order of Eastern Star, Elkins.

She and her husband had resided here for the past nine months. Surviving, besides her husband are five sons, Donald W. Young, Sulphur Spring, Texas; Major Ronald L. Young, Salzburg, Austria; Carlton B. Young, San Antonio, Texas; M/Sgt. Richard H. Young, San Bernadino, Calif.; Robert B. Young, LaVale Court.

Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Perkins, Richwood, W. Va.; Mrs. Ora Brannon, Miami, Fla.; two brothers, Carl Bean, Enterprise, W. Va.; Henry Bean, Wakefield, Ohio, and five grandchildren.

The body is at the Kight Funeral Home where a service will be held on Friday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Paul Bruner, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating.

Health Department Schedules Clinics

Child Hygiene conferences have been scheduled by the Health Department tomorrow at 10 a. m. in Eckhart and Friday at 9 a. m. in Lonaconing and 9:30 a. m. in East Side School.

Clinics at City Hall this week include a prenatal clinic today from 9 a. m. to noon and a chest clinic Friday from 9 a. m. to noon.

City Officials Will Tackle Budget Problem

Mayor To Schedule Special Conference

Mayor Roy W. Eves announced yesterday that the Mayor and Council plans to set the 1954-55 levy on Monday.

He said a special meeting will be held by the Mayor and Council late this week to prepare the budget for the current fiscal year.

Each commissioner, the mayor said, is cooperating in a plan to provide the essential services in departments under his jursidiction at the least possible cost to the taxpayers.

The process, informed sources said, involves trimming expenditures down to meet expected income.

Only two budget requests have been announced, and both call for increased expenditures.

The Recreation Department has asked $45,000, an increase of $5,000 to allow matching funds for work done by playground associations and other capital improvements which cannot be done through the $150,000 recreation bond issue sold this year.

Pension Costs Up

The Cumberland Free Public Library has requested an appropriation of $27,000, up $5,000 from its 1953-54 allotment from the city.

The Health Department, which received $37,000 last year, is understood to have requested about the same as last year.

The city must set aside about $68,500 this year as its contribution for pensions to employes covered by the State Retirement System. The sum will be about $3,000 more than last year. No change is expected in the city's contribution to the Police Pension Fund.

The Smoke Abatement Department has submitted its budget request for operations during the coming year.

Want More Money

One informed source commented that all requests are not in but that a study of requests submitted so far show that "all want more money."

There will be more money to start the budget than was available last year.

When last year's Mayor and Council sat down to set the budget, they had a nest egg of $66,000 on hand—the surplus from the 1952-53 fiscal year.

Left over on June 30, from an all-time high 1953-54 budget which totaled $1,400,000 was $143,631.80.

This sum includes $15,000 set aside last year for the new South End fire truck which is expected to be delivered within a few days, and a $16,000 carryover from 1953 truck licenses.

Pouring Double-Decker For Parking

Livestock Show At Coming Fair Will Be Varied

Over 200 Head Of Cattle Entered

About 215 head of dairy and beef cattle will be exhibited at the 37th annual Cumberland Fair starting Monday at Fairgo, according to County Agent Joseph M. Steger, who is superintendent of the fair's livestock department.

Two breeders will show Guernsey dairy cattle, a breed that was not exhibited here last year. Fred C. Downey of Williawsport will have 16 head of Guernseys and R. A. McCauley of Hagerstown will show 20 here. They will be judged starting at 9 a. m. Tuesday by Herbert Snyder of Union Bridge in Carroll County.

About 48 head of Jerseys will be judged by J. R. Schabinger, dairy specialist at the University of Maryland, starting at 9 a. m. Tuesday. The exhibitors will include S. Braden King, Boonsboro, 25 head; George Stiles, also Boonsboro, 20 head, and Albert O'Brien, Manns Choice, Pa., three head.

Ayrshire exhibitors at the Cumberland Fair will include Robert Shank of Hagerstown, 14 head; W. I. Shank and Sons, also Hagerstown, 18 head, and S. A. Diehl, Bedford, Pa., 15 head. Walter Hahn of Frederick will begin judging them at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Holstein cattle will be brought to the Fair here by C. Renn Remsburg of Middletown, 17 head; Bernard and A. Doty Remsburg of Jefferson, 16 head, and Harry O. Harbaugh of Hagerstown, 15 head. Schabinger will judge them too, starting at 1 p. m. Tuesday.

Three beef cattle breeders also will show their stock at the Fair. Angus cattle will be exhibited by W. G. Merrells of Burlington, W. Va., 15 head, and Clyde C. Bonar, also of Burlington, 10 head. Boyd Whittle, livestock specialist at the University of Maryland, will judge them Tuesday at 1 p. m.

Albert O'Brien of Manns Choice, Pa., will have 10 head of Herefords here but they will be without competition.

George Lechlider of Gaithersburg will show several pens of Duroc hogs and Jack Shober of Berlin, Pa., will exhibit Shropshire and Hampshire sheep.

Johnson Heights School Addition Bid Is Accepted

Board Approves Five Contracts

Five contracts involving a total cost of $152,400.83 were given formal approval yesterday afternoon by the Allegany County Board of Education.

Biggest item among the five is $90,984 to the George F. Hazelwood Company for the construction of a four-room addition, remodeling the kitchen for cafeteria use and installing a new boiler in Johnson Heights Elementary School.

Two bids for the Johnson Heights School were opened earlier yesterday afternoon by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and Lee Murray of the Silver Spring architectural firm of Johannes and Murray, which drew the plans.

$92,828 Base Bid

Hazelwood offered a base bid of $92,828, just $1,503 lower than the figure submitted by the George Construction Company of $94,331.

Five alternates were submitted with the base bids and the Board of Education definitely accepted three of the five. Held in abeyance is the alternate which would result in a $13,422 saving if the construction and services incidental to the kitchen and kitchen toilet are omitted. The board empowered Webster to accept or reject this item.

The difficulty concerned with the remodeling of the kitchen is that school officials fear that construction will disrupt the operation of the school lunch room. If a plan can be agreed upon by the Hazelwood firm whereby the work can be done with little disruption to the lunch room operations that portion of the contract will be accepted.

The alternates which were accepted on the Johnson Heights School job include (1) a $1,604 saving with the use of steel bar joists instead of the Dox system with cinder blocks; (2) a $710 addition for the use of insulation under all the new main floor and (3) a $910 saving with the omission of inside vestibules. Acceptance of all of these alternates was recommended by Murray, according to the school superintendent.

Other Contracts Approved

Other contracts given approval by the school board include a $40,672 bid, also by Hazelwood, for the construction of a sewage disposal system at Oldtown School; $13,544.50 to the Sterling Electric Company for the installation of floodlights on the football field at Beall High School in Frostburg; $5,389.99 to Joseph S. Karp and Brothers, Inc. for furnishing, delivering and erecting cafeteria equipment at the Oldtown School, and $1,810.34 to Clarence U. McKenzie, representing the Farm Bureau Insurance Company for providing $20,000 minimum insurance coverage on the 92 buses and seven automobiles used to transport children to school.

The insurance bid was awarded on the recommendation of William J. Gunter, attorney to the Board of Education. Only three of the five board members were present yesterday. They were Kenneth R. Malcolm, Mrs. Stanley Buckley and Mrs. Albert C. Cook. The other members, W. Earle Cobey and Edward J. Ryan were both out of town.

Optimists Meet Today

Boy Escapes Drowning In Wills Creek

A North End youth, who gave his name as "Butch" Jenkins, narrowly escaped drowning when he was snatched from the muddy waters of Wills Creek yesterday afternoon near the 700 block of North Mechanic Street.

The boy, who is 12, lives at 517 North Centre Street. He had been swimming in the creek with other companions and was pulled out of the water by Robert J. Buzzard, also 12, of 530 North Centre Street, and James Dyche, of the neighborhood. Ray Stott, an employe at Wolfe's slaughterhouse, also went to the rescue.

Stott said he jumped into the creek when he saw the two boys, Buzzard and Jenkins struggling in the water. Police said the creek, swollen after recent rains, measured approximately 75 feet across and was about eight feet deep.

Jenkins told police he had tried swimming across the creek but the current apparently exhausted him.

The boy, who said he was all right and was going to ride home on his bike parked nearby, didn't require treatment, according to police. Police have been warning the children of that neighborhood not to swim in the water, as it is polluted.

Milk Producers Union To Get AFL Charter

The charter for the Allegany Milk Producers Cooperative Union will be presented at a meeting of the recently organized unit Thursday at 8 p. m. in the LaVale Fire Hall.

Earl Rider, general AFL organizer, said the unit will be chartered as a local of the National Agricultural Workers Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The election of 1954 officers of the new AFL local is also expected to be held Thursday night.

John T. Mason, Cresaptown, has been serving as temporary chairman of the organization which was formed here in March.

Officials reported a tentative agreement has been drawn up and negotiations started with several dairies of the Cumberland area.

A report on these negotiations will be presented at the coming meeting, Rider said.

The union was formed to provide an organization for the some 250 milk producers in Allegany and Garrett counties, Md., Bedford and Somerset counties, Pa., and Mineral and Hardy counties, W. Va., who ship milk into the Cumberland milkshed, so, Rider said, "they can be sure of the price they will get for milk at the platform."

Beer License Action Deferred By Board

The Allegany County Board of License Commissioners yesterday deferred action on the application of Irene Smith Thompson for a beer license at Cresaptown.

The delay occurred because James L. and Catherine L. Meagher were issued a beer license for the premises on McMullen Highway May 1. The new license will be issued after the old one is surrendered because two permits cannot be obtained for the same premises.

Escapee Caught After Leading Police On Chase

Tries To Thumb Ride On 'Wagon'

In a short-lived bid for freedom from the law last night, a Barton parolee literally ran out of his shoes in his escape attempt.

It all happened like this, according to City Police:

John Vincent Green, about 16, who was on a five-year parole and had been told by the court to stay out of Cumberland, came to the city last night and was nabbed on a pickup notice by Officer Harry Iser on Baltimore Street about 8 p. m.

Later he was taken to Police Headquarters, where David M. Steele, probation officer, was notified. Steele was taking Green to the County Jail when he made his escape.

Snatches Purse

On his way down Washington Street, Green reportedly snatched a purse from Emma Redman, 22 Thomas Street, and continued his flight, but in the meantime he lost one of his shoes. It was brought to Police Headquarters by Emma Redman.

Steele notified City Police, who joined in the chase for Green. As the escapee turned into Cumberland Street at the Algonquin Hotel, he lost his other shoe and continued his journey barefoot.

He ran up to Market Street Bridge, then to Mechanic Street and toward the Narrows, with City Police close on his trail.

"Thumbs" Wagon

Green was bottlenecked in the Narrows after he tried to thumb a ride with the driver of the patrol wagon, Officer John G. Powers.

Officers Richard Lashley and Iser were in the vicinity when he was nabbed for the second time. Also on the scene, after the wild chase, were Sgt. Clarence Roby, Officer Kenneth W. Morrissey, and Joseph H. Stitcher, of the City Police Detective Bureau, who questioned Green back at Police Headquarters.

He was given back his shoes—and a cell in City Jail for the night—about 9:30 p. m.

Today he is expected to be given a hearing on the theft of the purse, which police said he admitted taking. And then he will be turned over to the State's Attorney's Office. The purse was recovered.

Bloodmobile Here Aug. 30

The next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be August 30, Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter Red Cross said yesterday. On the following day, August 31, the bloodmobile will visit Frostburg.

Cumberland and Frostburg each have quotas of 150 donor pints, and volunteers are now being enlisted to give blood. On recent visits, the local quota has been exceeded, but Red Cross workers point out that the majority of the donors are repeaters, who have donated blood before.

It is necessary that others, therefore, help in this work, so that sufficient blood can be continually available for local hospitals, for armed forces needs, and for the campaign against polio.

Mrs. Witherup also noted that the Red Cross is arranging for a large display outlining the blood program, home service, disaster and other programs, to be shown at the Cumberland Fair next week.

West Side Flood Wall Work Begins

Wright Contracting Company crews are seen pouring foundations for the West Side Flood Wall which is being built by the Corps of Engineers as part of the $18,000,000 Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection program. In the background, rodmen are busy placing reinforcing rods for the wall, which will average a height of 17 feet — high enough to keep out any flood water from the Potomac River. Two 20-foot sections of the foundations have been poured and city officials have been told the contractor plans to pour about 40 feet a day after the project gets into full swing. The wall begins at the rear of the Moose Home and extends upstream about 780 feet.
